BCE Plans Slash In Bus Services

PRISONER'S DOCK OUT —IT'S AN INDIGNITY

HALIFAX (CP) — The prisoner's dock in the Nova Scotia Supreme Court will be removed during the weekend and replaced by an ordinary table and chair.

Similar changes are to be made in all courts in Nova Scotia. Court authorities say it is unprecedented in Canadian courts.

The plan to abolish the high-railed docks was sparked by the provincial barristers society last summer which argued that placing a prisoner in a dock was an indignity and was contrary to the concept that he is innocent until proven guilty.

Kennedy Prods Russia on Laos

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy summoned congressional leaders to an extraordinary White House conference on the Laos crisis today amid disclosure that the United States has prodded Russia for a quick cease-fire.

Kennedy gave the congressional chiefs of both parties a fill-in on the latest moves. It was believed he also briefed them on the next steps in U.S. plans to bring about peace in the tiny Asian country.

Soon after the quickly-summoned meeting got underway, the state department disclosed that this country called on Russia Wednesday night to get the pro-Communist forces in Laos to stop delaying a cease-fire.

The complaint about the delay was made in no uncertain terms to Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov by acting secretary of state Chester Bowles.

DEMAND REJECTED

At the same time, the state department rejected Communist China's demand that the United States withdraw its military advisers and arms from government-controlled areas of Laos before a cease-fire.

The state department made it plain that the United States did not like the delaying tactics of the Communists on the cease-fire in Laos.

The rebels in Laos are mounting offensives on several fronts, apparently taking additional territory two days after declaring that they were ready to accept a cease-fire.

Route Changes To Cut Mileage

B.C. Electric today asked city council's approval for a major revamping of the bus service this summer to cut costs and meet changing traffic patterns.

The complex changes will create an overall reduction of 14.5 per cent in operating miles per year—cutting the present 2,986,176 annual mileage by 432,996.

The changes—scheduled for Aug. 1 if the Public Utilities Commission gives its approval—involve changing frequency of service and routes on almost all of the bus runs.

Most service frequencies will be cut—many of them will provide a bus every 30 minutes instead of every 20 minutes—but some frequencies will be increased to give more bus service.

MORE DIRECT RUNS

Routes will be straightened out considerably to make more direct runs from starting to finishing loops and many heavily travelled runs will be consolidated to avoid duplication.

B.C. Electric vice-president William Mearns said the revamping was overdue to meet changing transportation needs in the community which have seen passenger traffic steadily falling off while deficits increase.

Mr. Mearns—pointing out that passenger traffic has declined 23.3 per cent since 1955 while bus miles operated have only been reduced 8.2 per cent—said the company's deficit on bus operations has mounted from $397,682 in 1955 to $578,845 last year.

MORE VEHICLES

He said loss of passenger traffic was largely caused by the 32.5 per cent increase in vehicles (other than BCE) here since 1955.

The company—which saw a recent possibility of selling its transit operations collapse—is seeking approval for the changes from all four Greater Victoria municipalities where it has franchise agreements.

"The situation is now such that we are applying to the Public Utilities Commission for approval of a revision of the route plan and operating schedules . . . to bring the service more in line with the number of people travelling on the buses."

SOME INCREASES

But Mr. Mearns also pointed out that bus service will be increased rather than reduced in some areas.

"The plan provides for: more service to meet requirements due to the expansion at Victoria University; improved service to a number of new subdivisions; the use of more direct routes; and consolidation of routes in the most heavily-travelled areas in order to maintain frequency of service."

Proposed Changes

Following are the proposed new BCE bus routes and the basic service frequencies.

Tshombe Still Held

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — Congo troops are still holding Katanga President Moise Tshombe at the Coquilhatville airport, informed Congolese sources said today.

The sources said the soldiers refused to allow him to leave.

A foreign ministry communique said "popular reaction" forced Tshombe to remain in Coquilhatville Wednesday when he tried to leave, but the communique denied that Tshombe was under formal arrest and said his life was not in danger.

The United Nations has not intervened, but a UN spokesman said if Tshombe requests assistance he would get "fair treatment."

Congolese sources said Tshombe still was at the airport this morning. They said the soldiers would not let him leave until he made another try to settle his differences with other Congolese leaders.

Twins Hit By Death Miles Apart

BRIGHTON, England (Reuters)—Twin sisters, born within minutes of each other 70 years ago, died at almost the same time 6,000 miles apart, a coroner's jury was told today.

The jury was hearing evidence on the death of Miss Dorothy Collins, who died of an overdose of sleeping tablets in this south coast resort.

Within hours of her death a cable arrived from Cape Town, South Africa, telling of the death, from a heart attack, of her twin sister, Mrs. Majorie de Vries.

Witness Harry Palmer who lived in the same house as Miss Collins told the jury the two sisters were "very devoted."

The jury returned a verdict death "by misadventure" and after the inquest Palmer said: "Miss Collins always seemed to sense when her sister in South Africa was ill."

Cuba Imprisons 12

MIAMI (UPI)—Twelve men were sentenced to long prison terms in Cuba today for counter-revolutionary activities, including sabotage and the collection of arms and money for an uprising, the Cuban radio announced.

Gambler Indicted

NEW YORK (AP)—Gambler Aaron Wagman, 29, has been indicted on 37 counts of corruption of 11 basketball players from six U.S. colleges during the last two seasons, District Attorney Frank S. Hogan announced today.

TOP REBEL COMMANDER CAPTURED BY CUBANS

United Press International

MIAMI (UPI) — The top field commander of last week's abortive invasion of Cuba, Brigadier Roberto San Roman, has been captured, Havana Radio reported today.

A broadcast heard here said San Roman was discovered among a "new group of prisoners taken to an internment area in Zapata peninsula."

FRANCE HOLDS RIGHTISTS

Proud Foreign Legion Goes Down Defiantly

CP from AP-Reuters

PARIS (UPI)—A vast plot in metropolitan France that was to have aided the abortive military revolt in Algiers has been uncovered in a nationwide roundup, police sources reported today.

ALGIERS — Blowing up their camp behind them, the defiant Foreign Legion regiment which led last weekend's unsuccessful coup d'etat drove off to be disbanded today.

As the truck convoy rolled out of the camp—where the regiment had been besieged all day by regular troops and riot forces—the Legionnaires were still shouting defiantly "Algeria is French!"

Frenchmen at the roadside showered them with flowers. Some of those watching were weeping and many of the tough troopers themselves had tears rolling down their dusty cheeks.

In the camp, explosions roared and black and white smoke billowed into the air.

One of the guards said: "We don't want to leave anything for another unit. The legion built this camp and we're not going to leave anything for anyone else."

The warships, ordered here from France Tuesday before the collapse of the uprising, anchored just outside the harbor but government forces had this city firmly under control again.

'Flareups Still Possible'—Debre

Civilians continued to line up today to surrender their arms to police. They had been ordered to hand in all fire-arms by Wednesday night but the flow still was going on at a lively rate.

There still was no news of what had happened to the three missing leaders of the rebel generals' junta-Andre Zeller, Edmond Jouhaud and Raoul Salan.

Hundreds of known die-hard rightists were being held in custody amid warnings of possible new flareups by extremists trying to overthrow de Gaulle's policy of negotiating with Moslem rebels in Algeria.

The president retained dictatorial powers despite the crushing of the revolt and Premier Michel Debre warned in a television broadcast Wednesday night that "flareups or new developments are still possible."

Debre made clear in his television broadcast Wednesday night that the government plans tough restrictions to prevent any more uprisings.

Former Gen. Maurice Challe, the main leader of the revolt, was being held, meanwhile, in grim Sante prison, stripped of his rank and facing charges of treason and armed mutiny.

U.S. Fires First Space 'Telescope'

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The United States launched a "space telescope" satellite today to study radiation mysteries of the universe, and an official reported within an hour that "everything looks good."

A 76-foot Juno II rocket carried the 95-pound satellite in its nose. All four stages fired as planned.

Its specific task is to measure high-energy gamma rays which stream out from cosmic sources such as the Milky Way and other star-cluster galaxies. They are associated with nuclear activity and scientists believe they may be the keys to information about the elements making up the universe.

Explorer XI is shaped roughly like a telescope but it is not like the familiar telescope through which man looks at the stars.

In front end of the satellite's tubular section is stuffed with instruments intended to peer into millions of miles of space, sorting out gamma rays from other space radiation such as protons and electrons.

The payload includes equipment to relay the data to earth to be recorded in photographs of wavy lines on an oscilloscope.

B.C. Boy Killed

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) —Ronald Severin, 8, died on the way to hospital here today after he collided with a fork-lift truck behind a lumber yard while riding to school on his bicycle in nearby Coquitlam.

Appeal Made To Drop Arms

VIENTIANE (CP) — The government today called for a cease-fire at noon Friday, but there was no indication the pro-Communist rebels will agree.

The call was broadcast by government radio and was transmitted to the British Embassy for relay to the rebels by way of the Russians.

As the appeal was made public, concern rose about the ability of royal troops to stand up much longer against rebel attacks despite an increased airlift of U.S. arms.

Earlier, Gen. Phoumi Nosavana, strong man of the government and its military commander, proposed that peace talks between the warring factions begin Friday in Luang Prabang, the royal capital.

TRUCE TEAM DISAGREES

NEW DELHI (AP)—Differences that could impede enforcement of a cease-fire in Laos developed today between the Canadian and Polish members of the three-country commission that will supervise the truce.

The issue is whether the commission's verification of a truce in Laos is primarily an administrative job or whether political factors should be considered.

Canada says primarily administrative; Poland says political.

Ice Smashes Vital Bridge In North B.C.

EDMONTON (CP)—A $280,000 British Columbia highways department bridge over the Sikanni River near Fort Nelson in northeast B.C. was knocked out by ice Wednesday, an army spokesman said today.

The bridge connects Fort Nelson with the Clarke Lake gas field. It is located near the confluence of the Muskwa and Sikanni Rivers.

A report from Fort Nelson said the loss of the bridge would deal a crippling blow to the oil and gas industry operating in the area. The bridge was to play an important part in the proposed program for pipeline construction and summer drilling in the Clarke Lake and Kotch Fields.

Eustace Bowhay and Keith Baldwin, flying to Fort Nelson from Whitehorse Tuesday, reported three piers had to be cut and had fallen into the river.

'People Will Pay' If Columbia Dropped

OTTAWA (CP)—The people who will pay the piper if the Columbia River power development scheme doesn't go through will be the citizens of British Columbia, External Affairs Minister Green said Wednesday.

He said in the Commons that British Columbia participated in the Canada-United States negotiations on the Columbia River treaty and was satisfied it was a good treaty.

Since then, the province had thrown many roadblocks in the way of ratification.

Mr. Green said Ottawa is under no obligation until the treaty has been passed by Parliament.

The scheme could be the greatest work-producing project in Western Canada. Any fault for its failure to materialize would not rest in Ottawa but with "our brethren" in Victoria.

BEHAN FIRES FINAL BLAST AT TORONTO

$200 Fine for Wild Night

TORONTO (UPI)—Brendan Behan's wild night in Toronto cost him $200 in a long-delayed court hearing today. The Irish playwright cheerfully paid off his fine straight away and paid Toronto a few uncomplimentary remarks in the process. Behan had pleaded innocent to assaulting a police officer.

"It's as if one was in a not very picturesque lunatic asylum and you're anxious to get away from it. It's a depressing place—period," he told a crowd gathered around the "fines and payment" wicket.

He congratulated his attractive young lawyer, Rose Greenstein, and commented on the verdict: "The judge acted like a judge — not a Toronto judge. The money is relative. I've never had it and I don't need it."

Miss Greenstein pleaded against a jail sentence for Behan when she addressed the court.

"All of us know of the talent of Brendan Behan. Here is a man of superior mind who under the influence of drink is capable of deplorable things," she said.

She said his brilliant mind is being tarnished by his physical and mental condition.

"Let not our city take it upon itself to be the death of Brendan Behan," she told the court.

Castro to Spare Invaders Except If Ex-Batista Men

HAVANA (Reuters) — Premier Fidel Castro said today death should not be the punishment for Cuba's invaders at this moment because "the people's great victory should not be belittled by excess."

Speaking during a surprise appearance at a television parade of prisoners, he said, however, that "criminals" from the era of ex-president Fulgencio Batista would not be spared.

Castro's statement came after one of the prisoners asked whether they would be allowed to fight beside the government troops against invaders.

Castro said the death penalty simply was a means of defending the revolution, "not a question of principles," and to shoot all invaders as the people wished would be to "belittle our victory."

Further captures of prisoners from last week's invasion attempt were announced today, bringing the total to about 1,100.

Castro told the prisoners on television: "When the first Yankee paratrooper lands . . . then the world will see what heroism is."

The prisoners shouted, "We will fight," when Castro asked: "What will be your attitude if Cuba is invaded by the United States?"

The prisoners said aircraft used for air raids on Havana April 15 were planes of the Democratic Revolutionary Front" (the movement of Cuban exiles) painted with the insignia of the Cuban Air Force.

Rebel headquarters in the United States have claimed that the bombers were Cuban Air Force planes piloted by defecting officers.

CARRIER HITS MUNITION SHIP

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI)—The 60,000-ton U.S. Navy aircraft carrier Independence and the munitions ship Diamond Head collided in the Caribbean early today, the navy reported.

Atlantic Fleet headquarters here said one crewman aboard the 15,000-ton ammunition ship, which was suppling the carrier, suffered "minor injuries."

Fire broke out in the crew's quarters of the Diamond Head but was extinguished, the navy said.

Homes Swept Away

Three persons were injured and damage was heavy.

1,000 Whites Killed By Angola Terrorists

JOHANNESBURG (Reuters)—Almost 1,000 white men, women and children are estimated to have died in the wave of African terrorism in Angola, according to a South African Press Association correspondent in Luanda, the capital of the Portuguese colony.

Meanwhile, authorities in Luanda have published another list of more than 200 dead and missing persons—victims of rebel attacks—the correspondent reported.

It includes the names of whole families who have been massacred together. From one family of 17 persons, only three escaped.

The Luanda authorities, however, are satisfied order has been restored in the Negro quarters of the city, and have consequently lifted an 8 p.m. curfew imposed on all civilians in the district, the correspondent said.

SENATOR MAKES CHARGE

Indians Deny 'Phoney Fevers'

OTTAWA (CP)—An Indian chief and an Indian senator denied today that Indians deliberately created fever symptoms in their children to have them admitted to hospital.

Chief Lawrence Thompson of the Carry the Kettle reservation in south-central Saskatchewan and Senator James Gladstone (PC—Alberta) were replying in the Commons-Senate committee on Indian affairs to a statement by Senator Ralph Horner (PC—Saskatchewan).

Senator Horner said Indians in Saskatchewan bring their children to Qu'Appelle hospital and doctors find they have a high fever.

The Indians, he said, apparently give the children something to cause the fever. The objective appeared to be to leave the children at the hospital so the parents could spend the day in town.

At the end of the day when the parents returned to pick up the children the fever was gone. Doctors at the hospital have been unable to diagnose the fever.

Senator Gladstone, a member of Alberta's Blood Reserve, said, "It is not true that an Indian would create a fever in a child to get him admitted to hospital."

Asylum Refused

'Optimism, Idealism' Green's Rallying Plea

(From Times News Service)

OTTAWA — External Affairs Minister Green said Wednesday that Canada holds huge responsibilities in world affairs. He called on his fellow citizens to face up to the problems confronting them with "optimism and idealism."

"This is no day for a pessimist in world affairs," he told the Commons. "Anyone trying to deal with world problems today who is a pessimist is very likely to wind up in a mental asylum."

Mr. Green said that one thing that worries him is that MPs and the public might not be following international events with enough care to enable the government to fulfil the role it has to play. He went on:

"Make no mistake, no country in April of 1961 has a greater opportunity to take a part and play a worthy role in world affairs than Canada.

"Let me put it this way: No country has a greater responsibility—and let us stress the feature of responsibility in world affairs rather than opportunity."

The minister spoke in opening a two-day foreign affairs debate in the House.

Hopes for An Independent Cuba

Mr. Green said he hopes an "independent Cuba, free from outside pressures," will resume its traditional relationship with nations of the Western hemisphere.

Mr. Green said he hopes a peaceful solution will be found to the Cuban situation.

Canada had maintained normal diplomatic relations with Cuba. But it had prevented export of strategic goods and defence material to that country and had also seen that the United States embargo on trade with Cuba had not been evaded by trans - shipment through Canada.

At another point, without alluding to the Cuban situation, Mr. Green said: "We must stand by our allies."

"We must honor our commitments," Mr. Green said. It was easy to get excited about certain events and say things that made the situation more difficult.

Later, Mr. Green repeated that the Monroe Doctrine does not apply to Canada, which had its alliance with the U.S. under NATO.

Sees 'Real Progress' on Disarmament

On other subjects the minister made these points:

Disarmament: There was good reason to expect "real progress" this year. However, Canada would have to reconsider its stand against the spread of nuclear weapons if no progress were made in East-West disarmament talks.

The cold war: The U.S. and Russia could destroy each other in a "matter of hours."

United Nations: The world body had come through "crisis after crisis" and would continue to do so.

Communist China: One very big obstacle to Canadian diplomatic recognition and approval of China's entry to the UN was China's insistence on recognition of its claim to Formosa. It would be "disastrous" to turn Formost over to China.

Laos: War there might lead to war all over the world. It was hoped there would be a prompt cease-fire and a return of the international truce supervisory commission—Canada is a member—before the May 12 international conference on Laos.

NATO: The alliance should not put itself in a straightjacket by adopting a uniform policy in the UN.

Paul Martin (L—Essex East), only other speaker in the first round of the debate, called on the government to make more "substantial" proposals for disarmament that could capture support from other nations and have a persuasive effect on Russia and the United States.

Conciliation Asked

TORONTO (CP) — Five unions, representing about 6,000 employees of Abitibi Power and Paper Company Limited at nine mills in Ontario, Quebec and Manitoba, have applied for conciliation following the breakdown of negotiations here Wednesday.

REDS IN CUBA 'RETALIATION'

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D—La.), said Wednesday the Communist infiltration in Cuba is Red "retaliation" for the fact that the United States has surrounded Russia with air bases close to her borders.

"We are reaping a lot of trouble for things we did in the past," he told Air Force officials at a Senate appropriations hearing.

"People are squealing like stuck pigs because of what happened in Cuba," Ellender said, "We've been doing that to Russia for seven or eight years. Haven't we?"

REBELS FLING CHALLENGE TO CASTRO

'We're Going Back...Sooner the Better'

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—"We're going back. And the sooner, the better."

That was the challenge hurled today at Fidel Castro by two rugged, sun-tanned Cubans who said that in surviving the bloody repulse of their invasion force they learned lessons that will help them "next time."

The men, 35 and 42, smiled when asked if they and brother rebels were demobilized.

"We're only on leave," one, 35, said. "In a few days we're going back to training camp."

"Where?"

"Fidel would like to know, Guatemala? Nicaragua? He's not even close in his guesses so far. The men he captured didn't know where they trained for the invasion of April 17. They travelled by night and were restricted to the training area."

WON'T GIVE NAMES

His companion said he was an Oriente rancher. Both declined use of their names because of danger to relatives still living under the Castro government.

The older man's boots were the only martial note in a cosy Miami home where they sat with their families and described the rebels' pull-out April 19 under fire and attack by Castro troops.

"I wore those boots on Playa Giron (Giron Beach) on the southern Cuba coast, and I expect to hit Cuban soil with them again," the wearer said.

This is the account two men gave of the invasion launched by the Cuban Revolutionary Council and hurled back by Castro's troops:

"Our force — about 1,500 men—was able to land without difficulty the first day. It was four or five hours before the invaders met any material opposition.

"Most of the opposition came the next day, April 18.—wave after wave of troops, Stalin tanks and a large number of cannon.

LANDED FIVE TANKS

"We had landed five tanks, but the turrets of two were out of commission.

"Our weakness was especially in lacking airplanes that could match the performance of the Sea Furies and jets that bombed and machine-gunned our men. Next time, we will have to have aviation that can compete.

"We captured more than 200 Castro militiamen and troops —and had to leave them behind. Some we confined in a building on which was painted a cross. The men in there were killed by a Castro bomb. Some had hammer-and-sickle tattoos."

Cooper 'Worsens'

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Film star Gary Cooper's condition in his fight against "advanced cancer" has taken a turn for the worse, giving his physician and family reasons for "grave concern."

Ironworkers Paid More Than Defence Secretary

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator John L. McClellan (Dem. Ark.) called for more testimony today about missile base strikes and work slowdowns he described as something that "borders on subversion."

McClellan said he wants additional details from missile contractors working at Cape Canaveral, Fla., and other bases before hearing from labor unions under fire in hearings before his Senate investigations subcommittee.

Henry Gable, a Texas electrical contractor working on six Canaveral projects, swore Wednesday that union leaders there have deliberately slowed down the missile program.

The subcommittee has received sworn testimony from many witnesses that strikes, slowdowns and featherbedding practices have held back the pace and grossly inflated the costs of missile development, testing and production.

VAGUE ESTIMATE

No witness has given a firmer estimate than "millions of dollars" for the extra costs.

Robert E. Dunne, a subcommittee staff investigator, and J. J. Bevis, a government accountant, told of high-paid ditch-diggers and other workers at the Vandenberg missile base in California and at Cape Canaveral.

Dunne and Bevis said an electrician's $3.50-an-hour rate can produce a weekly pay cheque of $674.50 as overtime amounts into quadruple time.

In written testimony, Dunne and Bevis made spot checks for one week last September and one week last January showed plumbers, pipefitters and electricians at Vandenberg were better paid than the base's commanding general.

GENERAL LAGS

They said plumbers and pipefitters drew wages of $420 to $733 a week, including overtime computed at up to four times the regular rate; electricians $413 to $670 a week, while Maj.-Gen. David Wade, the commander, got pay and allowances totalling $365 a week.

They wrote that laborers, including ditchdiggers, earned up to $287 during the weeks checked—more than the pay and allowances of astronauts. The laborers' foreman, they said, made $434 more than the secretary of the air force.

And, they said, 14 ironworkers on the payroll averaged $520 weekly each, more than the $480 paid Defence Secretary Robert S. McNamara.

There was no immediate comment from unions.

AUDITORS' REPORT

The Community Chest of Greater Victoria.

We have examined the balance sheet of the Community Chest of Greater Victoria as at December 31, 1960, and the statement of revenue and expense for the year ended on that date and have obtained all the information and explanations we have required. Our examination included a general review of the accounting procedures and such tests of accounting records and other supporting evidence as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

No provision has been made for any pledges of the last campaign which may later prove uncollectible.

In our opinion, subject to the foregoing comment, the accompanying balance sheet and statement of revenue and expense present fairly the financial position of the Chest as at December 31, 1960, and the results of its activities for the year ended on that date, in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with the preceding year.

After the Man of the Hour?

THE REVOLT OF A PORTION of the French army against General de Gaulle has failed—for the second time within a few months. The French president has demonstrated unmistakably that he holds the confidence of the nation; that the recent majority vote in favor of his policy for settling the Algerian problem is still upheld by the people of France, regardless of its rejection by the French colonists of Algeria; and that the fate of France, no less than the settlement of the Algerian question, depends on one man and his genius. France does well to stand by de Gaulle. There is no one else.

What General de Gaulle has seen, but the French colonists in Algeria have not, is that Algeria is part of the great mass movement throughout Africa—Premier Macmillan's "wind of change" which is sweeping the white man out of control if not of residence and restoring the black man to direction of his own destiny.

Regardless of whether this is viewed as a good thing, a forward step, it is a reality. It has been accomplished in Ghana, in Nigeria, in a dozen African states. It is under way in Algeria and The Congo, with a full accompaniment of tragedy and blood. It is still in a preliminary stage in South Africa, where the enforced delay and the build-up of pressure presage a violent future.

General de Gaulle is too profound a student of history and of his times to miss the significance of African developments. Already he has seen part of the French colonial empire, at his own invitation, launch out in independence. And he has offered Algeria the same choices—to achieve complete independence, to become a part of metropolitan France, to set a midway course. The French colonists see themselves doomed to engulfment in the huge native Moslem population if French colonial control is relaxed. They fight to preserve the status quo, but they fight more than General de Gaulle; they fight the twentieth century.

The eventual future of Africa may be written fairly clearly. What of the future of France? The republic born in bloody revolution has never been stable for long; its governmental upheavals have been periodic, its legislative stalemates a form of lingering democratic death. France has never enjoyed a parliamentary democracy in the form by which the English-speaking countries have made so much progress. Always there has been the shadow of multi-party chaos on the one side, the threat of one-man rule on the other.

Now, in the one-man rule of General de Gaulle France has governmental stability—but has it continuity? The President is strong but not immortal.

It is difficult to envisage the situation of France at this moment if General de Gaulle were not in charge. It is more difficult, and frightening, to envisage what may follow when he is gone; to wonder whether this great nation, which is one of the keystones of Western strength even though the General quarrels with his allies, may dissolve into internal factionalism and political disarray when stability and resolution in the face of the Communist threat are the prime requisites.

Tale of the Waistband

THE THUD OF A REFRIGerator door closing is a familiar signal to the average Canadian family with teen-age members. It telegraphs to the elders that junior has found himself hungry again—between regular and filling meals. He has raided the fridge for a snack to tide him over, or to pour himself another glass of milk.

Junior has been suffering from what the average Canadian calls hunger. But the words "suffering" and "hunger" as we know them, have little relationship to the world in general.

Because they are fed so badly half the world's people die between the ages of 30 and 40.

According to studies made by the United Nations, the average daily food requirements of the individual in underdeveloped countries—where people are usually smaller than in more prosperous areas—call for a diet of 2,200 calories.

For good health, 200 of these calories should come from animal protein and 200 from vegetable protein. That accounts for about 2½ ounces of protein a day. Animal protein comes in milk, meat, fish and the 2,200 calories represent feeding just above the hunger line.

In India, where the poor eat at even a lower level than in China, the country which joins the subcontinent to make up a third of the world's population, the average diet is 1,800 calories a day—400 below the minimum. This includes just one-fifth of the animal protein required for good health. In China, Equador and Mexico, among other countries, the standard is very little higher.

Compare these figures: The Food and Agricultural organization says the average Canadian eats each year about 147 pounds of cereals, 134 pounds of potatoes or other roots, 90 pounds of sugar, 198 pounds of meat, 360 eggs, 11 pounds of fish, 46 pounds of fats and absorbs from milk another 17 pounds of fat plus 20 pounds of proteins.

The average resident of India eats 270 pounds of cereals, 24 pounds of potatoes or roots, 30 pounds of sugar, 4.4 pounds of meat, 2.2 pounds of fish, 8.8 pounds of fats plus another 6.6 pounds of fat and 4.4 pounds of protein from milk.

Canadians, the physicians often warn us, kill themselves with too much dexterity with knife and fork. In India lack of the opportunity for such exercise kills even more.

Ducking the Divorce Pitch

IN A TORONTO SPEECH THE other day Mr. Robert McCleave lamented the sad state of Canada's divorce law.

Mr. McCleave is chairman of the Commons private bills committee which handles divorce petitions. He proposed, in his public speech, that the Senate and Commons form a joint committee to study the whole issue and bring in recommendations for reform.

This is the stuff of familiar platform oratory. Many members, over the years, have deplored the legislation as it stands and expressed their wish to see something better on the statute books.

But talk on a public platform is a great distance removed from action in Parliament. Members discuss divorce as Mark Twain said the public talked about the weather. The end result seems to be the same in both cases—no action.

Apart from the filibusters launched by Frank Howard and Arnold Peters—filibusters which brought them a large measure of unpopularity in the House—not much is done in Parliament to correct the many shortcomings of our divorce law.

Outside, members talk about it, suggest joint study with recommendations by a Senate-Commons committee. In Parliament the majority reacts like a nervous batter facing a fast and wild pitcher in a baseball game. They duck and keep ducking.

Trouble? Call the Plummer

THEATRICAL BRITAIN NOTES with approval what might be a bit of "moonlighting" on this continent—and it is being done by a Canadian.

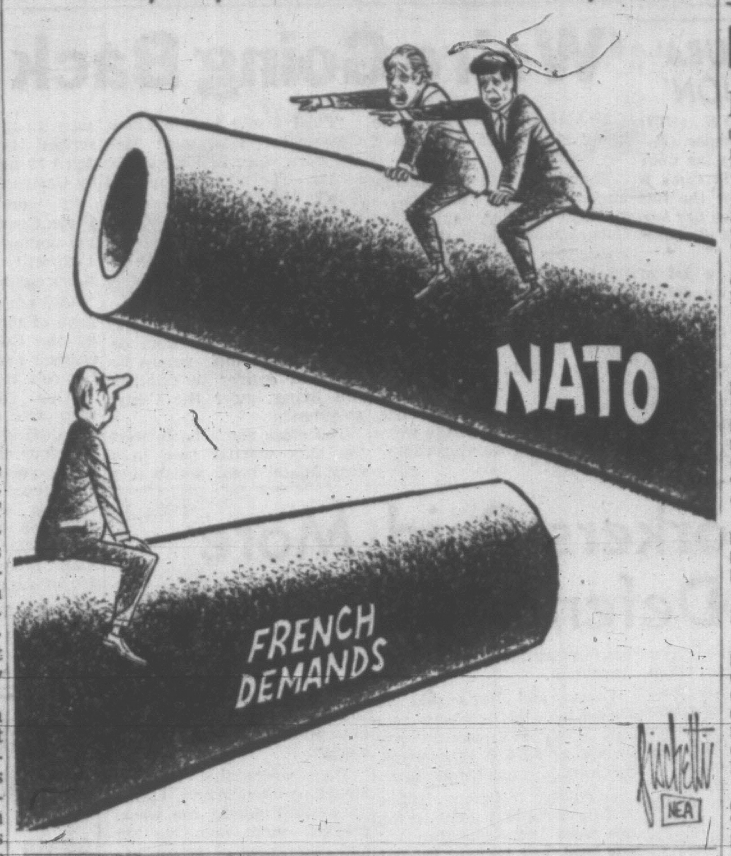

At the Aldwych Theatre in London the Royal Shakespeare Company is presenting Jean Anouilh's "Becket." The producers needed a king, so they called on Canadian actor Christopher Plummer, who receives star billing in the drama, King Henry II, timed in the 12th Century.

But Mr. Plummer is also starred in a Stratford Shakespeare Festival presentation King Richard III, based in the 15th century.

He shuttles between the ages and between the theatres in the two cities with commendable efficiency. And he earns enthusiasm not only from patrons of the drama, but other travellers who see him commuting as an excellent argument for better and better train service between Britain's tourist mecca, Stratford, and London.

In Britain they are apparently paraphrasing a North American trade slogan: When in trouble, call the Plummer.

'No, No, Charles! The Other Way!'

LOOSE ENDS — By BRUCE HUTCHISON

Order Out of Chaos

WITH a peculiar personal poignancy I note the grim dictum of Mr. Phil G. Grise, manager of the Hotel Sherman, in Chicago. "Women," he says, "may be the housekeepers of the world, but they leave their talents at home when they go travelling. An all-female convention will leave a staggering debris of rooms dusted with powder, lipstick-stained towels, even when tissues are provided, and bathrooms and bedrooms are in complete disarray. With a few notable exceptions, the 'homes away from home' of the men will be as neat as a pin."

Hutchison

It was about time someone told the truth about woman. Outside her own kingdom she is an anarchist, a wrecker, a bush-rat. But there is more to it than the destruction of hotels. What about the destruction of the man she has promised to love, honor and obey?

NOW, I am not referring to the more obvious crimes of the household, the living room filled with her collections of modern paintings, the bathroom with her dripping nylons, the automobile with her usual litter. I am referring to her invasion of a man's last stronghold, his desk and private papers. When a woman undertakes to tidy up a man's affairs all is lost. Cry havoc.

Yesterday my desk was in perfect order, covered with a solid foot of newspapers, clippings, pipes, tobacco, and such essentials as a landing net, some fly hooks, a pipe wrench and a collection of finishing nails without which no sensible man would think of undertaking a day's work.

I knew where everything was. I could lay my hand instantly on the latest report of the Bank of Canada, a speech by Mr. Fleming, a hammer or a Royal Coachman as required. The desk might look to a woman like a nest of unclean birds but any man would recognize it as a model of business efficiency, a perfect example of automation, a superb machine.

BUT I made the mistake of being absent for a whole day and the furies struck. This morning I find all the papers in neat, square piles, the other objects arranged in mathematical design, everything buried and lost under a counterfeit semblance of order, a woman's illusion of management. It will be a month at least before I get into business again.

No man is safe in his own home. A wiser journalist than I, a man like my colleague Mr. B. A. Tobin, takes no chances but confines his more valuable possessions to his office in town.

I would regard Mr. Tobin as the most efficient, orderly and systematic colleague I have ever known, though it is difficult to see him. He is safely hidden behind a high barricade of old newspapers, an impregnable fortress where he roosts, regnant, like an eagle, calmly hatching those eggs of wit and wisdom which delight the public.

TO be sure, the public, if it could see Mr. Tobin, might suppose that he was the victim of an earthquake, a typhoon or tidal wave, but in fact he can draw from this mountain of paper anything he may need. The budget of the Uganda government, the plans of the High Arrow Dam, the latest sermon of Mr. Gaglardi in Kamloops or yesterday's speech by Dr. Castro—all the world's accumulated knowledge is under Mr. Tobin's finger as he broods on his mountain top. No housewife disturbs him, no secretary dares to touch a single paper, no janitor would think of cleaning his noisesome cave.

IN a workroom at home a man is defenceless, nothing is sacred and then, to add insult to injury, the destroyer leaves the spoor of her invasion.

Yesterday, beside my telephone there stood a pile of parliamentary Hansards, certain statistics of Gross National Product, some onion seeds for early planting and various insecticides, the necessary tools of journalism. What do I find there today?

A neat collection of memoranda in a female hand of which I can make nothing. One mysterious notation tells me the price of pot roast is 69 cents a pound, that "Marjorie arriving 7 p.m. Tuesday" and "carpet $5.35 a yard." All I know is that a neat, efficient woman has been in this vicinity and I am retreating to Tobin's cave.

Happy with One?

(From Time Magazine)

All four of the upcoming byelections are in Tory ridings, and should give a clear indication of Tory strength or weakness. But in none is the struggle more interesting than in British Columbia's Esquimalt-Saanich on Vancouver Island. Former Defence Minister George Pearkes won the seat five times for the Tories until his appointment last year as Lieutenant-Governor of B.C. In 1958, he piled up a plurality of 14,000 over his CCF rival. Yet four months ago, a Tory straw poll indicated that the Liberals would win the seat. If the Tories lose Old Soldier Pearkes' riding, the rebuff would sound so loud in the West that the Liberals might be happy to win it even if they lost all the other three.

Stamp Out Cancer

In order to raise money to support the urgent work that is being done in our laboratories we collect used foreign and Commonwealth stamps from various sources and sell them to dealers. It has occurred to us that many of your readers might be willing to send us batches of stamps and we should be most grateful if you would be kind enough to consider inserting a small announcement in your columns stating that gifts of used postage stamps are urgently required for sale to help the vital work of cancer research. Please send parcels of stamps to: Appeals Dept., Imperial Cancer Research Fund, 49, Lincoln's Inn Fields, London, WC2, England.

If this could be done we feel sure that it would benefit us greatly. We are now facing the immense task of building in London, adjoining the Royal College of Surgeons, the most advanced cancer research centre in Europe, and for this vast undertaking we need the widest possible support.

No Self-Interest

Your editorial in Monday night's Times accused some Saanich councillors of self-interest in voting against the proposal to reduce the width of Douglas St.

Certainly for my part there is self-interest—the desire to disassociate myself from the folly of narrowing a main thoroughfare which has to cope with the increasing and converging traffic from both the Island Highway and the Pat Bay Highway. These two-lane highways are being surveyed for widening to four-lane highways. The two-hourly Swartz Bay ferry service will shortly be increased to hourly service with a corresponding increase in traffic. In the face of these developments to reduce Douglas by 28 feet would be most unwise.

A study of Quadra Street in the city near Tolmie Avenue south where boulevards are being ripped up at considerable expense to the taxpayer shows how unrealistic it is to reduce the width of existing highways. The fact that Saanich Council does not wish to have their portion of Douglas Street reduced in width should not deter the city council from applying for increased boulevards if they so desire.

If the CIDC wishes to do a really good job for Greater Victoria, it could consider acquiring the meadow land on the island highway from Admirals Road to Tillicum Road for green belt preservation.

FROM PARIS — By JOSEPH ALSOP

History Has Uprooted Them

IT is easy enough to give a superficially rational explanation of the terrible, irrational tragedy which has now overtaken France. The explanation lies in the recent formation of the French army, and especially in the formation of the parachute and Foreign Legion regiments which were the prime movers of the coup d'etat in Algeria. In the long, grim, fruitless war in Indochina, and again in the fighting in Algeria, and yet again during the various Algerian crises, this reporter has spent a fair amount of time with French soldiers of the sort who have now rebelled against their own government.

Alsop

Man for man, they are probably the best foot soldiers in the Western world, being dashing, hardy, ingenious, and brave.

Their trouble is, quite simply, that history has uprooted them.

The parachute and legion regiments, particularly, being entirely professional outfits, have been at war in one place or another ever since the Germans laid down their arms. The same holds true for almost the entire officer and non-commissioned officer corps of the French army as a whole.

Thus the roots of these French soldiers are not in France any longer. Their roots are in the war which is their life. When you talk with them, you find that they seem as remote from their own country, as wholly out of tune with modern French life, as foreign mercenaries might be.

Yet their uprooted state is deeply painful for them, precisely because they are not foreign—precisely because they are Frenchmen by birth and passionately patriotic Frenchmen at that.

Add to this a further fact—the extreme narrowness of their experience; for unending war is an exceedingly narrow, intellectually cramping experience. Because their experience has been so narrow, even the ablest of them are capable of almost inconceivable mistakes about the real world outside the war which has become their world.

Gen. Challe, for example, is not only the real leader of the rebellion. He is also a soldier of exceptional capacity, who made a brilliant record when Gen. de Gaulle named him to the chief command in Algeria in 1958.

Yet not long ago, when discussing some articles which he admired by an itinerant American reporter whom he knew, this same Gen. Challe actually offered the following explanation. This reporter, he said, had a "network" of over a hundred "agents," also itinerant, whom he sent on ahead of him to do the work of gathering information. This, concluded Gen. Challe, was why the reporter was worth reading when on the road.

It reminds you of the story of Dr. Samuel Johnson's response to the unfortunate man who approached him with the remark, "Mr. Smith, I believe." The great doctor indignantly replied, "Sir, if you can believe that, you can believe anything."

Undoubtedly Challe and his co-plotters believed that they might well secure American support by "playing the anti-Communist card," to use their common phrase. Undoubtedly, they also believed that the American government had lost patience with Gen. de Gaulle because of his hostility to NATO. Undoubtedly, they made a whole series of other fantastic political miscalculations.

Thus genuine patriotism, and moral displacement, and the warped views of war-blinkered eyes have all combined to produce a great tragedy. Listening to Gen. de Gaulle's speech to the nation the other night was precisely like hearing a personage from a drama of Aeschylus's, heart-rendingly reciting his part in real life.

Heavy Defeat

It is hard to believe that this is real life. The hard fact of the army's rebellion will always remain a heavy defeat for de Gaulle.

It is too early, indeed, to begin toting up this tragedy's cost. But it is not too early to note a point which may have even greater long range significance. In brief, a superficially national explanation of the behavior of the Algiers rebels is not really a sufficient explanation.

One may cast light upon the seemingly irrational behavior of such individuals as Gen. Challe, but this does not explain the general tendency towards irrationality that seems to mark the present juncture in history.

The course of history in the post-war era has been characterized by vast, violent, self-damaging eruptions of irrationality all over the world. In truth, the tidy, optimistic Victorian view about the rules governing the human political animal is no longer supported by the facts of our time.

FROM WASHINGTON — By MAX FREEDMAN

Time Has Been Gained

THE session of the General Assembly of the United Nations has ended with the United States delegation feeling a sense of relief that it has escaped more severe censure for its role in the Cuban landings. The assembly passed a Latin-American resolution, without the required two-thirds majority, that the Cuban affair should be referred to the Organization of American States. There was no acceptance of the Communist effort to identify the United States as an "aggressor nation."

Freedman

Thus the United States has emerged from a difficult situation without too much damage but it can hardly wish to repeat this experience. It was saved by the help of Latin American countries, and these countries, in some instances, are being accused by their own press of being too eager to defend decisions made in Washington.

This undercurrent of anxiety must be placed against the more encouraging evidence cited by Mr. Adolph Berle, chief adviser on Latin America in the state department, that opinion in Latin America is rapidly forming a favorable verdict on the policies of the United States in Cuba.

The intervention of Mr. J. K. Galbraith, the new ambassador in New Delhi, was responsible for a change in the position of Prime Minister Nehru.

At first Mr. Nehru spoke sharply and bitterly about the invasion as a mistake that would provide precedents for Communist imperialism. Then Mr. Galbraith explained the traditional principles of American policy in protecting Latin America from external domination. He failed to gain a convert in Mr. Nehru but at least he modified the Indian leader's criticism.

Mr. Nehru finally said that he could understand that the United States had a natural and special interest in Cuba that might compel it to pursue policies in that country that should never be applied elsewhere in the world. Although he certainly never approved of the invasion, his avoidance of violent censure helped the United States during the debate at the General Assembly.

The other development which aided the United States was totally unrelated to the Cuban crisis. It concerned the desire of many African states to limit the role of the United Nations in The Congo. These governments could hardly argue therefore that the United Nations should take jurisdiction over the Cuban affair.

But Mr. Adlai Stevenson, the United States ambassador to the United Nations, has no reason to remember the Cuban episode with anything but the most profound repugnance. He spoke Monday afternoon at a private meeting in the state department and he looked weary and fatigued, even though he had a heavy tan. He spoke rather badly, and he knew it, for he made public acknowledgement of his weariness.

During the assembly debate Mr. Stevenson was compelled to defend many policies that cast doubt on his reputation as the liberal spokesman of the tradition associated with Jefferson and Wilson.

Acrid Exchanges

On the whole he did very well in the acrid exchanges with the Cuban delegate and the Communist bloc; but this achievement has not silenced his critics in the United States who have learned that he had the most persistent doubts about the wisdom and indeed the necessity of the Cuban landings.

It will be a grievous thing if this debate results in the isolation of Mr. Stevenson from the major decisions in Washington, or in any degree weakens his freedom and courage as the interpreter and defender of American policy at the United Nations.

The best that can be said for the session is that the General Assembly survived the crisis in the organization without solving it. The operation in The Congo is still in peril. The finances of the United Nations remain disorganized and inadequate. The challenge to the secretary-general's authority is still a vivid and dangerous reality. The debate on disarmament is yet to take place. But time has been gained at this lack-lustre session for another and better campaign for peace to be waged next year.

Faces in a Dusty Hockey Picture

I HAVE been looking at faces in a dusty picture—the Victoria Cougars of 1924-25—and wondering what happened to the fine hockey frenzy that possessed me and the rest of this city when the team won the Stanley Cup.

Stott

How, I ask myself, could Victoria, the smallest city supporting top-notch hockey talent, win the world's championship when it was less than half its present size, and today find itself unable to support a professional club in a much better rink?

Maybe the answer is Lester Patrick.

There are, of course, a lot of other factors. We can sit at home in an easy chair now and see on television the best men in the business. It costs us nothing and it's far more comfortable than hustling down to hard seats. There isn't any parking problem and there isn't any effort on our part.

★ ★ ★

But that isn't the answer. At home you can't smell the ice and wet wood. You can't hear the hiss of skates on ice. You don't get the color of uniforms or the panorama of a full rink. You aren't involved in the sport as you are even as a spectator on the scene. You aren't part of a mass emotion in the same way that you become part of it in the stands.

With me, personally, it's probably that phase of aging in which a person finds it increasingly easy to do without the spectacles of sport. You know the reaction: First you care a lot, then you care a little, then you don't care.

But if the years have dulled my eyes and blunted my appetite for on-the-scene hockey, that doesn't hold for a much larger young population than Victoria ever had before. What has persuaded it to stay away in droves?

Maybe we don't belong now quite so much to an age of idol worship as we once did. Back in the twenties any school kid could reel off the names of the Cougars, tell you their individual idiosyncracies, strengths and weaknesses and, in most cases, be ready to fight to defend the reputation of his particular hero.

Somehow, I think Lester Patrick had something to do with that. He gave Victoria a team which became the personal possession of the interested citizens. These were our boys. They didn't appear to be transients on the way up to the big league, or on their way back from it en route to athletic oblivion.

Of course professional hockey is a business—something from which the operator has to draw a satisfying profit. It always was—and Lester Patrick never forgot that. He had, however, the knack of assembling men to play hockey and giving them a local character.

You knew little Jocko Anderson. A clergyman picked "Happy" Holmes as the slogan for a sermon. Frank Fredrickson and Slim Halderson were Vikings from a saga, as well as fast-skating hockey players when they made this their home after successes with the Winnipeg Falcons.

Harry Meeking, the Oatman boys, Clem Loughlin were household words. Frank Foyston and Jack Walker were part of the day's conversation in hockey season. "Moose" Johnson and his long-handled stick were legend.

★ ★ ★

They drew us to the old shingle-covered rink at the Willows with irresistible magnetism. We kids trudged the long way up Foul Bay Road every Friday night to watch them. We hollered from the "Gods" until we learned the trick of making it in free as the offspring of box-seat ticket holders.

These were our champions. The rink was Olympus. Victory for the Cougars was exaltation. Defeat was a crushing agony.

When the team was sold to Detroit just before the thirties, a great light went out of our lives. The substitute "Cubs" who followed the Cougars were thin gruel. Hockey languished.

It came alive again briefly when Barney Olson parlayed a small investment in the old Horse Show Building into an arena where major leaguers played service hockey for no pay. And it seemed again to be on the point of thriving when Lester returned to Victoria to build a team around Roger Leger. After a season or two, though, the light began to dim again. The spark seemed to die in Victoria. Professional local hockey began to be an impersonal entertainment feature for too many Victorians.

It lost its box office. The owners lost money. And now, it seems, another era in Canada's fastest sport is entering the ice age here. Some day it will emerge. But to succeed it will need a much closer personal touch with the public than it seems to have now. Too many people have reached that stage where they don't care.

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

King Kong Comes to Town

LONDON—At random . . . There's going to be keen competition to get that whopping great contract from Cunard—the building of the $84,000,000 replacement for the Queen Mary.

Reyburn

John Brown, on Glasgow's Clyde, hope to get it, basing their hopes mainly on tradition and experience. They built both the Queen Mary and the Queen Elizabeth.

But other big shipbuilding firms, Harland, Vickers, and so on, at Belfast and Newcastle as well as Glasgow will be putting in tenders when Cunard ask for them in a few weeks' time.

Feeling is that rather than one firm being given such a big plum, it should be shared so that they all get a bite of it. This would benefit the industry in general, since British shipbuilding at the moment isn't exactly flourishing, especially at Belfast, where unemployment is heavy.

★ ★ ★

It has been brought over from South Africa where, despite all those black-and-white problems, it had been a great success.

An all-Negro show, and none of them professional theatre people until this, it's a rousing (true) tale of the rise and fall of a colored prize fighter nicknamed King Kong.

Work songs, dances based on tribal routines, typical tin-whistle tunes—it has all the atmosphere of shanty town life out there in South Africa and Londoners are welcoming it as a refreshing change from the formalized slickness of American imports and the now too familiar seamy Soho settings of present British musicals.

Typical comment from one review: "After the coy wagglings of those tight-trousered young men in television dance interludes the effect of all this virility, gusto and health is overpowering."

The Springboks, South Africa's touring rugby team, have gone off home after playing 34 games in the British Isles and France. Their record: won 31, lost one, drawn two. Which means that in the end they fell quite a bit short of their expressed goal of winning the lot.

Farewell messages in the press were notably sour, consensus being that their win-at-all-costs approach has done incalculable harm to the game. As one critic put it: "For your next tour, in 1969, if you can't send a team that enjoys playing rugby—don't come!"

HOME GARDEN

By JACK BEASTALL

Divide New-Sprung Perennials

Most of the flowering perennials which give color to the garden through the summer and fall months now have their new growths well above soil level.

Jack

The ones which were divided into small pieces and replanted in groups last September will show from one to three shoots each, while established clumps which have not received attention for several years will have from 10 to 40 new growths according to their kind.

The soil under these older clumps is often sadly depleted and the plants are unable to find sufficient food to support all the flowers which develop. Consequently, the flowers are much smaller than they should be and the overall display less attractive.

It is for this reason that the division of perennials is advocated. It gives young plants which bear the best flowers, and it enables us to renew the soil around them and increase the food supply below them.

If the old clumps were bearing fewer new growths there would be a chance that the present amounts of food obtainable would be sufficient to give flowers of considerably larger size.

This effect can be obtained by removing about 50 per cent of the new growths before they become any larger.

Each plant is restricted to the number of shoots the gardener feels it is able to support, the rest being cut off just below soil level. The same cutting-off is done to any others which appear later.

This is only a stop-gap practice to increase the quality of bloom on old plants for the current season. Lifting, dividing and replanting should follow in the fall so that the same condition is not present the following year.

Differences Settled

AMMAN, Jordan (Reuters) The newspaper Aljihad says differences between King Saud of Saudi Arabia and his brother, Prince Faisal, crown prince and former premier, have been settled. The paper says Faisal is expected to be reappointed premier soon. Saud took over the post of premier himself and formed a cabinet when the crown prince resigned last December.

Liberals Want Coyne

OTTAWA (CP)—The Liberal opposition in the Commons will move to have Governor James Coyne of the Bank of Canada called before a Commons committee for questioning, a Liberal party source said today.

The Liberal members of the Commons are dissatisfied with the line of questioning conducted in the Senate's manpower committee when Mr. Coyne testified before it Wednesday.

Commons opposition also wants to force the government to refer the Bank of Canada annual report for 1960 to a committee for detailed study. The annual reports of the bank have not been before a committee since the Conservative government took office in 1957.

High Wages Don't Cause Unemployment—Bennett

High wages have not caused B.C.'s unemployment problem, Premier Bennett said Wednesday.

He told a press conference he disagreed with a statement by J. V. Clyne, chairman of MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Co., that labor demands were one of the causes of unemployment.

"I don't agree that wage scales in B.C. have made for unemployment," said Mr. Bennett.

"We're not in favor of low wages."

He called for more co-operation between "extremes" of labor and management.

"If we have good co-operation—from labor, management and government—B.C. will lead all Canada out of the recession," he added.

He said one indicator of this was that while Canada's total unemployed at the end of March was 14,000 less than the month before, of that total, 9,000 jobs had been found in B.C.

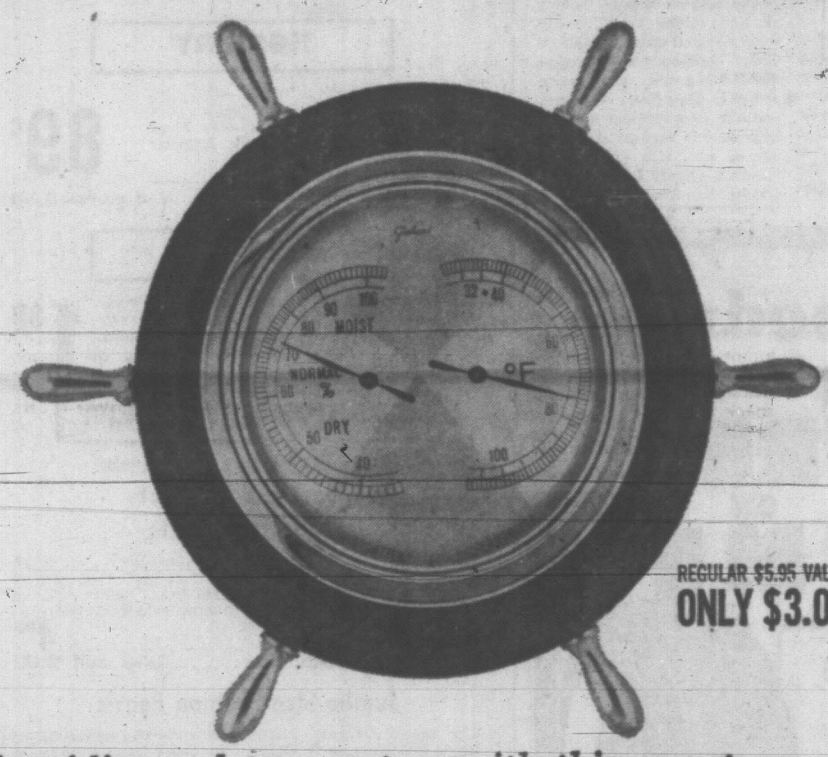

Mr. Bennett blamed tight money, high interest rates and what he called inflated dollar value for unemployment in Canada.

'DISAGREED COMPLETELY'

Foley Replies to Clyne

VANCOUVER (CP) — M. J. Foley denied Wednesday that he resigned as president of MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Limited because of lack of co-operation among top officials of the firm, British Columbia's largest timber operation.

"I resigned because I disagreed completely with many basic aspects of management," said Mr. Foley, who left the company last week to become vice-president and director of Anglo-Canadian Pulp and Paper Mills Limited of Quebec.

J. V. Clyne, chairman of the board of the B.C. firm told shareholders Tuesday that Mr. Foley's resignation followed lack of teamwork which resulted in losses to the company.

"Basic disagreement started soon after the amalgamation was finalized . . . that kind of disagreement should not be called lack of teamwork," he said.

Tots Register All Next Week

Registration for fall kindergarten and Grade 1 classes will be held all next week, the Greater Victoria School Board announced today.

The youngsters can be registered between 3 and 4 p.m., Monday through Friday, at the nearest elementary school.

Only children six years old by last December 31 will be accepted for Grade I classes, and five years old by the same date for kindergarten classes. Proof of age is required.

Eight kindergarten classes, enrolling a total of 960 children, will be operated again this year.

As in 1960, the kindergarten classes will be held in Doncaster, George Jay, Margaret Jenkins, North Ward, Oaklands and Sir James Douglas Schools.

But they will be closed in the Glanford and Lampson Street Schools and transferred to the Victoria West and Frank Hobbs Schools this fall.

BUCK HILL FALLS, Pa. (AP)—The Russian Orthodox Church has applied for membership in the World Council of Churches, it was disclosed today.

Dr. Franklin Clark Fry, chairman of the council's central committee, said the formal application was made last week by Patriarch Alexis, of Moscow, head of the Russian orthodoxy.

In it he cited the need for "deepening of mutual understanding among divided Christians" and for strengthening "universal brotherhood, love and peace among nations on the basis of the gospel."

BELL FP CHAIRMAN

Malone Named Publisher

WINNIPEG (CP) — F. P. Publications Wednesday announced the appointment of Richard S. Malone as publisher of the Winnipeg Free Press to fill the vacancy created by the death of Victor Sifton.

The announcement was made jointly by John W. Sifton and G. Max Bell, principal proprietors of F.P. Publications, parent company of the Free Press and six other newspapers. Mr. Sifton died Friday.

In addition to his new duties, Mr. Malone will continue as vice-president and general manager of F.P. Publications, with headquarters in Winnipeg.

NEW PRESIDENT

John Sifton, son of Victor Sifton, moves up from general manager to president of the Free Press and also becomes president of F.P. Publications.

Mr. Bell of Calgary, who was formerly president of F.P. Publications, was named chairman of the board.

In addition to the Free Press, other newspapers controlled by F.P. Publications are The Daily Colonist, The Ottawa Journal, The Calgary Albertan, Lethbridge Herald, Victoria Daily Times, and Free Press Weekly Prairie Farmer.

LONG BATH

VAUGESUND, Norway (Reuters)—A young seaman's wife is being treated for a nervous breakdown after spending 2½ days as a prisoner in her own bathroom. Her two-year-old son turned the key on the outside, locking her in, and the mother could not persuade him to turn it back again. For 60 hours the boy wandered about the house whimpering for food. Eventually a relative called and released the mother.

EICHMANN TRIAL EVIDENCE

Outlook for Jews 'Bad,' Kennedy Cabled in '38

CP from AP-Reuters

JERUSALEM — Joseph P. Kennedy, father of President Kennedy, reported in 1938 that the outlook for the Jews in Germany was "very bad," evidence introduced today in the trial of Adolf Eichmann showed.

Kennedy was the American ambassador to Britain at the time.

The court trying Eichmann received a photostatic copy of a report Kennedy cabled to the state department Dec. 8, 1938. Assistant Attorney-General Ya'akov Bar'or told the judges it was obtained from the national archives in Alexandria, Va.

Kennedy relayed a report, received from the French foreign office, of a conversation between Nazi Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop and French Ambassador Henri Bonnett.

"The results were very bad," Kennedy cabled Washington.

JOSEPH P. KENNEDY
. . . saw handwriting

Bar'or said Kennedy's cable was about "the refugees from Germany, many ways of helping them and easing their situation."

Kennedy's message said in part:

"Ribbentrop, when pressed, told Bonnett that the Jews in Germany, without exception were pickpockets, murderers and thieves. The property they possess had been acquired illegally. The German government therefore decided to assimilate them with criminal elements."

Letters written by Eichmann, then climbing to power on the Gestapo ladder, were put in evidence.

Eichmann was quoted as saying in a letter he wrote in 1938 that he had the leaders of the Jewish community in Vienna "on the run . . . they are working diligently. . . .

"I have them completely under control. They do not dare to budge without previously asking for my permission."

MATINÉE
of the filter cigarette!

Matinée took 2 tips from nature! Nature knows it...so does Matinée: tobacco craves moisture. Dry, crumbling, thirsty tobacco can mean poor smoking. The new, patented Humidor Process—exclusive to the makers of Matinée—breathes natural moisture into every pore of every tobacco leaf.

Try a Matinée: You'll see.

30 SECONDS CAN SWITCH YOU MATINÉE-WAY!

naturally...MATINÉE tastes right all day!

Sons of Norway Win Folk Dance

By AUDREY JOHNSON

A gay, colorful display of folk dancing provided a "standing-room-only" audience at Central Junior High School Wednesday night, with first-rate entertainment.

This was one of Victoria Music Festival's special events and featured top-rated groups from two days of competition. The program concluded with an adult open class in which Sons of Norway competed with Victoria Scottish Country Dance Club.

Adjudicator Mrs. Helen Goodwin awarded first place to the Sons of Norway "for this year," because they had fewer technical points to clear up than the Scottish group, but "they were very close," she commented.

She also described the folk dance standard of the schools as exceptionally high.

Among the many fine honor performance numbers by schools, there was a humorous and fervently energetic creative dance on a "Saturday bath night" theme by Marge Lindley's Sooke School of Dancing.

Another highlight was provided by an Oak Bay Junior High School group of boys and girls whose fine exhibition of a Swedish folk dance was enhanced by artistic costumes made by the students themselves.

Highest mark scored in speech was won Wednesday, by Penny Tisdall. Dr. T. H. Karl awarded her a 92 in the class for humorous poetry, 21 years and under.

Speech arts concluded with the afternoon session, Wednesday. In summing up, Dr. Karl congratulated the Victoria Festival on the existence of the speech art section and its generally high quality.

"There is nothing like it in the United States," he commented but told his audience that both industry and the armed forces are beginning to realize the importance of correct speech and are introducing compulsory speech training.

Hamilton Joins Talks

OTTAWA (CP) — Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton left for Hong Kong Wednesday to discuss another grain sale to Red China, prompting speculation it may be much larger than the $60,000,000 order signed in February. Negotiations have been going on in Hong Kong for several weeks with chairman W. C. McNamara of the Canadian wheat board heading the Canadian team.

Review of Charity Drives Urged

Re-elected president of the Community Welfare Council Dr. E. N. Boettcher Wednesday night supported development of a review board for charitable appeals.

He told council it should consider the proposal advanced by the Chamber of Commerce to review all appeals in order to endorse the most worthy.

"In such a review board, there should certainly be no thought of preventing or blocking fund - raising ventures," he said.

"Rather, there must be a sincere and constant endeavor to encourage greater support of worthy campaigns."

Other officers elected by the meeting were: Dr. R. E. Watson, first vice-president; Ald. Michael Griffin, second vice-president; Mrs. Grayson Young, secretary, and Gordon Taylor, treasurer.

Food for Thought, And He's Thinking

Jack Perrin hasn't thought of moving his Winnipeg Warriors' franchise to Victoria, but now that the suggestion has been whispered across the Prairies, "it's food for thought."

The Winnipeg owner, contacted by telephone thus keeps the door open—even if only slightly—on the possibility of Victoria returning to the Western Hockey League fold.

A move to Victoria, said Perrin, "would take an awful lot of thought."

So far, he hasn't had much time to think about it. He returned to his Winnipeg home Wednesday night after a business trip to Eastern Canada.

WELCOME HERE

Victoria, without a team after Saskatoon contractor Jim Piggott shifted Cougars' franchise to Los Angeles, would welcome a return to pro hockey ranks.

Informed that Memorial Arena would welcome another team, Perrin said he would be quite reluctant to move Warriors from Winnipeg — "my home town." Still, he left the door open.

"This . . . (moving to Victoria) . . . is something I hadn't thought about.

"Anyway, it may be looked into further."

WESTMINSTER FAVORED

Lacrosse Loop Raises Curtain

The curtain goes up on the Inter-City Lacrosse tonight, and it's Nanaimo coach Red Macmillan's desire to bring down New Westminster to an even plain.

When New Westminster takes the floor against visiting Nanaimo, the Royal City team will be heavily favored on the basis of fine conditioning and an 18-4 pre-season conquest of Vancouver's defending champions.

Reports from the mainland say the Westminster squad is in better condition and playing stronger lacrosse than it was at the end of the season.

Against this, McMillan can muster only four proven players since Jack Bionda and Tom McVie are still playing hockey. Spud Morelli hasn't been turning out, and Barry Ashbee and Bobby Allan haven't reported from eastern Canada.

The Hub City attack will ride with Don Ashbee, Arnie Duggan and sophomore Val Robertson in the first line; Don Morelli with rookies Bill Russell and Ed McDonald on the second and an all-freshman third line of Bill Good, Jack Phillips and Al Fearon.

Lisle Scott and Skip McKay will be on defence as usual with the other pair of rookies John Ferguson and Murray Thomas.

Fred Fulla or rookie Merv Schweitzer will start in goal. Utility man is Roy Bianco, another rookie.

Canadian Grid Clubs Adopt Disaster Plan

WINNIPEG (CP)—A disaster plan covering all teams in the Canadian Football League is scheduled to go into effect at the start of next season, Commissioner Sydney Halter announced Wednesday.

The plan would provide for the restocking of any of the nine member teams should they lose four or more players in an airplane crash or other mishap.

The team suffering the loss would obtain players from the other clubs.

The number of players to be provided by each team and what teams would provide them is covered by a complicated formula.

Halter said the plan was approved at a recent meeting of football managers in Toronto, but final details are still being worked out before formal approval is given by the league.

The plan also includes an insurance scheme which would provide financial reimbursement to a club suffering loss of players, the league and other league clubs.

The eastern section of the CFL, the Big Four, has had a disaster plan of its own to this point: The Western Conference has none.

Bert Hedges On Plans For Retiring

CALGARY (CP) — Retirement from the National Hockey League may still be a long time off for Bert Olmstead, the Toronto Maple Leaf left winger hinted this week.

Olmstead said in Calgary, Saturday, that he was definitely going to quit this year and take up farming duties full-time at Sceptre, Sask. It was his third such announcement in three years.

But at a sportsman's dinner Monday night he put it this way:

"As of now it sticks, but you can never tell when September comes around."

Rejoined teammate Red Kelly, another head table guest and at 35 about a year and a half older than Olmstead:

"If you don't come back I'd better think about retiring too"

Council Requests Ticat Sale Probe

HAMILTON, Ont. (UPI) — The Hamilton City Council has voted to ask the provincial public trustee to launch an inquiry into the sale of the Hamilton Tiger-Cats Football Club to private interests.

The club, which was sold two weeks ago, was formerly under public ownership. Alderman John Munro, who called for the probe, complained that the former executive of the publicly-owned club was identical with the new executive of the privately-owned organization.

He charged that this constituted a "conflict of interest and at that the whole story of the club sale was filled with conflict of interest."

He said the executive had been instrumental in a previous "ridiculous" purchase offer of $2,000, which was turned down, and for secretly turning down a cash offer of $170,000 by Ernie Whelkin of Toronto.

SAME FIGURE

The alderman said the same executive simply waited for a couple of months, then purchased the club themselves for the same figure.

He said they put up a down payment of $50,000 and issued debentures for the remaining $120,000. He said the club had built up a $218,000 surplus over the past 10 years. This for the use of amateur football in Hamilton, but private ownership would put a stop to this practice, he said.

FIGHT RESULTS

MANILA—Auburn (Flash) Copeland, 130, Flint, Mich., stopped Roy (Sugar) Tajong, 130½, Philippines, 7.

FORT ERIE, Ont. (UPI)—Windsor Forest won the $6,000 featured race Wednesday at the Fort Erie Jockey Club.

Bye Bye BOGIES

by BOB ROSBURG

The importance of the grip has been discussed since Harry Vardon's time. The grip is so important that every instructional series must start with it.

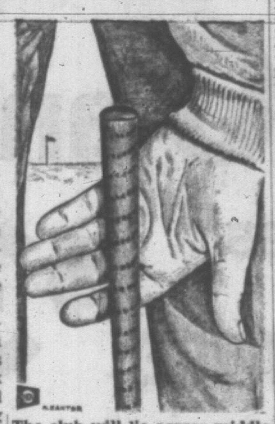

I use the so-called baseball grip, which has increased in popularity in more recent years.

But let us start with the over-lapping grip because it is the one most commonly employed.

Take any wood, and place its sole on the ground with the face square to the line of flight. With the back of the left hand facing the direction of flight, place that hand under the grip section of the shaft extending beyond the heel.

The left-hand grip is a combination of finger and palm grip. The club will lie across the middle joint of the index finger and extend upward into the palm, barely touching the little finger. The pressure point of the left-hand grip is the last three fingers.

Close the fingers around the shaft, with the thumb extending down the shaft and the V formed by the thumb and forefinger pointing over the right shoulder. Holding on with the left hand, put the right hand on the club as though shaking hands with it. The little finger of the right hand will overlap index finger of left.

The club will lie across middle joint of index finger and extend upward into palm, barely touching the little finger.

MUDDY MISHAP

Assisted from Fort Erie racetrack by unidentified track official, jockey Dick Morreale wades knee-deep in mud after bad spill in first race. Jockey and mount, Tempest, were leading field when two-year-old filly spilled about 100 feet from finish line. Both jockey and horse skidded nearly 65 feet through mire. Morreale escaped injury but cancelled next two mounts. (AP Wirephoto).

Mantle Doesn't Need Band to Play Hit Tune

By Associated Press

Wally Moon has been slapping home runs and getting the headlines in that other league, but Mickey Mantle literally has been banging homers right and left in the American League, and, oddly enough, with very little fanfare.

The switch-hitting Mantle unloaded a pair of two-run shots Wednesday, the first a left-handed blast that tied the score, and the second a right-handed jolt in the 10th inning that gave New York Yankees a 13-11 victory at Detroit and ended the Tigers' winning streak at eight games.

That gave Mantle a total of seven home runs — two right-handed, five left-handed—in 11 games on the road and at home. Moon, meanwhile, has tied the National League record for April homers with eight in 15 games for Los Angeles Dodgers, all at home. Both Mantle and Moon are within reach of the major league high of nine set by Ken Williams of the old St. Louis Browns in April of 1922.

FIVE GAMES LEFT

Mickey has five games left this month, three against Cleveland beginning today and two at Washington Sunday. Moon, who has sliced his eight over the left field screen at Los Angeles Coliseum, has four April games remaining, all at Chicago, where he hit just two last season.

While Detroit retained a half-game lead over idle Minnesota in the AL race, Cleveland moved into a third place tie with New York by beating Baltimore 6-3 Wednesday night. Washington defeated Boston 2-1 in the only other AL game.

Mantle tops the AL with seven home runs, 15 runs batted in (all but one collected with the homers) and 12 runs scored. He also leads the Yanks with 13 hits and a .342 batting average.

San Francisco Giants, scrambling for everything they get, suddenly have bounced out of the makings of a slump into a half-game lead in the National League race.

They fought their way into that slim advantage with a 6-5 victory at Los Angeles, breaking loose after being held hitless for five and one-third innings, and then holding off a Dodger rally with the tying run on third base in the ninth.

The Giants have a half-game edge over Pittsburgh Pirates, who defeated Philadelphia 3-2. Milwaukee is a game behind in third, after ripping St. Louis 8-1. Chicago Cubs outlasted Cincinnati 3-2 in 10 innings in the other NL game.

DEAD WARRIOR ALMOST MADE IT TO THE GATE

FORT ERIE, Ont. (CP) — A case of mistaken identity resulted in a dead horse being entered for a race here Tuesday.

Edgor's Warrior, a four-year-old gelding owned by the Edgor Ridge stable of G. V. and W. A. Young, was listed for the fifth race as part of an entry. A track veterinarian discovered the horse's tattoo identification did not match his official sheet.

Inquiries showed the horse that had been sent from the stable was Edgor's Lane, a three-year-old gelding with similar markings. Trainer Ted Mann explained that earlier this year Edgor's Warrior was fatally injured at the farm. The stable operators believed it was Edgor's Lane which had died.

LITTLE LEAGUERS READY

Spotlight Shines On Allenby Park

Victoria had the greatest number of Little League baseball players, per capita, than any other community in Canada last season and B.C.'s capital city has no intention of giving up the honor. The number of players turning out for Victoria district teams are greater than ever.

Attention this weekend, when seven of the city's 18 leagues start their schedules, will be on the new American Little League facilities at Allenby Park.

Tossing out the ball to signal the official opening of minor baseball in Victoria Sunday at 3 p.m. will be Lieutenant-Governor G. R. Pearkes, V.C.

Prior to the ceremonies, Kinsmen and Tuglets play at 1 p.m. Automecs take on Patterson Construction in the second game.

In another opening ceremony the same day, Merv Wooliams, who donated the Triangle Little League Park grounds, will throw out the ball before IGA plays Merchants at 1.30 p.m. and Eslers take on Independents at 3.30 p.m.

Weekend schedule:

SATURDAY

Esquimalt L.L.—Lions vs. Merchants, 1.30 p.m.; Yarrows vs. Naden, 3.30 p.m.; opening ceremonies, 1 p.m.

Carnarvon Pony League—City Police vs. Jaycees, 2.30 p.m.

SUNDAY

National L.L.—Rotary vs. North Kiwanis, 1 p.m.; Odd Fellows vs. Gyros, 3.30 p.m.

Evening Optimists Babe Ruth League—Bapco vs. School, 1 p.m.; opening ceremonies, 2 p.m., followed by Pattersons vs. BOP and Oak Crest vs. Lake Hill.

QUALITY, TOO!

Hoping to prove quality is as good as the quantity Saturday will be contingent of 40 swimmers from the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club. Among the local splashers trying for records and titles in the B.C. championships at Crystal Garden pool will be Paul Paquin (above). The lean backstroke artist broke the B.C. age-group record in city championships and will be shooting for Canadian mark Saturday. Heats start at 10.30 a.m. and finals at 5.30 p.m.

Wilkie Stops Long Enough To Do Job

PORTLAND — Murray Edward Wilkie is a robust hockey player noted more for his hustle and checking abilities than his scoring.

In his nine years of professional hockey with eight different Western Hockey League clubs, the 29-year-old Wilkie has never scored 20 goals in a season.

Today coach Keith Allen of Seattle Totems is happy he picked up the 170-pound winger at the start of the season to join Don Chiupka and Ed Stankiewicz on his third unit.

Wilkie deflected a hard drive by Portland netminder Don Head midway through the final period Wednesday night to give Seattle a comeback 2-1 victory over Portland Buckaroos and a 1-0 lead in the WHL's best-of-seven final.

SECOND FRIDAY

Second game will be played here Friday.

Larry Leach gave Portland a brief 1-0 lead when he snapped a scoreless deadlock 21 seconds into the second period and captain Bill MacFarland tied the score for Seattle nine minutes later to set the stage for Wilkie's winner.

Wilkie, who started his professional career by playing one game for Seattle nine years ago, has seen service with Victoria, Saskatoon, Vancouver, Brandon, Winnipeg, Calgary and Spokane before rejoining Seattle this season.

TWO TO GO

Edmonton and Portland are the only WHL teams who have never called for his services.

Portland, which held a wide territorial edge in the game, went all out to tie the score, but several sparkling plays by Bev Bentley in the Seattle net held them off.

A disappointing crowd of 8,924—10,000 had been expected—saw the teams begin the game in bruising style. Tempers reached their height late in the first period in a brawl that saw Seattle's Marc Bolleau and Portland's Ed Dudych get majors and defencemen Jack Bionda of Portland and Frank Arnett of Seattle minors for fighting.

FIRST PERIOD

Scoring: None.

Penalties: Arnett 3.52, 13.40, 17.31, Davidson 10.33, Schmautz 13.40, Bolleau (major), Dudych (major), Bionda 17.31.

SECOND PERIOD

1. Portland, Leach (Goodwin) 21.
2. Seattle, MacFarland (Fillion, Sinclair) 9.38.

Penalties: Tansley 11.36, Davidson 14.11.

THIRD PERIOD

3. Seattle, Wilkie (Chiupka, Stankiewicz) 9.22.

Penalties: None.

Mounties Stretch Win Streak

By The Associated Press

Howie Goss pounded two homers and drove in four runs Wednesday night as Vancouver stretched a Pacific Coast winning streak to five straight with a 6-3 baseball triumph over San Diego.

The victory string, including three in a row over the Padres in the series at San Diego, has elevated the Mounties to first place in league standings, a game ahead of Tacoma Giants.

Veteran George Bamberger was the winning Vancouver pitcher, although he needed help in the ninth inning when Phil Paine came in to cut off a Padre rally.

Mounties got only four hits—for the third time in as many games—but made them all pay off.

Goss, who hit 29 home runs for the Mounties last season, now has five homers this year. Catcher Charlie White also homered for Vancouver.

Meanwhile, Tacoma kept behind Vancouver by edging Portland 3-2. Seattle Rainiers clubbed Salt Lake City Bees 13-6 and Hawaii Islanders stopped Spokane Indians 5-2 in other games.

Hibs Force Third Match

ROME (AP)—Roma of the Italian major soccer league and Hibernian of Edinburgh tied 3-3 Wednesday night in their second semi-final game in the City of Fairs Cup tournament.

The two teams will play a third semi-final match to decide which will play the final game against the winner of the semi-final between England's Birmingham and Internazionale of Milan.

At Hamburg, Germany, Hamburg defeated Barcelona 2-1 in the second game of their European Cup semi-finals series. The two clubs must play a third game at Brussels May 3. In their first meeting, Barcelona won 1-0.

ISLAND GOLF FINALS SUNDAY

EXCLUSIVE BLAZER EXTRA REWARD

Times Champion Can Strut Around in Style

Prestige is the big prize, but the winner of The Daily Times Trophy also emerges as one of the best-dressed golfers on Vancouver Island.

When Dr. George Bigelow and Norm Boden match putts and pitches at Uplands, Sunday, to determine the 1961 Vancouver Island Open golf championship, the difference between winning and losing will be equivalent to $150.

In the case of Boden, the pro, the material reward is cash. The 24-year-old Gorge Vale greenskeeper is already assured of $50 for reaching the 36-hole final, but he stands a chance to double that Sunday.

Should Dr. Bigelow — the amateur — win, he will receive a suit valued at $100. As runnerup, Dr. Bigelow would receive a $50 sports jacket.

In addition, the Times Open titleholder—pro or amateur—receives a distinctive champion's jacket. The exclusive blazer, suitably adorned with the Times Open crest, is believed to be the only award of its kind in Canadian golfing circles.

It was first presented in 1958 as a special feature of British Columbia's centennial year. Patterned along the style of the blazer annually presented the United States Masters' champion, the $100 hand-tailored jacket is made of fine English doeskin.

TIMES OPEN CREST

Those are the major awards but only a part of a long list of prizes to be presented following Sunday's championship windup.

There is also one other trophy, donated by jeweller Hugh Francis, to be claimed. That, and an expensive wrist watch, goes to the winner of the handicap division.

The meeting for the handicap trophy, also over 36 holes, brings together Gorge Vale clubmates Dr. Don Carlow and Earl Francis. The runner-up claims a transistor radio.

Runner-up medallists, defeated semifinalists, and various net winners also come in for a share of the prizes, which total $500.

Other golfers who are assured of prizes include Dick Munn, John Merriman, Reg Hoadley, Alf Cool, Laurie Kerr, Fred Ranson, Bert Cuppage, Tom MacIntyre, Vince Wheatley, Vic Derman, C. O. Dunway and Jim Knott.

Sunday's two 18-hole rounds will start at 9 a.m. and 1.30 p.m. The prize-presentation ceremonies will take place immediately following completion of the finals.

OUTDOOR REPORT
BY
Doug Peden

It's playing as coy as a reluctant debutante and delaying its coming out party this year, but warm weather must be just around the next weekend. And when the sun shines in May, people in this neck of the woods just naturally start thinking about outdoor recreation.

There are few forms of family recreation that provide as much healthful pleasure as leisurely trips to our beaches, lakes, streams or forests. But there is no fun in running into trouble for breaking laws, even if the transgressions are accidental.

Because we had so many years of complete freedom, many citizens have never taken the trouble to learn what regulations now govern the harvesting of fish and shellfish. Any day at the beach, junior may talk pop into digging clams or chasing crabs and the chances are that dad has only a vague idea of the size and catch limits.

Increasing population and greater public interest are throwing heavier demands on outdoor resources and conservation measures are increasing. Laws are still liberal, but they are necessary and there is indication that the federal fisheries department intends to pay more attention to violations.

New or amended regulations are bound to pop up every once in a while and to keep the public up to date, the fisheries people have published a leaflet explaining most salt-water regulations that concern sportsmen.

Ling Cod Also Affected By Rulings

Old-timers went jigging for cod any time, they wished, but the leaflet points out that it is illegal to fish for ling cod in waters of Vancouver Island during December, January and February, except along the portion of the west coast northward from Becher Bay.

Some anglers still argue that halibut regulations must be followed only by the commercial boys. It isn't so, Harry. They also prohibit sports fishermen from taking the big flatfish during the closed season.

This year the halibut commission has stated that the season will open on May 10 and continue until such time as the catch limit of 28,000,000 pounds is reached. The quota has been climbing in recent years as conservation measures have had their effect. The closure will probably come in mid-summer and announcement of the end of legal halibut fishing usually comes about 10 days in advance.

Crabbing is a popular spring and summer pastime, but it should be remembered that the species of crab offered for sale—commonly known as the Dungeness or Pacific edible crab—may not be legally taken if the widest part of the shell measures less than 6½ inches. No person is permitted to take more than six crabs in one day.

Size limits on clams vary and a few minutes spent in learning to identify the different types could be worthwhile.

Smallest of the clams is the little neck, which must be tossed back if less than 1½ inches across the greatest width of the shell. Little necks can be generally identified by the sculptured lines on the shell, radiating from the hinge to the outside edge. Little necks may be whiteish or patterned with brown.

Cockles Not on the Protected List

Butter clams, which have lines arcing across the shell, must be at least 2½ inches across and razor clams, generally found on the west coast, may not be retained if less than 3½ inches in width. Another good clam for the pot, usually called the cockle, is chubbier and has more prominent radiating shell lines than the little neck and isn't protected by a size limit.

Abalone, a favorite target of skin-divers and found in several areas along the coast, must be at least 2½ inches across the shortest diameter of the shell.

Most anglers know all about catch and size limits on salmon. But just in case somebody gets lucky, each angler may pack home only eight salmon per day, of which not more than four may weigh more than three pounds each. During the summer, special catch and permit regulations apply to salmon fishing at Rivers Inlet, Phillips Arm and the Gold and Burman Rivers.

Any number of lines may be used in trolling, but in other forms of angling, each person is permitted only one line. Salmon grilse less than 12 inches from nose to centre of the tail must be released.

No licence is needed in tidal waters, but all anglers 18 years of age or older dropping lures in fresh water require licences, which expire at the end of each year.

New fresh-water fishing regulations are due to be issued next week, but no important changes in trout laws are expected. The main things to remember are that trout taken from streams must be at least eight inches in length, no size limit applies to trout caught in lakes and no person may retain more than 12 trout per day.

Anglers may use two lines while trolling in fresh water, but only one rod is permitted in other forms of fishing.

Those are the main regulations that affect the average sportsman. They are simple and remembering them is just one more way to ensure that you have fun in the sun.

SLATED FOR ACTION Saturday night on professional wrestling card at Memorial Arena, rugged Guy Brunetti (above) will clash with Mitsu Arakawa. Feature bout will send Whipper Billy Watson against Ivan Kameroff. Program starts at 8.30.

ALLAN CUP CHAMPS

Galt Completes Cinderella Tale

GALT, Ont. (CP)—The Allan Cup rests today in this proud city which two years ago had no hockey club to call its own.

To the cheers of 3,600 screaming fans who rushed onto the ice before the game was over, Galt Terriers shut out Winnipeg Maroons 5-0 Wednesday night to take the best-of-seven series for the Canadian senior championship in five games.

It was the worst beating of the series for the westerners, the only team to defeat Galt in 16 playoff games.

Three tallies in the first period and two in the third wrapped it up for the Terriers in their first year of eligibility for the title. They started as a senior "B" club last year and this year joined the Ontario Hockey Association's eastern senior group, which promptly folded.

HAD WIN STREAK

They were accepted into the western group and rose from last place to the championship in a stunning win streak starting Dec. 28 and which, as of Wednesday night's climax reached 32 in 38 games.

Some fancy goaltending was needed by Harold (Boat) Hurley to nail down his third playoff shutout. He turned back 35 shots compared with 37 by Winnipeg's Gord Dibley and came through with particularly sharp efforts on Tom Rendall and Lou Joyal in the final minutes.

Maroons took six of the 10 penalties and were shorthanded when four Galt goals were scored.

Canadian Car Rally Longest in America

TORONTO (CP) — Canada steps into the big time of motor sport Sunday with the longest car rally on the western hemisphere.

The 4,098.2-mile test of cars and drivers stretches from Montreal to Vancouver and has attracted 106 entries, including top rallyists from Canada, Europe and the United States. They will compete for 71 trophies and $5,000 in prizes.

The rally, organized by the British Columbia International Trade Fair, sends the first car off the starting ramp in Montreal at 7 a.m. Sunday. It finishes in Vancouver at 6.30 p.m. the following Saturday.

Eight manufacturers have entered 30 cars in addition to dealers, sports car club and private entries. Many factory entries will carry crews of professional rally drivers and navigators.

The Swedish Volvo team has fielded a formidable three-car team led by Gunnar Gengtson of Koppom, Sweden, with navigator E. Smith of Quakertown, Pa. The other crews have Hans Ingler and Nils Hager of Oslo and G. R. McMillan of Vancouver and G D. Bendiksen of Richmond, B.C.

Bendiksen and McMillan won the rugged Van-Man-Van Rally in British Columbia Feb. 11 in a Volvo.

The cars will make overnight stops at Toronto, Port Arthur, Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary and Penticton, B.C. Competitors must follow the rally route, kept secret until the start, and are assessed penalty points for minutes late or early at secret check points along the way. Mechanical failures also cost points.

In case of a tie, the winner will be decided on the basis of four driving skill tests and a hill climb. These will be held at Toronto, Winnipeg, Regina, Edmonton and Vancouver.

The rally's toughest part will be the last leg from Calgary to Vancouver when cars and drivers—both tired by then—hit mountain roads.

Oldest car in the test, and most are new, is a 1937 Rolls-Royce Silver Wraith handled by I. L. Hollway and L. V. Katila of Port Alberni.

Four other Vancouver Island cars are entered. Bob Low and G. Chambers of Victoria will be driving a Corvair as will Dave Cooper and Bill Walters. J. M. Roome of Duncan and G. Moffatt of Victoria will drive a Jaguar sedan as will Dr. Michael Penn and Geoffrey Reynolds and Jim Wells with Frank Berry.

First Time Lucky For Boston Pair

BOSTON (AP)—Mrs. Charlotte Petrivelli and Jean Cosato of Boston collected $1,066.40 on a $2 bet Wednesday on the twin double at Suffolk Downs.

It was their first try at picking the twin double, based on the winners of the fourth through the seventh races, and each made two choices.

Alouettes Pick U.S. Camp Site

WINOOSKI PARK, Va. (UPI) — Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Football League will open a pre-season camp this summer at St. Michael's College in Winooski Park, former summer home of the New York Giants.

It is the first time a Canadian football team has picked a training site outside Canada.

Dunfermline Claims Scottish Cup

DEFENCE STYMIES CELTIC

GLASGOW (Reuters) — Dunfermline Athletic won the Scottish Cup for the first time in its history when it beat Celtic 2-0 in the final replay here Wednesday night.

There was no score at half-time. The first game between the two teams was a goalless draw.

The game was a triumph for the Dunfermline defence.

Celtic had been favored to win the cup despite its failure to clinch the issue at the first attempt.

Dunfermline came into its own after half-time.

RIGHT TO BARGAIN

CLC Backs Servants

OTTAWA (CP) — Extension of collective bargaining rights to Canadian civil servants is long overdue, President Claude Jodoin, of the Canadian Labor Congress, told a Commons special committee today on the proposed new Civil Service Act.

Mr. Jodoin, reading the 5,000-word CLC brief, urged the committee either to recommend a suitable amendment or alternative legislation, which would allow civil servants such rights.

The Congress represents approximately 20,000 civil servants.

Main objection to the proposed bill as far as the CLC was concerned was that it provided only for consultation between representatives of government and civil servants. There was no assurance of any ensuing agreement on wages and working conditions.

Government employees in the United Kingdom, Australia and New Zealand all enjoy collective bargaining rights, said Mr. Jodoin.

The brief said Saskatchewan civil servants, covered under the Trade Union Act, enjoyed the right to strike and had never taken that action.

First Byelection Nomination Filed

Deadline for nominations is May 15. Voting to choose a new member of Parliament is May 29.

Mr. Hamilton filed his papers this afternoon with returning officer S. S. Penny.

In order to run in the election, all candidates must obtain the signatures of 25 voters on nomination papers.

MAYOR BACKS PLAN TO BOOST WATTAGE

Clusters Will Yield More Light

Retention of the cluster lights will provide more lighting on downtown streets under a plan to boost wattage by 25 per cent, Mayor Percy Scurrah revealed Wednesday.

He said after a discussion with lighting superintendent Kenneth Reid, he believed the present 60-watt bulbs in the globes could be replaced by 75-watt bulbs after the standards are rewired.

Mayor Scurrah also said he will oppose a proposal in city council today to rehabilitate the clusters in five annual stages rather than all at once.

He said he favored spending $58,000 this year to do the whole job rather than spread it out over the five years at $12,000 annually.

CONSENT NEEDED

Meanwhile, city solicitor T. P. O'Grady said research would be needed before a definite answer could be made to the suggestion that city council has no unilateral right to remove the clusters by resolution.

The lights were installed 50 years ago by a local improvement program and some quarters feel they can only be removed with the consent of the ratepayers who helped pay for them or by some others procedure than a simple resolution of council.

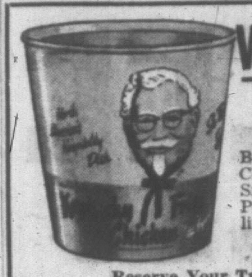

Mr. O'Grady said the suggestion raised a technical question that would require considerable searching of the lawbooks.

HEALTH CARE STUDY STARTS SOON—DIEF

MONTREAL (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Wednesday night his government plans to have a comprehensive study made of methods of "assuring that health care is available for all Canadians."

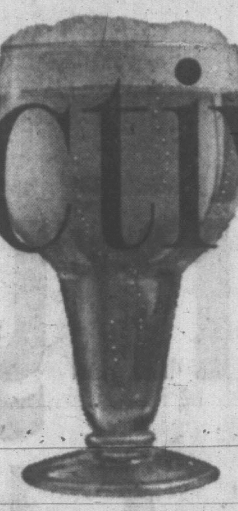

The prime minister said a commission would get under way "shortly" to begin the study of a national health care plan for Canada.

Speaking to the Progressive Conservative Women's Association of Quebec, Mr. Diefenbaker said establishment of such a commission would ensure that such a scheme was not entered into hastily.

Dinty Moore BEEF STEW

A SUPERB STEW

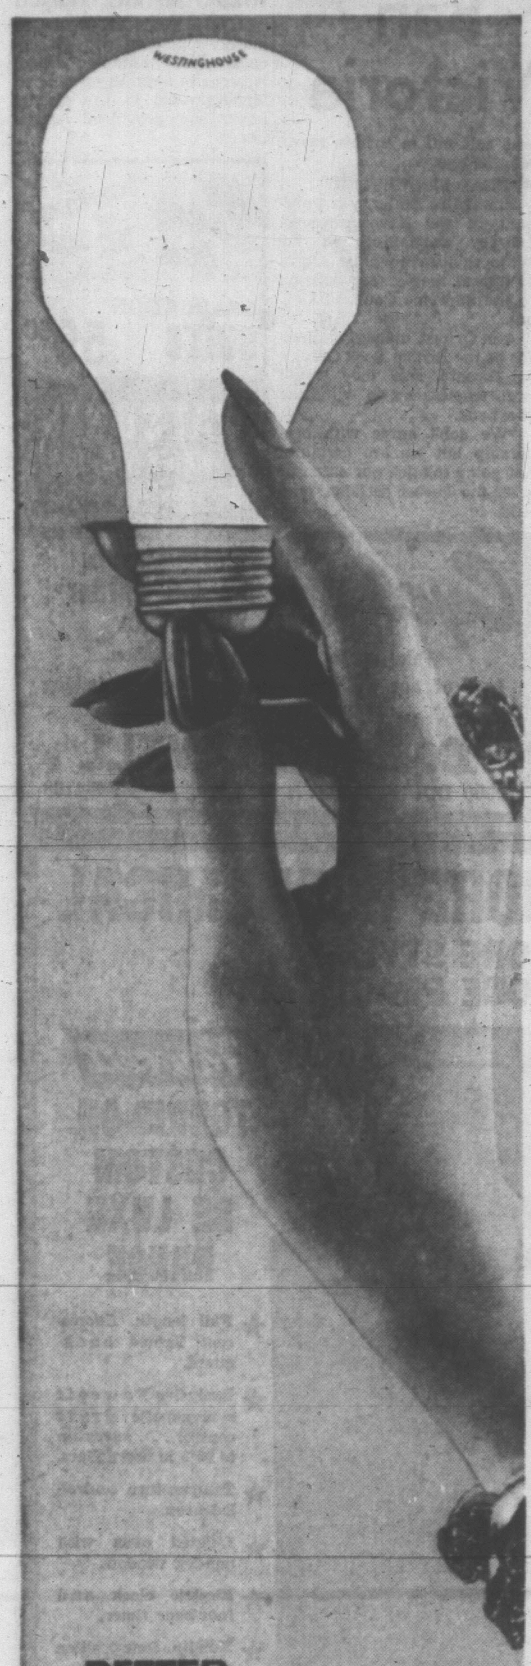

Here's a whole wonderful meal in minutes...an entirely different idea in beef stew. Dinty Moore is made with big juicy succulent chunks of brown-braised lean Western beef. Gravy that's double-rich like no other, because every drop is made from more beef. Firm white Idaho potatoes, tender-sweet young carrots, sliced in at just the right moment. Seasoning that's just plain inspired. Sounds good? It's great! Try it!

PLEASURE AFLOAT — By DON INGHAM

'Demon' Joins Race Fleet

Most recent addition to Victoria's boat racing fleet is "Demon," a hydroplane designed and built by Bob Bell for competition in the newly-formed 145-cubic inch class.

(This class is the old 136-inch class, originally formed to accommodate strictly stock Ford V-8 Sixties. Regulations have been relaxed upward to permit use of the four-cylinder Ford Falcon and the Chev Corvair's six-cylinder pancake.)

Demon's power plant is a fully rebuilt Ford V-8. On its trial run at Shawnigan Lake three weeks ago Bob kept the motor down to 2,500 rpm, but when it is run in and fully tuned it should top 6,000 rpm with ease.

Rough-Water Aid

The engine and propeller are orthodox, but the hull has a wrinkle dreamed up by her young owner-builder-driver which he expects will enable faster turns and higher speed in rough water.

In the conventional three-pointer each forward planing area is a single surface, usually with a slight dihedral. Each of Demon's planing areas has two levels. The outer corresponds to that of the ordinary craft, and will be the only one in the water at top speed.

The inner planing surface is one inch higher than the other, and slants upward and inward. There is sufficient vee to give a cushioning effect in chop, and the vertical edge between the two surfaces acts as a fin.

"I ran through some chop my first time out at Shawnigan and it felt steady," the owner said.

His First Effort

Nineteen years of age and employed in the provincial treasury, Bob lives at 609 Lambie Drive, and had never built a boat before. His first effort is 14 feet, 2 inches long, by 7 feet in the beam, and weighs 600 pounds with driver aboard. This year will be his first racing season.

"Demon" will race under the colors of the Victoria Inboard-Outboard Association, which will open the Vancouver Island boat racing season with a Victoria Day meet May 21 at Elk Lake.

There will be 20 races on the card for Class "A", "B" and "D" outboard hydroplanes, inboard crackerbox runabouts, and inboard 135, 145 and 280-cubic-inch inboard hydroplanes.

New Class Entered

This 280-inch class is new to Victoria, and will be represented locally by Keith Smith, whose hull was built here by George Baldwin.

Other Island races will be at Nanaimo July 1, Chemainus July 2, Sproat Lake July 16, and Cowichan Lake Aug. 13.

There also will be five Vancouver Outboard Club races at Hatzic Lake during the season, for which Island drivers will be eligible.

Officers of the VIOA, which confines itself to speed racing on closed courses, are Alex Dee, president; Keith Smith and Gordie Johnston, vice-presidents; Bob Bell, secretary; Don Village, treasurer; Ed Dyer, regatta chairman.

New safety rules agreed on by the executive for this year will demand that each new competitor pass a test on the course and through the starting clock, and waive all points for his first race. In addition, outboard drivers must wear a white cross on their helmets during their first year of racing.

Bennett Gets Autographed JFK Portrait

The Kennedy picture, bearing a warm message of goodwill, arrived unexpectedly.

The premier and the president have not met.

"We have mutual friends," explained Mr. Bennett.

Scattered throughout Mr. Bennett's office are such objects as a statuette of Sir Richard McBride, busts of Wilfrid Laurier and Sir John A. Macdonald, souvenir railway spikes, dollars, flags, paperweights and other pictures.

A rummage sale will be held at the YWCA at 7 p.m., May 5. Proceeds will go towards sending delegates to the YWCA national convention in Nova Scotia in June.

'No Discrimination'

WINNIPEG (CP) — W. J. Smith, president of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers Wednesday denied charges of union or company discrimination against Negro sleeping car porters.

Lee Williams, chariman of Winnipeg Local 130, Porters' section of CBRTGW, said on a Winnipeg television program Tuesday night that the union and the Canadian National Railways were conducting a discrimination policy against the Negroes.

Cats Live It Up—One Way or Another

QUACKERS IN BED is not every cat's fancy but it seems to suit Snowball, owned by Mrs. Ida Broberg of Dallas. Snowball lost six of a litter, later became ill and underwent an operation. Returning home she still had mother instinct so Mrs. Broberg gave her job of protecting five baby ducks. She obliviously enjoys her work. (AP Wirephoto).

MOM'S THE WORD for these four Siamese kittens who became orphans when their mother died when they were 12 days old. To save time feeding them, Mrs. George Cunningham, of Jacksonville, Fla., rigged up this artificial mother—four doll bottles in a corrugated paper rack. (AP Wirephoto).

BUT WHOLESALERS SHYING OFF

'Lady Chatterley' Ban Not Applied in Victoria

Lady Chatterley's Lover, most controversial "sex" book in recent times, was still on sale in Victoria today.

There is no indication it will be taken off the shelves here, although four Canadian book distributors in Toronto have advised wholesalers to withdraw the book in view of a recent Quebec court ruling.

Quebec Court of Appeal upheld a lower court ruling that seizure of D. H. Lawrence's 1928 classic was legally justified under Canada's obscene literature legislation.

Victoria booksellers said they would continue to sell Lady Chatterley's Lover until they were forbidden to do so.

WHY THE FUSS

"I shall continue to sell the book until I am advised otherwise," said Miss Gwen Scott of the Marionette Bookshop, 1019 Douglas.

"We have sold about 200 copies since this controversy started and I have received no complaints. Elderly men and women seem more interested in it than the younger readers.

"I really don't know why there is so much fuss about this work. It is really a social document written by a crusading moralist. Much more obscene literature has been written since."

Other Victoria dealers said they would continue to sell "Lady Chatterley," but Lovick's, the wholesalers, said they had none to sell.

ALL SOLD OUT

"We sold our last copy more than a month ago and we have had no supplies since," the manager said.

"We sold our last copy more than a month ago and we have had no supplies since," the manager said.

Victoria Public Library has four copies of "Lady Chatterley" on its shelves, but this is a revised version published in the 1930's from which the offending passages have been removed.

NO REQUESTS

"We have had no requests for the original version," said chief librarian John Lort. "There was some demand for the expurgated edition a while ago, but less demand actually than for books on boat-building and gardening.

"This could be an indication that Victorians generally are less interested in sex books than other cities."

In Toronto it was stated that one paperback edition of the original book has sold more than 200,000 copies in Canada—and a similar edition was sold out in Britain many months ago.

APPEAL REQUESTED

Edward L. Butler, vice-president of the New American Library distributors in Toronto, said leave will be sought to appeal the Quebec decision to the Supreme Court of Canada.

Ann Orford, managing director of the British Book Service in Toronto, said they would urge wholesalers to withdraw the book.

"We don't agree with censorship but we are certainly not going to stick our chin out after the Quebec decision," she said.

Two In Nanaimo Accused of Fraud

NANAIMO (CP) — Roger Arthur Lampitt and John Harold Hallbom of Chemainus have been jointly charged with uttering worthless documents or money orders. The case has been remanded until May 9. Bail for each accused has been reduced to $6,000 from $7,500.

Kindergartens Okayed

COURTENAY (CP)—A mother's petition with 25 signatures has prompted school trustees to approve opening of kindergartens in the district under new provincial legislation.

CCF-MP SUGGESTS:

Officers Living 'High Off Hog'

OTTAWA (CP) — Douglas Fisher (CCF — Port Arthur) suggested today that senior officers of the armed forces, particularly the RCAF, are living "very high off the hog."

He said in the Commons public accounts committee that he wonders whether senior officers are "being looked after far too well."

"You mean they should live like MPs?" interjected Alan Macnaughton (L — Montreal Mount Royal), committee chairman.

Mr. Fisher made his comment as the committee continued study of the $56,716 cost of a house at St. Hubert, Que., for Air Vice-Marshal W. R. MacBrien, chief of Air Defence Command.

Original estimate of the cost was $24,304.

To Withhold Aid

TAIPEI (AP) — Economic Minister Yang Chi-tseng told the legislative Yuan (parliament) Wednesday the United States will withhold approval of further economic aid until Nationalist China raised its electric rates. Yang said U.S. aid agencies and the world bank are demanding that Formosan power rates, among the world's lowest, be raised.

FOREST FIRE TALKS

Water Bombing Fully Accepted

By JOHN MATTERS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NANAIMO (CP) — Forest fire bombing has literally exploded into widespread application in the last five years, a convention of Canada's forest fire researchers was told Wednesday.

P. P. Deck of Skyway Air Services Limited, Langley, B.C., said the idea of dropping hundreds and sometimes thousands of gallons of water from the air has been accepted by the country's forest industries.

"The spectacular nature of the air tanker should not affect wise decisions for its use, nor should its cost create misconceptions which might prevent its most effective use," he said.

THOROUGH STUDY

Mr. Deck said a thorough study was made of the efficiency of water bombing during a severe fire season in B.C. last summer. It was found most useful in dousing fires at early stages.

He reviewed the problems of such operations. Radio frequencies were congested, there was a severe strain on pilots and aircraft, and a need for greater ground control of the aircraft, he said.

Helicopters have also proven worthwhile in transporting forest rangers to lookout towers, dropping "smoke-jumpers" and supplies and the emergency evacuation of fire fighters.

One of the features of the three-day National Forest Fire Research Conference, which ends today, was a demonstration of water-bombing techniques.

SHOW AT CASSIDY

The 100 delegates from Canada and United States went to Cassidy Airport, eight miles south of here, where a Martin Mars, Grumman Avenger, and two Hiller helicopters made drops of water and supplies.

Forests Minister Hugh John Flemming said Wednesday the federal government has decided that army personnel and RCAF aircraft may be used to combat emergency forest fire situations.

He told the conference financial arrangements have yet to be worked out with the provinces. It cannot be guaranteed that sufficient personnel and aircraft will be available when needed "but as in the past, what is available may be utilized," he said.

POLICY SET OUT

The provinces will be required to put their requests in writing. Mr. Flemming said the policy was worked out by Defence Minister Harkness in co-operation with senior personnel of the forests department and representatives of industry.

He said the provinces should provide short courses for army personnel in forest fire-fighting techniques. While the armed forces are given training in survival, this does not always include combatting a large fire raging through woodlands.

No. 89 VICTORIA Air Cadet Squadron will be inspected Monday night by Air Commodore G. G. Truscott, commander of 5 Air Division, RCAF.

Driver Acquitted Of Manslaughter

NANAIMO — A charge of manslaughter against Alfred Barrows was dropped here Wednesday after a preliminary hearing, when Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts said there was not sufficient evidence to commit him for trial in a higher court.

Barrows, 50-year-old longshoreman, was charged following a two-car collision near Chase River, April 6, in which Wei Hing Mah, 25, suffered fatal injuries.

NEW DISCOVERY

Coast Salmon Spend Adult Life in North

The answer to the long-standing mystery of where the salmon go between leaving the river of their birth and returning to it to spawn has been found as a result of tagging operations by fisheries department biologists.

According to Dr. A. J. H. Needler, director of the Pacific Biological Station of the Fisheries Research Board of Canada, in Nanaimo, young fish head for far northern waters as soon as they reach salt water.

Far northern oceans provide far better growing areas for salmon, he said, adding that when scientists discover the nutrients in northern waters which attract the fish, then they will be able to predict the size of salmon runs "fairly accurately".

The fish seem to be confused when skies are cloudy, and speed up when skies are clear, Dr. Needler said.

Father Asks Damages for Injured Girl

A father claimed damages in B.C. Supreme Court in Victoria Wednesday for his six-year-old daughter who suffered severe injuries in a collision at the intersection of the Trans-Canada Highway and Shawnigan Lake Road at Mill Bay on May 19 last year.

The girl, Margaret Mutter of Duncan, was said to have been pulled from the wreckage by Eddie Abercrombie, the operator of a service station near the intersection.

Her father, George Mutter, claimed damages from Norman Joyce and his son Ronald, who counterclaimed damages from Mr. Mutter.

Mr. Mutter said he was driving a gravel truck on the highway and his daughter was riding with him in the cab.

In collision with a logging truck owned by the Joyces, the little girl suffered injuries to the head, multiple skull fractures, contusions and abrasions, and was in hospital for 31 days.

"She has scars on her face which will always be visible," said Dr. Floyd Stahley.

Wearing a peach-colored coat over a blue dress, Margaret made a brief appearance in court and her father pointed to the scars she had suffered in the accident.

The gravel truck owned by Mr. Mutter was wedged under the logging truck and the cab was demolished.

PROPOSED INDUSTRIAL CENTRE

Children Hurt As School Bus In Collision

Crashes From Car Into Power Pole

Teacher-driver and four student passengers of a private school bus are in King's Daughters Hospital, Duncan, with minor injuries received Wednesday afternoon when the bus collided with a car and then hit a power pole.

The small 11-passenger bus, owned by the Cliffside Preparatory School at Shawnigan Lake was returning students to the school from a games session and travelling south on Old Victoria Road when it collided with a late model car driven by Mrs. William Kennedy of Shawnigan Lake as it came off the side road. Bus glanced off the car and slammed into the pole.

OTHERS LESS HURT

Front end of the bus was badly damaged, windshield smashed and the door buckled. In addition to the five hospitalized with lacerations and bruises, several other students received medical attention following the accident.

REIGNING BEAUTY at Quarter Milers car club Autorama to Jazz Friday and Saturday at Curling Club will be Bobbie James, 19, of 8985 East Saanich Road. As "Miss Autorama" she will preside at showing of custom cars, music, and entertainment. Miss James has completed her first year of teacher training at Victoria College, and is working in city dress shop for summer. (Peter Chapman photo.)

Series of Marinas To Be Constructed

By FRANK RUTTER

Recreation Minister Earle Westwood said today he believes a deal will soon be made to reserve the whole of Buttle Lake for the public — part of big plans to expand and improve Strathcona Park in central Vancouver Island.

He met Wednesday with officials of a logging company to discuss plans for a land swap and also to provide a public road to Muchalat Arm on the west coast.

He said the government has offered to exchange what is now private land owned by Elk River Timber Co. for crown forests in another area.

After meeting Elk executives, Mr. Westwood said:

"I feel quite confident something can be worked out.

"I think within a month we will be able to sit down and discuss it with them."

The swap now being worked out by recreation department officials could extend Strathcona Park to beyond the northern tip of Buttle Lake, including a portion of the road from Campbell River.

Travel on Gold River Road Likely

At the same time, Mr. Westwood said, the prospects are good for another deal which would allow public travel on the company's Gold River Road to the West Coast.

Mr. Westwood also announced plans to develop a series of small marinas along the Buttle Lake shoreline within Strathcona Park.

"This will be done this summer," he said.

Work will probably start in June on the shoreline improvements.

Another deal which may at last come to fruition, he said, is acquisition of wild, beautiful Forbidden Plateau as a further extension of Strathcona Park.

This area is included in the old E & N Railway land grant, and now belongs to the CPR.

"The CPR has made a complete assessment and they have just completed a report on the whole area," said Mr. Westwood.

He said he expects to receive this report shortly.

At present the land at the north end of Buttle Lake owned by the Elk River company, a choice recreation area, is restricted to campers. They may only camp in a prescribed area some eight miles from the boundary of Strathcona Park.

Further access to the park and lake is by boat.

'Most Anxious to Co-operate'

Mr. Westwood said the government has made a "purely temporary" deal with the company for the restricted camping area.

He said Elk officials "seemed most anxious to co-operate" on swapping their land.

They agreed to evaluate the property and Mr. Westwood agreed to draw up several alternative propositions for an exchange.

"As soon as we decide exactly what we want they are prepared to sit down and discuss it with us," he said.

Mr. Westwood said it is true some logging on the northeast slopes high above Buttle Lake is now under way.

"But there is no logging going on within the park at all."

Mr. Westwood said a deal on public access through the Gold River road hinges on two main problems.

"One is the danger of fire, and two is the danger of accidents and the responsibility if a citizen is involved."

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

It doesn't look as if Russian spaceman Yuri Gagarin will be here in time for the opening of the Royal London Wax Museum next Saturday.

The museum was hoping to include him in the explorers' section—with Captain Vancouver and others—but so far Premier Khrushchev has not given his consent.

Waxwork director John Steele cabled him in Moscow for three photos of Yuri, his measurements and a lock of his hair from which to fashion a wax model.

Khrushchev has not replied.

"He may regard us as a capitalistic enterprise," joked Mr. Steele.

A Jaycee official said this is the first time a political party has booked space in the exhibition.

'EXILE' BABY BAPTIZED ON RCN SHIP

A baby born to Canadian parents was baptized recently with sea water aboard a Canadian warship to carry on a navy tradition in the family of a former Victoria sailor.

The baptism of Alan Lee Glover, 11 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Glover, formerly of 924 Empress, was performed while the destroyer escorts Assiniboine, Skeena and Margaree were at San Deigo in the course of exercises with units of the U.S. fleet.

Glover, now a department manager in a San Diego store, was serving in HMCS Ontario when his elder son, Howard Thomas, 10 was baptized in that ship.

Civic Precinct Move Asked By Advisers

City council today was asked to buy Chaplin's Funeral Home and adjoining property opposite Pioneer Square on Quadra to create a landscaped area as a centennial project.

The recommendation was included in plans presented by the advisory planning commission for development of the Cathedral Hill civic precinct.

The commission urged council to acquire the land "on the west side of Quadra directly opposite Pioneer Square" for a landscaped area "because it was felt the provincial government would undoubtedly look upon such a project with favor when considering approval of its centennial grant to the city."

The commission's recommendations arose from a plan devised by a joint civic-provincial team which was set up after interest revived in recent months in the 1957 civic precinct proposal.

Construction of the Law Courts Building and proposal to build the joint YMCA-YWCA centre within the precinct touched off the decision to bring the overall plan up to date, as reported in The Times several weeks ago.

Proposed boundaries would run along Mears, Vancouver, Burdett, Quadra, McClure, the west side of Blanshard and the north side of Broughton.

This would tie Pioneer Square, Christ Church Cathedral, The Royal Theatre, the "Y" development, the Law Courts and the B.C. Hydro Building — which has been mooted several times as a possible City Hall—into one integrated area.

CHORAL TESTS AT FESTIVAL END TONIGHT

Last of the choral classes will comprise an interesting evening session at Victoria Music Festival tonight when Victoria, Oak Bay and Esquimalt High Schools will meet in a sing-fest made up of five different categories — Girls, boys and mixed choruses.

Classes will be adjudicated by Courtland Hultberg of the University of British Columbia music faculty.

Federal Minister Of Forests Here For Look-Around

His visit was not political he said, but was arranged to give him a first-hand look at forestry operations in the province.

There had been speculation that Mr. Flemming would speak on behalf of Saanich Reeve George Chatterton, Progressive Conservative candidate in the Esquimalt-Saanich byelection. However, Mr. Flemming said he would be returning to Vancouver Friday morning.

Mr. Flemming spent over an hour immediately after arriving in Victoria in a tour of the B.C. Forest Products Ltd. sawmill and plywood plant.

Second Diver Bends Victim Treated Here

Wilbert Grieve Jr., 22, of Mission was flown here after he was stricken while working under pressure on a sewer project in Point Grey.

The chamber at the project was already in use, as a medical team worked to aid Jack Thompson, a scuba diver who surfaced too rapidly while diving at 250 feet in Seymour Narrows last Tuesday.

He was to come out of the decompression chamber today.

PRONOUNCED FIT

Grieve was placed in the Colwood chamber at 3.30 a.m., and taken out at 7.30. Doctors at HMCS Naden hospital pronounced him fit, but he was to remain at the diving school for 24 hours as a precautionary measure, so he could re-enter the chamber if necessary.

He went to Vancouver Tuesday, returned only a few hours before the Vancouver diver arrived. Lt.-Cmdr. Al Booth remained at Vancouver to direct operations there.

Thompson was suffering from both air embolism and bends. Doctors hope that life will creep back into his partially-paralyzed legs when the pressure is lessened.

Not Ready To 'Face Up' Says Clyne

J. V. Clyne, chairman of MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River, Ltd., today replied to critics of his Tuesday statement that union leaders and high wages are to blame for Canada's economic ills.

One of the critics was Premier Bennett who said he did not agree that high wages have made for unemployment. (See Page 5.)

In his new statement Mr. Clyne said:

"The reported reaction in various circles to my expression of concern, at our annual meeting of shareholders, as to the effect of wage increases on employment in B.C. illustrates all too clearly my observation that we are not yet ready as a society to face this problem.

DECEIVING OURSELVES

"Instead, we tend to reassure ourselves that other forces beyond our control are wholly responsible for our difficulties, and that our trend of rising wages has not hurt us.

"I realize that no one can win a popularity contest by telling the truth in this situation. But surely we do ourselves harm if we gloss over or conceal hard economic facts within which we must live in order to sell and be employed."

ASK The TIMES

Q. Though a resident of Victoria almost 75 years it is only recently I moved near Christ Church Cathedral. I now hear the bells and enjoy them. Could you tell me why these bells ring at different times during week days? S. G. T.

A. The bells are rung for five minutes prior to mattins at 9 a.m. and before evensong at 5.15 p.m. Monday through Saturday. They are also rung before special services, tolled for funerals and rung off-and-on for a couple of hours each Tuesday night from 7.30 for practice by bell ringers.

Q. Your paper has a travel writer by the name of Horace Sutton. What is his address? L. T.

A. 25 West 45th Street, New York 36, New York.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem also to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Melville D. Corneille, 19, of 1060 Queens, who was found guilty by an Assize Court jury here of attempted rape, will be sentenced Friday at 10 a.m. by Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson.

At the hearing three weeks ago Mr. Justice Wilson told the jury Corneille was not insane under the Criminal Code, but his mental condition would be relevant in the sentencing.

Socialist Party of Canada candidate Don Poirier will address an Esquimalt-Saanich federal by-election campaign meeting tonight at 8 in Sooke Community Hall.

"A weather system off the west coast of the United States is making its way toward the mainland," he said. "It will give us increasingly cloudy skies tonight and clouds Friday, with the risk of showers Friday morning."

Winds will be easterly at 15 miles per hour, and temperatures will range between 42 and 58 degrees.

Gary A. Hiscocks, 338 Goldstream, $35 and $3 costs and licence suspension; Lawrence William Edgington, 155 Wildwood, $25 and $5 costs; Geoffrey Fawcett, 2861 Carlow, $20 and $3 costs; John Charles O'Connor, 3066 Leigh, $20 and $3 costs; Robert Ross McColl, 3385 Biscoe, $15 and $3 costs; Frederick Albert Oak, 2734 Peatt, $15 and $3 costs, for speeding over 50.

Plastic Pipe Use Discussed By Engineers

Some don't like plastic pipe for water supply. They say squirrels chew it and it is too vulnerable to damage from picks and shovels during road excavations.

Other engineers declare plastic pipe is the water pipe of the future.

"It is no more vulnerable than lead pipe," says city engineer James Garnett, "and as for squirrels there aren't many in Victoria."

STILL AT LARGE, Harvey the Jaycee litterbug today succeeded in "conning" these two schoolgirls into dropping their lunch bags on the sidewalk of Douglas Street. It's against the law but Harvey doesn't care.

HARVEY TEMPTS SCHOOL CHILDREN

By HAL JONES

His reasoning is obvious. If he can teach school children his black art of litterbugging he will soon be able to retire from his life's work.

BEWARE

So, children, beware! Harvey may seem like a kindly old soul, but in tempting you to drop your lunch bags in the street he's making you break the law.

Jaycees are reported to be rather worried. Harvey escaped from them earlier this week and apart from the two school children in the accompanying picture who co-operated with him in his attempts to "louse up" the most beautiful city on the continent, no one has seen him.

But two shoppers identified the "plain clothes" Jaycee litterbug in the downtown area on Wednesday.

Mrs. Colin Langthorne, 739 Scott, and James Marshall, both challenged the "offender" —a Jaycette—and won free passes to the Jaycee fair next month.

LAST CHANCE

Last appearance of the mystery litterbug, and the last chance to win fair passes will be made Friday between noon and 1 p.m. in downtown Victoria.

Meanwhile, Jaycees will continue to hunt Harvey, hoping to parade him through downtown streets in disgrace on Saturday morning.

A Handy Stepladder Will Simplify Cleaning Chores

By PENNY SAVER

Spring chores around the house become much easier when you have a sturdy stepladder with which to reach those inaccessible high spots. Ones I've seen this week have several features that will commend them to the busy housewife-cum-decorator. Each step of ladder is wire-reinforced for extra strength, there's a handy pail rest and also a safety bracket at base that will prevent straddling. Top is reinforced with metal brackets.

Made of British Columbia fir, they're manufactured in Vancouver and prices are reasonable. Four-foot ladder sells at $3.70; five-foot, $5.50; six-foot, $6.50; seven-foot, $7.50; eight, $8.95; nine, $10.98 and 10-foot at $11.95.

For outside chores, hubby will want to take a look at fir push-up ladders. These come in two sections with hook and brackets that will allow user to increase height of ladder, step by step.

Twelve-foot ladders are priced at $8.40; 14-foot, $9.80; 16-foot, $11.20; 18-foot, $12.60 and 20-foot, $14.

If you're thinking of purchasing new garden hose this season you'd be well advised to consider getting some of the two-tube sprinklers made of vinylite plastic.

They won't rot or mildew even when stored wet and the double tube construction will keep hose upright even when wound around curves, rocks and corners. It's wide coverage and fine spray make it a favorite among avid gardeners.

Twelve-foot gauge hose comes in lengths of 50 feet that sell at $5.95; 30-foot, priced at $4.35, and 20-foot at $2.95.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Did You Know You Have Three Layers of Skin?

The skin has three layers. We are all most aware of the outer layer. We pamper it with creams and lotions. Sometimes we forget the other two layers. The middle layer contains the little oil ducts, pigmentation cells, blood vessels and nerves. The bottom (third) layer is composed of fat. This has a great influence on facial contour. The decrease in the fatty deposit between the skin and the muscles is one of the factors in aging. When a woman loses a large amount of weight too rapidly, then the decrease in this facial fat, when the skin has not had time to adjust to the new proportions of the face, may make her look older.

Lowman

Our epidermis is, as you know, punctured by many small pores. Through these the skin throws off waste products. If these pores become clogged with oil and dirt, blackheads result. We should cleanse our face and neck at least twice a day, and if you have an oily complexion, it's soap and water three or four times daily for you.

Most women need a lubricating cream from the age of 30 on because of the gradual decrease of the natural oil in the skin. The wind and sun and cold and years gradually dry up the natural oils, and we must compensate for this with daily lubrication. An oily complexion is the exception.

Good nutrition is vital to skin beauty. Vitamin A and B have been found to be helpful. A well-balanced diet with lots of green, leafy and yellow vegetable is effective.

Also remember that your complexion needs stimulation. Facial exercises and gentle patting are good.

Your emotions may have a drastic effect. Many problem complexions are psychosomatic in origin. Nervousness and worry can make one break out in a rash.

If you would like to have my facial exercises, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 9. Address Josephine Lowman is care of this newspaper.

BEAUTY HINTS

Glass beads are such hot fashion today that the Indians could probably buy back Manhattan with enough of them. Newest shades include purple, ruby, sapphire, avocado and olive in both three and five-strand lengths.

To help alleviate the long lines that form from the nose to the mouth, lightly massage in good rich cream once a day, working from the point of the chin up over the wrinkles and out over the cheeks.

Making your clothes money do the most for you is chiefly a matter of learning that simplicity in dress is both smart and inexpensive. This means avoiding fluffy ruffles and fancy draping.

Hemlines are tricky things. They depend a great deal on each individual's body proportions. Find the one that's right for you.

Busy Social Calendar On Salt Spring Island

In a quiet wedding at St. George's Anglican Church, Ganges, Miss Diane Peterson, Topley, B.C., became the bride of Frederick Edward Howard, son of Mrs. W. Howard, Ganges. Miss Winifred Howard, sister of the groom, was the bride's attendant, and Harvey Reynolds was best man. Rev. G. H. Holmes officiated, and Mrs. E. J. Ashlee was organist. After a short honeymoon at Campbell River the newlyweds plan to make their home at Ganges.

J. Y. Wilson, who recently returned from England, was guest of honor at a party given by Mr. and Mrs. Kello Wilson. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. F. Johnstone, Mrs. G. Hemmings, Mrs. G. Lowe, Mrs. F. Frederickson, Mrs. E. Carswell, Mr. Chris A. Loosemore, B. Krebs and C. G. Nelson.

Capt. J. R. Flewin has returned to Camp Shilo, Man., after visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Flewin. Allan Best and Larry LeSage are now in Vancouver after spending four days as the guests of Capt. C. V. Best and Mrs. Best of Ganges.

Mrs. Sidney Quinton left the island, Sunday, for a holiday in Kent, Eng. She will return to her home at Vesuvius in two weeks' time.

Recent guests at Harbor House include Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Saul, J. Lenfesty and Prof. and Mrs. H. E. Farquahar, all of Victoria; J. Bandy, Nanaimo; Dr. M. A. Street, Galiano; F. A. Bartram, Tulka, Alta., and D. D. McLeod, W. J. Ballee, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Crackneel, all of Vancouver.

Ladies in Lucky Lake, Sask., who meet once a month for charity work have a milk fund which they direct to the Unitarian Service Committee, 78 Sparks Street, Ottawa, to help buy cups of milk for children in India. The USC jeep ambulance delivers supplies to remote Indian villages and at roadside clinics where hundreds of children line up for their ration. Often the children are so hungry that many eat the milk powder dry without waiting to mix it with water.

DEAR ABBY

There's Good in Everything!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What do you do when a boy calls you his "buddy" but you want to be closer than that?

This boy calls me almost every night. He always tells me his troubles and asks for my advice. But when a school dance or something like that comes along, he always asks another girl to go. What should I do? ONLY A BUDDY

DEAR "BUDDY": Rarely does a romance bud between a young man and the girl he calls his "buddy." Accept the probability that this boy likes you like a "sister," and don't hope for anything more. Don't drop him because the more "buddies" a girl has, the better her chances are for a boy friend. Every buddy has a buddy, and one of these buddies can become your beau!

DEAR ABBY: After eight months of marriage I am seriously considering filing for divorce, but I want to know if you think I am right.

My husband was married before and has a 10-year-old son. The child lives with his mother. She refuses to accept the fact that she is no longer married to the boy's father. She will call here during the week to tell my husband that "Billy talked back," or "Billy said a naughty word." It seems to me that she should be able to handle these trivial matters herself.

Then, too, my husband goes to his ex-wife's apartment every Sunday to see the boy. He spends the entire day there, takes them to dinner, and comes home very late. All this time I sit alone, burning. I just can't take it any more. Is my marriage worth fighting for?

SECOND WIFE

DEAR SECOND WIFE: Why not ask your husband of eight months if he wants to go back to his first wife and son? Tell him why you ask, and be kindly about it if you can. Do not be bitter or resentful. The gravitational pull of a child is very strong, as it should be.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My husband wrote me a letter from the Hawaiian Islands, where he is working at present. He said all the women there had "moo moos" and he was bringing one home for me. Is that some sort of cow?

WORKING MAN'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: No, it is a loose-fitting ladies' garment. And if the fad continues to spread, so will the ladies.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Please tell that "let idiots marry idiots" idiot to be certain to follow his own advice and marry another idiot. I hope she turns out to be a "yesser" like his mother, as it's quite apparent he's like his father and needs someone to make him feel like a "big man." C.K.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Baked Cheese Fondue

Two-thirds cup ripe olives, 1½ cups milk, 2 cups soft bread crumbs, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon dry mustard, ⅛ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, ½ cup grated Canadian cheese, 1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine, 3 eggs.

Cut olives in large pieces. Pour milk over bread crumbs and let stand until milk is absorbed. Blend in salt, mustard, Worcestershire sauce, cheese, butter and olives. Separate eggs; beat whites and yolks separately. Stir egg yolks into cheese mixture. Fold in egg whites. Turn into shallow greased baking dish. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F) about 35 minutes, or until set. Serve at once. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Polio Victim Wins Way To Success

By ELIZABETH FORBES

A former Victoria woman who, for the past 13 years, has been waging a fight to maintain a normal life although confined to a wheelchair, is on the verge of becoming a popular writer of children's stories.

Mrs. F. C. Leonard (Rhoda Walton to her friends in this city) has written to her father, John Walton, 3319 Quadra Street, to say that a series of tales she has been working on, has been approved and will be published in the fall.

Rhoda Walton attended Victoria College and Victoria Normal School here, graduated from University of British Columbia and taught in the old Cedar Hill and in Quadra Street schools before she married and went to live in California.

Until 1948 she was moving freely about her home, driving her own car and doing all the other things that any woman might be doing.

CANNOT WALK

An attack of polio put her in bed for many months and when she recovered she had lost the use of her legs.

That's when the wheelchair appeared.

Even before she was out of bed, Mrs. Leonard was reorganizing her life to meet this emergency, and her program included plugging away at a writing course from which she hoped "some day" to make money.

That time is almost here.

Three years ago she wrote her first story for children "The Grizzly Bear". It was sent off to a publisher who liked it so well he sent his representative to her home in Westwood, Calif., to suggest a few changes and to ask if she thought she could write a series of five such stories, the others on the crocodile, mountain lion, porpoise and jackrabbit.

Three of the stories are ready now and have been submitted and approved. They will be published in September.

Mrs. Leonard has told her father that the series is also to be used in the teacher's manual for California schools.

RUNS HOME

This interesting woman, who has overcome so much through her determination to succeed, plans and oversees the daily routine in her own home. There is a housekeeper to assist and, on her day off, there are the two boys, Freddy and Roddy.

When she travels, it must be by air, and she is lifted aboard and taken off the airliners, in her wheelchair.

She came north with her sons in this way in 1954 to visit her parents. Since then her mother died

Mr. Walton remains at the Quadra Street home but tells you he "likes to visit in California."

In fact, when Mrs. Leonard was working on her porpoise story he was with her and together they visited Marineland in Los Angeles.

MANY INTERESTS

"We learned a lot," he said. "They showed us everything and Rhoda got a real story there."

Rhoda Leonard doesn't concentrate on her writing to the exclusion of other interests. She belongs to several women's groups in Westwood and while she does not drive her car now, she still gets out in it for there is always someone ready to drive her.

She's interested in everything—including people.

"That's why she should be a good story teller," says her father.

Pacific Club Opens Door to Women

Victoria women have gained entrance into a realm that up to now has been sacred to their menfolk.

They are being admitted into full membership in the Pacific Club.

Already there are 25 feminine members and the board of directors expects to see this number doubled and tripled before many days.

"It's a perfect arrangement," says a woman who was amongst the first to join. "For a nominal monthly fee I have the privilege of using the ladies' lounge for bridge or tea parties; I can take my friends in for luncheon or dinner and, when I'm downtown shopping, if I want to relax, I can go to the club at any time now, as a recognized member and not as a guest of a member.

"It's going to fill a great need in Victoria," another woman member says, "and you are going to find it will prove a very popular move."

In the meantime, male members of long standing look a little dazed. Others say it has not made "much difference" for wives of members have had our club for some privileges in the club for a long time.

"There are no club facilities for women in this city," he says. "We have everything here. Why shouldn't women have a place of their own in our club?"

Bold Color Contrasts In Season's Fashions

PARIS (Reuters)—Brilliantly-colored accessories go with the new fashions in the Paris spring collections.

Handbags, gloves, shoes and costume trimmings mix riotous shades, outmoding monochomatic and carefully-matched effects. It has become a fashion "faux pas" to wear accessories exactly matching or toning with the costume.

Paris designers use color in bold, dramatic strokes. They dare to combine such violent contrasts as turquoise and lime green, mustard and orange, or screaming pinks and emerald greens. It takes greater courage to mix than to match; to wear a red hat with a pink dress; or to pin a giant bunch of shock purple grapes to the lapel of a sky blue suit.

But a little ingenuity and imagination pay big fashion dividends this spring. One or two bright accesories can enhance several different costumes. Last year's ensemble can bloom beautifully again with a few new supporting "props."

BELTS ARE BIG

Paris has revived belts. Contrasting colors and low-slung effects emerge in every major new collection. Supple sashes made of soft glove leather circle the hipline, or flirtatiously disappear under folds of drapery at Pierre Cardin. Jacques Griffe features wide patent leather belts slotted through the hemline of suit jackets.

The trend towards short-sleeved coats and sleeveless dresses automatically commands long gloves. Eighteen-button lengths have stepped from the dress circle at the opera into the realm of casual street wear. Cardin likes brilliant, contrasting colors. Dior shows gloves in the same tones but one shade deeper than the costume.

Numberless little trimming ideas in the Paris collections can easily be adapted to any basic wardrobe. Couturiers favor massive carved and bejeweled buttons, braiding and piped trims, and fanciful buttonholes.

Important novelty buttons are used singly on the shoulder or hipline to draw attention to sidewraps. At Nina Ricci, they come in chiseled or hammered copper, sometimes coyly half hidden under a panel of drapery. Other buttons are made of horn, polished wood, or bamboo, or are fashioned of coils of passementerie or clustered stones.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Smith, 2535 Eastdowne Road, have announced the engagement of their daughter Valerie Joanne, to Mr. Donald E. Lyon, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Lyon, of Regina, Sask. The wedding will take place in Oak Bay United Church on Saturday, May 20 at 8 p.m., with Rev. A. Calder officiting. (Photo by Jus-Rite Studio.)

Newlyweds to Live in Far North

A home at Hay River, NWT, lies ahead for Mr. and Mrs. John McCordic, whose marriage was solemnized in St. Andrew's Cathedral recently. The bride, the former Miss Maureen Burnett, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Burnett, 624 Belton Avenue. Groom is the son of Mrs. Eileen McCordic, New Westminster.

Spring flowers decorated the church for the ceremony, at which Fr. C. R. Janvrin officiated. Organist was Miss M. McKay.

Brocaded satin, brought from Damascus by her brother, formed the bride's gown. It was styled with scalloped neckline, sleeves ending in lily points and an overskirt of illusion net. The short scalloped veil misted from a heart-shaped headpiece. Red roses, white feathered carnations and ivy were in the cascade bouquet. Mr. Burnett gave his daughter in marriage.

HOSPITAL GRADUATE

Gold tissue taffeta with mauve accessories was chosen by Miss Patricia Burnett, maid of honor and sister of the bride. Mauve and gold carnations were in her cascade bouquet.

Merlin Carter came from Hay River, NWT, to be best man for his cousin. Ushers were Richard Burnett, the bride's brother, and Donald Siedel, New Westminster, cousin of the groom.

French Brocade Wedding Gown

A white French brocade afternoon-length gown in princess style was worn by Miss Irene Frances Foot for her marriage to Const. Clifford James Leslie Harrison in St. Andrew's Cathedral. Gown featured a V neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. A rhinestone and pearl tiara held her waist-length veil. Red rosebuds and white carnations were in her bouquet.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Foot, 3416 Veteran Street, and Mr. and Mrs. Claude J. L. Harrison of Ottawa, Ont.

Fr. P. Hanley officiated at the ceremony. Organist, Miss M. McKay, played "Ave Maria."

Sister of the bride, Mrs. Eugene LeMaitre, was matron of honor in a frosted aqua gown and picture hat trimmed with nylon tulle and sequins. Yellow roses were in her bouquet.

Albert Henderson was best man and ushering guests were Eugene LeMaitre and Murray MacArthur.

Frank Bossom proposed the toast to his niece at a reception in the Brechin Room at Holyrood House. Red roses in bud vases flanked the two-tier wedding cake that centred the head table.

Handy

Hands that perspire can be uncomfortable. Try using an antiperspirant on them each day, and apply alcohol at intervals when needed.

NAIL CARE

When your nail polish starts to chip, take it off immediately. Better to do without than to wear polish that looks tacky. The purpose of any manicure is to make your hands look prettier. Usually, a professional manicure will last a week. Beyond that, it shows wear and tear.

Years of Extra Life for Valuable Rugs and Carpets

Do you really know why rugs and carpets wear out? Constant use does dull their beauty by covering bright colors with dirt and grime. But far worse is the grinding away of the actual fibres from which the rug is made by sharp, gritty particles deep within the pile. This can be prevented only by professional "deep cleaning" as done by experts at the CARPETORIUM.

The people at the CARPETORIUM have the knowledge, use only the finest special cleaning agents and have the best equipment in Western Canada.

The cost is most reasonable and estimates are FREE. Phone the CARPETORIUM at EV 3-2861. Only the CARPETORIUM at 1210 Wharf St. can give your rugs and carpets the professional "deep cleaning" that will guarantee years of extra life.

Cut Interfacing From Facing Pattern

"Dear Mrs. Farmer:

"Regarding necklines, you suggested applying interfacing to the wrong side of the garment, not to the facing. Is this interfacing cut from the facing pattern or would you cut it from the neckline of th bodice pattern" Mrs. L.V.C.

Dear Mrs. L.V.C.:

The interfacing is cut from the facing pattern, and basted to the wrong side of your garment. The facing is then pinned to the right side of your garment and the three layers of fabric are stitched at one time.

Please send all questions and suggestions to Sew Simple, in care of this newspaper.

THERE TO STAY

It's because they are needed for work they can do better than men and to release men for sea duty, they add.

The comments were made by Lt.-Cmdr. Jean Crawford-Smith, WREN commander, and Lieut. L. Frances Tait, reserve unit head, on an inspection visit here from Ottawa.

A product of the Second World War in Canada, the WREN reserve force was reactivated in 1951 and the permanent force in 1955.

Conference

The British Columbia Provincial Board of the Association of Childhood Education (International) will hold a conference at the University of British Columbia on Saturday. Speakers will be Dr. J. F. McCreary, dean of medicine at UBC; Dr. S. R. Laycock, department of education, and Dr. Kaspar J. Naegele, department of anthropology and sociology. Attending the conference from the Victoria Branch will be Miss Winett Copeland, Victoria University representative; Mrs. Enid Webster, legislative chairman, Victoria ACE; Mrs. Phyllis Ettringham, Mrs. Gladys Pettersen, Mrs. P. Macfarlane, Misses Lorna Stuart, Jean Beard, Mary Saich and Virginia Hamer, all members of the Victoria Branch.

Sister Monica Mary, Superior of St. Ann's Academy with Elizabeth Potasinski and Richard L. Craven, show a few of the stuffed toys that will be sold at St. Ann's annual spring carnival and fair on Saturday commencing at 2 p.m. and continuing until 10, under auspices of the Parents' Association. Conveners are Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Allison. Tea will be served in the afternoon and coffee in the evening when games will be played.

Spring Market Slogan Says 'Come as You Are'

Women's Committee of the Victoria Symphony Society has arranged a "come as you are" Symphony Spring Market for Saturday morning at 11 a.m., in the Poodle Dog Cafe, 1241 Government Street, at Yates, and across from the Post Office.

Food stalls will be loaded with home-baked bread, buns, cakes, tarts, candy, fruit-breads and pies. There will be a delicatessen counter and a bedding-plant stall and a number of interesting raffles, including a Mother's Day surprise (a complete turkey dinner for eight, cooked and ready at a week's notice); basket of garden tools, two $5 scrips for bulbs (fall delivery), two baskets of home-baking and a basket of special groceries.

Mrs. G. Steick and Mrs. D. Roxburgh are co-conveners of the event, assisted by Mrs. R. Rogers, treasurer; Mrs. E. E. Pearlman, raffles; Mrs. G. A. Neely, Mrs. H. Thirlwell, plants; Mrs. J. Fraser, Mrs. E. Webster, delicatessen; Mrs. F. D. Crisp, Mrs. D. M. Whitley, pies; Miss Marianne Fraser, breads and cakes; Mrs. D. Radcliff, candy, and Mrs. J. Carson, decorations.

T.V. with Lee

By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

I DON'T KNOW how you feel about them but some time ago I lost interest in the average half-hour play infesting the home set.

I am not, of course, referring to the 30-minute documentary such as John Gunther's Thursday night "High Road" series for ABC-TV or such "game" programs as CBC-TV's "Front Page Challenge" or "Live a Borrowed Life." The time allotted to these and to the likes of "Fighting Words" and so on is, I would suggest, exactly right.

Rather I am speaking about the bulk of the situational comedies, the whodunits and horse operas that garland our sets like so many Christmas tree baubles that soon wear out their season.

The pity of it is that many of these half-hour shows suffer from but one thing—time. Shows such as "San Francisco Beat," "Highway Patrol" and "Alfred Hitchcock Presents" are often well-acted, sensibly-directed pieces that suffer only from the fact that there is no time for development of characterizations so necessary for depth of theme. Of course without this development one play, after awhile, begins to look very much like the other, as though they were all a piece of the same mould.

To judge by Vernon Scott's recent piece from Hollywood for UPI I am not alone in this reaction. He writes that the half-hour shows are being dropped or expanded to meet the demand for 60-minute programs by both sponsors and networks.

For instance, three familiar westerns, "Gunsmoke," "The Rebel" and "Wells Fargo," are being stretched to an hour. So is Robert Taylor's "Detectives."

Among this season's shows to bite the dust, says Scott, are "Dante" and "Happy," also such top-ranked TV stars as Ralph Edwards, Loretta Young, Tab Hunter, Groucho Marx and Nanette Fabray.

NBC LEADS in competitions in the "hour" trend, he continues, with 18 long ones compared to nine half-hour shows. ABC splits its programs 50-50. CBS has increased its hour shows to 11 as compared with 24 half-hour vehicles. Typical of NBC's new policy is its prime time schedule for Sunday, Monday and Tuesday nights.

Block programming is the rule, with three one-hour shows in succession.

What caused the trend to longer programs? I would suggest that Scott is right when he lays credit—if that is word—to ABC's "The Untouchables." Nothing, of course, succeeds like success.

Eliot Ness and his men also get credit for a rash of new crimers that are bound for the picture tubes come autumn. Those who don't care for this sort of thing may wince at the titles—"87th Precinct," "Cain's 100," "The Investigators," "The Defenders," "The Corrupters" and "The New Breed."

However, for these gentle souls there will be NBC's new series about the circus, "The Big Arena" scheduled for the NBC web and "Circus" for CBC. Both will run one hour.

Then here will be ABC's new series, "Bus Stop," taken from the movie of the same title, and the "Dr. Kildare" series for NBC.

Situational comedies will suffer most, Scott concludes. "Few are funny for even a half-hour and it is doubtful if any of them could garner laughs for an entire hour."

To which I would add, "Amen."

Channels 7, 11: Summer Sports Spectacular concentrates for one hour on some of the best pro and amateur figure skaters in the world: Dick Button, David Jenkins, Canada's Olympic and World pair champions, Robert Paul and Barbara Wagner, and Canadian and North American singles champion, Don Jackson. This is a tribute to the American champions who perished in a plane crash last February.

8.30

Channels 6, 2: Checkmate stars Jane Wyman in the re-run, "Lady On the Brink."

9.00

Channels 7, 11, 12: Family Classics stars Sally Ann Howes and Zachary Scott in the hour-long adaptation of Charlotte Bronte's novel, "Jane Eyre." Jane's new master, Edward Rochester, is a harsh man.

Channels 6, 2, 5: Ernie Ford entertains comic Joe Flynn.

Channel 4: Untouchables hour-long crimer stars James MacArthur in "Death For Sale." The toy-business owner decides to return to his first love—opium.

Channels 7, 11, 12: CBS reports for an hour on "Why Man in Space?"

10.30

Tonight's Movies

Attacks on RCMP Bring Fines, Jail

(Compiled From CP)

VANCOUVER — Five men were sentenced Wednesday in cases involving assault on RCMP.

In nearby Cloverdale, Hans Werner Klenke, 20, received six months, and Alfred Joseph Inglehart, 20, five months, for their part in a Whalley brawl in which two RCMP officers suffered injuries requiring hospital treatment.

In Burnaby, John Ruslin, 21, was fined $300, and his brother, George, was fined the same amount for obstructing and assaulting two RCMP officers.

CHARGED WITH MURDER

VANCOUVER — Del Robert O'Brien, 23, Wednesday night was charged with murder in the death of Julius Levy, 84.

At an inquest Wednesday, stenographer Marilyn Buss pointed to a man sitting behind the witness box and said:

"That is the man I saw striking Levy."

FREED IN DEATH

VERNON — A 12-member male jury Wednesday night acquitted Edward Drachenberg, 61, of a charge of murder in the Nov. 10 death of his wife, Agatha.

The jury announced a verdict of not guilty after 3½ hours of deliberation.

A doctor testified earlier Wednesday that Mrs. Drachenberg was released by the provincial mental hospital into the custody of her husband on the understanding the husband was taking a calculated risk.

Dr. Robert W. Harrington, a psychiatry specialist at the Essondale hospital, said Mrs. Drachenberg spent more than 25 months in provincial mental institutions since September, 1955.

She was classed as a paranoic-shizophrenic, a person suffering, among other things from a persecution complex.

Hospital reports produced by Dr. Harrington showed she was considered by officials to be suffering from a "long-standing mental illness, a matter of a few years."

MAN KILLED

VANCOUVER — One man was killed and another seriously injured early today when a car went out of control and sheered off a power pole in the downtown Vancouver area.

Dead is 24-year-old Jack Whitter of Vancouver.

Police said the car went out of control, struck the pole, smashed into a fence and landed upside down on the road.

BOOKKEEPER CONVICTED

VANCOUVER—Audrey Hanson, 26-year-old Vancouver bookkeeper, Wednesday was convicted of theft of $9,432 from a community centre during an 18-month period which began June, 1959.

An assize court jury deliberated 30 minutes before reaching its verdict. Miss Hanson, a slight, attractive brunette, who conducted her own defence during the three-day trial, was remanded to Friday for sentence.

She was charged late last year after the executive director of the Red Feather centre told police the woman voluntarily told him that she had taken "about $8,000" to help pay personal bills and to assist her family.

Rain-Snow Mix Hits Manitoba

Brandon, which took the brunt of the storm, was hit by a severe rainstorm Tuesday night, followed by snow which tied up traffic, closed schools, cut off electricity and telephones and blocked highways.

By Wednesday afternoon, snowdrifts of two and three feet had piled up between here and Portage la Prairie, leaving trucks and cars stranded.

Italian Envoy Will Visit B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Carlo de Ferrariis Salzano, Italian ambassador to Canada, will arrive here May 2 to begin an official visit of western Canada. The diplomat and his wife will attend the opening ceremonies of the British Columbia International Trade Fair.

A spokesman at Government House, Victoria, said the Italian ambassador is not expected to visit Victoria.

Water Plan Financing Criticized

Central Saanich Associated Taxpayers group claims the $185,000 water bylaw to be voted on by municipal ratepayers Saturday will force the municipality to pay debts accrued by the system if there is not sufficient income from consumers.

Supporters of the scheme claim there are sufficient consumers to justify the system, and that they will support the system entirely without calling on taxpayers in general.

BYLAW QUOTED

The Associated Taxpayers, whose members oppose the bylaw as leading to an increased population, need for more schools, and scattered subdivisions, quote paragraph seven of the proposed bylaw:

"If the anticipated revenues accruing to the Corporation from the operation of the water system are at any time insufficient to meet the annual payment of interest or the repayment of the debt in any year, the Council shall levy a rate or rates over and above all other rates upon all land and improvements subject to taxation for general municipal purposes in the same manner and at the same time as other rates sufficient to meet such insufficiency."

MILL RATE HELD

KAMLOOPS—The city mill rate, at 55 mills, has been maintained at the same level as last year. School requirements take 43 per cent of the total tax, general 38 per cent and debt 19 per cent.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS

DUES CHECKOFF

Court Action Launched

VANCOUVER (CP) — Labor has started what promises to be a long and bitter fight to retain unhampered payroll checkoff of union dues and to upset hotly-contested British Columbia legislation requiring declaration the dues will not be used for political purposes.

Contest of a clause in the Labor Relations Act requiring union officials to sign a statutory declaration that dues collected will not be used politically is expected to run the gauntlet of British Columbia courts and wind up before the Supreme Court of Canada.

Wednesday, in the first move the promised legal battle, the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers' Union (CLC) Local 16-601, sought a temporary order from the British Columbia Supreme Court requiring Imperial Oil Limited to honor an agreement which includes company checkoff of union dues.

The union also seeks to have the court declare its contract with Imperial binding on the firm. In the contract both parties agree to checkoff. Such a ruling from the court would make the provincial legislation, passed during the last session, ultra vires.

COLLECT MILLIONS

Trade unions in the province collect millions of dollars annually under the checkoff system through company payroll deductions. Recognized by law, the system is used by most provincial unions outside some of the building trades.

The amendment to the act provides there shall be no checkoff unless responsible union officers sign the declaration.

Rumors of a test case have been rife since the measure became law. Final court decision could take months, even years.

The atomic workers have not signed the declaration, but most other unions have complied with the act in order to preserve the checkoff. Others have adopted a wait-and-see attitude.

Supporters of the amendment, including Premier Bennett see it as a way of protecting workers who do not desire to contribute to political party funds. Its opponents see it as a blow to the New Party being formed from the CCF and with backing of some trade unions.

Opponents also contend it is a breach of civil liberties and the right of association and claim the section cannot be enforced because it deals with future action.

The measure caused bitter and marathon debates in the last session of the provincial legislation where it received approval.

DEDICATION discourse will be given by Clifford Roberts at ceremonies Saturday marking opening of the new Jehovah's Witnesses Kingdom Hall, 2780 Shelbourne Street. An "open house" will be held at 6 p.m., followed by a musical program, a film showing construction of the hall, and other speakers. Mr. Roberts will give his address at 8.45 p.m.

BENNETT ON COLUMBIA FINANCING

Partnership But No Compromise

B.C. is not looking for a compromise but a partnership in financing the Columbia River power project, Premier W. A. C. Bennett said Wednesday.

Next move in negotiations on the $458,000,000 project is up to the federal government, he told a press conference.

"We are waiting for word," he said.

NOT COMMITTED

Mr. Bennett said B.C. was not committed to the two proposals he made to Finance Minister Donald Fleming: either Ottawa guarantees Columbia power will be available at 4.25 mills in Vancouver, or take over the entire scheme.

"We're willing to consider any proposal," he said.

Asked about an Ottawa report of a possible compromise offer, Mr. Bennett said:

Firm Ordered To Rehire Employee

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — A county court judge has ruled that Chrysler Corporation of Canada had no right to dismiss one of its employees for refusing to submit to a personal search.

Judge C. E. Bennett of Owen Sound was acting as umpire in a grievance filed by a member of local 444, U.A.W., against the company.

The employee was dismissed in November, 1960, after twice refusing to submit to a search of his person by plant protection officers.

The company described the search request as part of spot checks carried out at the company gates every "three or four weeks," not because the employee detained was suspected of stealing, but as a security measure.

The umpire ruled that the right to search an individual is a serious invasion of personal freedom.

"I find, therefore, that the company did not have just cause for discharging the griever and that the grievance succeeds. I direct that he be reinstated in his employ with back pay and without loss of seniority."

NOW, NO SIFTING EVER

with Robin Hood Pre-Sifted Flour

THE NEW CONCEPT. Ordinary Pre-Sifted Flour baking is now old fashioned. Robin Hood Flour is so completely pre-sifted that you NEVER EVER SIFT—NO MATTER WHAT YOU BAKE.

Read below how this new baking method was tried and tested... what Canadian housewives said about it... and how you can use it for quicker, easier, better baking.

THE WOMEN WHO TESTED IT

At the completion of Robin Hood's own laboratory and kitchen tests, a further step was taken: 323 women were carefully chosen to home-test No-Sift baking*.

Some were city dwellers, some country women. They lived all across Canada. All were picked for their experience, honesty, and good judgment. They were asked to use Robin Hood Flour, and the No-Sift method, for all their baking—from lightest cake to heartiest bread.

WHAT THEY THOUGHT

When the test-period was over, we asked for our testers' reactions. Nearly 7 out of 10 said "better than the usual method—for all kinds of baking." Of these, more than a third said "much better than usual!"

WHAT DID THEY LIKE ABOUT "NO SIFT" BAKING?

Almost all the women mentioned one or both of these two outstanding advantages:

(1) Convenience—No-Sift baking is simpler, quicker, easier.

(2) Improved Quality—finer texture, extra lightness.

It is interesting to note that improved quality was especially striking in the most delicate cakes—angel and chiffon. Both these cakes are real tests of a flour's worth. Yet 81% of women who baked them commented "above average."

IS IT BETTER THAN THE ORIGINAL ROBIN HOOD PRE-SIFTED FLOUR?

Some of our testers were already using Robin Hood Pre-Sifted Flour. Using it now the No-Sift way, 4 out of 5 liked it even better than before.

WOULD THEY BUY IT?

This was the acid test: did our testers like their No-Sift experience enough to become buyers of Robin Hood Flour? They did indeed. 94% said they would buy (two-thirds of these even said they would buy only Robin Hood Flour).

HOW TO BAKE THE "NO SIFT" WAY

Of course you may continue to use your present All-Purpose Flour recipes with "No-Sift" All Purpose Flour.

Don't sift at all. Just measure the amount your recipe calls for... and take out one heaping tablespoon for every cup. (NOTE: stir instead of sifting when blending dry ingredients).

That's all there is to it—no mess and bother of sifting, ever!

GUARANTEED: QUICKER, EASIER, BETTER BAKING

Robin Hood Pre-Sifted Flour is guaranteed. If you are not delighted with your No-Sift baking, you will get your money back plus 10%. Remember, Robin Hood is the same fine All-Purpose Flour as always—completely pre-sifted for you. Bake wonderful things? Sure you could with Robin Hood.

*This project was carried out by M.R.C. Limited, a reputable Canadian research organization.

SIERRA LEONE

'Slaves' Haven' InCommonwealth

FREETOWN, Sierra Leone (Reuters)—The 2,000,000 citizens of diamond-rich Sierra Leone today celebrated the independence of their country after nearly 175 years as a British colony.

Independence came to the West Africa territory—created as a haven for freed slaves at the beginning of the last century—in a dramatic midnight ceremony Wednesday night.

Sierra Leone will be the youngest member of the Commonwealth and for the first time white prime ministers of the grouping will be in a minority.

The colony was a haven for North American slaves who had fled to the Canadian maritime provinces during the American revolution.

DRAMATIC MOMENT

At midnight, lights were extinguished. Ten seconds later they flashed on again, focused on the new green, white and blue flag that replaces the Union Jack.

Not joining the celebrations were 32 members of the opposition All People's Congress party, jailed by the government allegedly because they planned to disrupt independence celebrations.

Prime Minister Sir Milton Margai has promised to free them as soon as the independence festivities are over.

MAKES IT LEGAL

He handed Margai the formal constitutional documents making Sierra Leone a sovereign, independent state.

At the same time, Sir Maurice Dorman, the former colonial governor, was sworn in as Governor-General.

Sierra Leone was ceded to Britain in 1787 by African native chiefs to be used as a home for destitute freed slaves living in England. At the time, settlers did not know they were walking on one of the world's richest diamond areas.

PILOT WINGS were presented recently to Flying Officer Colin Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Wilson, 532 Dallas Road, Victoria, at RCAF Station Gimli, Man. He will go now to Survival Training School at Edmonton and then to Chatham for training on F86 fighter aircraft before joining No. 1 Air Division, Europe.

'BITING THE HANDS THAT FEED YOU'

Welfare Racket Disclosed

WINNIPEG (CP)—A magistrate says some employed men here are hiding when welfare department inspectors call so their wives may pose as grass widows and claim assistance.

Magistrate M. H. Garton made the comment Wednesday when a 28-year-old mother of five pleaded guilty to defrauding the city welfare department of $1,042.

He said "I hear through the grapevine that there are working husbands in the city who make a point of being out of the way during the hours in which a welfare inspector is likely to call."

The magistrate described it as a contemptible crime, "biting the hands that feed you."

The woman had been claiming welfare after her husband had left her. He returned in August, 1959, but the wife failed to notify the welfare department of his return and continued to collect.

City Honors Pickets

TORONTO (UPI) — The strike-bound Royal York Hotel will have to get by without civic business until a strike there is settled, the Toronto board of control ruled today. The board agreed that city receptions and luncheons should not be held as long as there are pickets at the hotel, the largest in the Commonwealth.

LIEUT.-GOV. POSITION 'ARCHAIC'—DOUGLAS

TORONTO (CP) — Premier T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan Wednesday termed the full-time post of lieutenant-governor "archaic and a vestige of colonialism." He said the functions of the position should be taken over by the province's chief justice.

Saskatchewan's Lieutenant-Governor Frank Bastedo recently withheld royal assent to legislation requiring firms to re-negotiate mineral rights transactions with Saskatchewan farmers.

Canada-U.S. Join On Jobless Fight

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP)—Canada and the United States have decided to join forces in new attempts to battle unemployment.

In an unprecedented move, the two governments have agreed to set up an informal joint body, headed by cabinet members, to delve into every aspect of the unemployment problem and seek new programs to enhance job opportunities.

The new committee, added to a number of others already existing between the two countries in the field of economics, boundary waters, trade and defence was announced Wednesday night after a White House meeting in which President Kennedy spoke briefly to Canadian Labor Minister Starr and U.S. Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg.

Goldberg later quoted Kennedy as saying he held Canada-U.S. relations in high regard and welcomed all moves to increase co-operation between the two countries.

Starr found that Kennedy was eagerly looking forward to his Ottawa visit May 16-18. When Starr suggested that he would like a photograph of the meeting, Kennedy himself hurried out of his office to find a photographer.

TREATED ROYALY

In his first Washington visit, Starr was given the red-carpet treatment. Goldberg waited a half-hour at the airport for the Starr plane which was late in arriving from Ottawa.

Originally Goldberg planned to entertain Starr at a hotel luncheon but this was boosted to a luncheon at the presidential guest house, Blair House, with George Ball, undersecretary of state, as official host.

During the evening Starr also was entertained at a reception in the state department's plush, new drawing room reserved for top-drawer diplomatic occasions.

Starr said he had invited Goldberg to Ottawa for the next informal meeting of the new labor committee, which the two cabinet members will head. Goldberg accepted and said a date would be set later.

Starr today continues his labor department talks, concentrating on such targets as labor-management, retraining of surplus labor, automation and the impact of low-wage production on job opportunities in North America. He returns to Ottawa tonight.

Vic College Alumni Close Their Ties

Path has been cleared for closer liaison between Victoria College and its alumni with a general reorganization of the graduate association.

A new constitution and a new name reflecting the change were adopted by the alumni at a recent meeting.

New name of the group is Alumni Association of the University of B.C., Victoria College. It previously had been known as the Victoria Branch of the UBC Alumni.

First of the eight objects listed in the association's constitution is the intention:

"To foster in all members of the society a feeling of loyalty to Victoria College, and a sense of responsibility for the continuance of its educational work."

The constitution was drafted by a committee under chairmanship of David Ferne. Members were Connie Holmes, Hugh Farquhar, Floyd Fairclough and Reginald Roy.

Pioneer's Birthday

VANCOUVER (CP)—The city of Vancouver's first white baby will celebrate her 75th birthday today by eating a slice of cake sent her to commemorate the occasion. Mrs. Margaret Florence McBeil, who now lives in Portland, Ore., was born three weeks after Granville was incorporated as Vancouver and six weeks before most of the young community was destroyed by fire.

POLES ENDURE GRIMY VOYAGE

LISBON (Reuters) — Two grimy, famished Poles asked for political asylum after coming here as stowaways in a ship's hold loaded with coal. They were there 10 days.

Lisbon maritime officials said the two men were found exhausted and their faces black with coal dust Wednesday when dockworkers opened the hold on the Polish freighter Mafbork to unload it.

ALTERNATIVE ONE-MILL TAX INCREASE

Oak Bay Must Cut Cost $31,000

Unless Oak Bay finance committee finds a way to cut out another $31,000 from the budget estimate, it appears that the municipality will face a one-mill increase in the general tax rate this year.

This would mean a rate of 23 mills.

As yet there is no indication what the mill rate will be for school taxes. Last fiscal year it was 19 mills, and this year school costs to the municipality have increased by about $30,000, due to increased assessments.

Main budget cut has been in road improvement work which will be "delayed."

"I think we have pared just about as much from the estimates as we can," said Reeve George Murdoch, "and still stay within reason."

Mayor Cries 'Foul'

Perhaps I overstate. But Ella Fitzgerald, the $10,000-a-week smash, who may tie Peggy Lee's record at Basin Street East, broke into "... Louis Blues" the other night to ask the ringside: "Who's hittin' on that glass?"

Then, in the body of the song, she sang an impromptu line: "I wonder if these people know what I'm singin'—it's still 'The St. Louis Blues'."

Ella later told the audience: "I meant no harm, but if you only knew what that sounded like up here". . . And a few nights ago, well-heeled Brazilian singer Maysa Matarazzo said to a Blue Angel audience: "Shut up!" . . . The conduct of both gals was justified.

How Long Does it Take Sunlight to Reach the Earth?

On a day when the sky is a patchwork of blue and scudding white clouds, this can be very puzzling. You watch and wait while a big handkerchief cloud blows over the face of the sun. Your little bit of the world is in cloudy shadow. Then, at the very moment when the sun peeks around the edge of the cloud, you are bathed in golden sunshine. The sunlight seemed to take no time at all to reach the ground.

But remember, this sudden sunshine did not have to travel all the way from the sun, which is some 92 million miles away. It was already shining on the top of the cloud and, at most, it had only to travel a few miles down to the top of your head. This takes no time at all for such a speedy traveler. If we could persuade a beam of sunlight to curve around the earth, it would whip around the equator seven and a half times in a single second.

Light travels across the vast reaches of space at about 186,000 miles a second. On the way, it gets into various traffic accidents which cause it to slow down slightly. It may bend around stars and other heavenly bodies. Certainly it slows down somewhat when it passes through a blanket of atmosphere. The light from our sun must pass through a layer of air a thousand miles thick or more and this delay adds to its travel time.

The sun, like every star, pours forth its light in all directions. As it travels out from the blazing furnace, the light fans out in straight lines, on and on across the wide oceans of space. Of the sun's total output, only a small percentage falls upon our beautiful planet. It is estimated that the earth is blessed with about one part in half a billion parts of the sun's radiant energy.

Longer Trip in Summer

The beam of sunlight falling upon your nose set out from the sun about eight minutes ago. The travel time varies a little in summer and winter because the earth is three million miles closer to the sun in January than it is in July. This means that the midsummer sunbeams, those that paint the handsome brown freckles on our faces, have three million miles further to travel than do the cool winter sunbeams.

Travel time also varies with the time of day. Remember that our blanket of atmosphere forces the speeding sunlight to slow down a little. It is estimated that a sunbeam lags behind about a quarter mile as it cuts through a thousand miles of air. When the sun is directly overhead, its light cuts directly down through the atmosphere by the shortest route. When it is low in the sky, it slants through the atmosphere at an angle.

The evening sunbeams take a fraction of a second longer to reach us than the noon sunbeams. The July sunshine takes about 11 seconds longer to reach us than does the January sunshine. Allowing for such slight variations, the average sunbeam travels some 92 million miles from the sun to the earth in about eight minutes, or roughly 500 seconds.

Andy sends a Hammond's Nature Atlas of America to Carol Bray, age 10, of Niagara Falls, Ont., for her question:

Is shellac really made from a bug?

In the past all our glossy shellacs, varnishes and lacquers came from gums and resins found in nature. But our clever chemists have learned how to copy many of them and most of our everyday finishes are now man-made. So far, however, no one has figured out a way to make a shellac which is quite as good as nature's own.

Extrovert Yankees Can't Keep Secret

By SAUL PETT

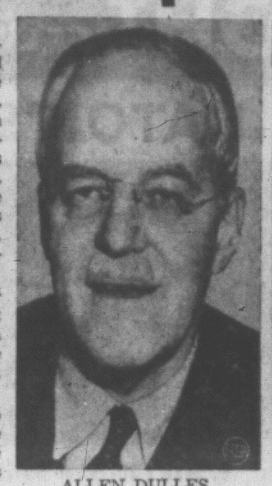

WASHINGTON (AP)—Given a brain, a mouth and an ego to match, most people find it difficult to keep a secret.

This, in the opinion of a man whose life is devoted to keeping and breaking secrets, is especially true of Americans. The Russians and English are better at keeping their mouths shut. Americans, by nature, are extroverted, ebullient, ambitious.

"These are fine qualities for the insurance business but not intelligence work," Allen Welsh Dulles, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, told a friend recently.

"For most of us, the urge to show we know more than the next fellow can be a terrible temptation. Keeping secrets is difficult and you have to be trained for it. Even I have an itch now and then to tell more than I should."

The itch, in Dulles' case, never gets irresistible. It was totally nonexistent one night in September, 1959, at an elaborate White House dinner for a foreign visitor. Coming through the receiving line, Dulles was introduced by President Eisenhower to a fat man named Nikita Khrushchev.

ALLEN DULLES
. . . he was startled

NIKITA KHRUSHCHEV
. . . by his brashness

'Pay Only Once'

"Oh, I know of you," Khrushchev grinned. "I read your reports."

Later, over after-dinner cigars, Dulles was led back to Khrushchev by Vice-President Nixon.

"You know Mr. Dulles, don't you?" Nixon said.

"Oh, yes, I read your reports," said the Russian premier.

"I hope you get them legally," said the American intelligence chief.

"Oh, yes," said Khrushchev in a renewed burst of coexistence comedy. "We get these reports from the same source and the same agents. It's a pity that we don't get together and pay these agents only once and save money."

"Well, this would be a kind of sharing the wealth program," Dulles said, and the conversation ended.

As head of the most secret agency of the U.S. government, Allen Dulles bears the awesome job of keeping the president and National Security Council regularly informed on developments behind the Iron Curtain, in Laos, Cuba, The Congo and other trouble spots.

Highly Dangerous

A large percentage of that picture is based on analysis of overt material—foreign technical journals, official and semi-official statements, press stories, books, maps, radio broadcasts, routine reports of American officials abroad. More than 200,000 pieces of "open literature" flow into the CIA document centre a month.

A small part of the total picture comes from clandestine sources, from agents, from defectors, from the perennial mercenary of espionage who is in the business only to sell information. The number of secret documents reaching CIA each week runs into "the thousands."

While modern intelligence is not the melodramatic bloodbath pictured in fiction—"We're not running a slaughter house," Dulles has said—it is still a highly dangerous business.

Agents do disappear. Agents do get killed without even their families knowing what they were doing to get killed.

Hollywood would never have cast Dulles in his role because he doesn't look the part.

At 68, he does not resemble his brother, the late state secretary John Foster Dulles. He wears his white hair parted in the middle, his complexion is ruddy, his blue eyes clear. He smokes or chews pipes constantly. Nothing in his manner suggests the master U.S. spy operating in the shadows of the world. He more resembles a contented museum curator worrying, at most, about the chip on a Plantagenet crossbow, or the head judge at a Sussex flower show cheerfully about to disqualify the vicar's hybrid tea rose.

Never Shot At

One may safely assume that Dulles carries in his head a fat bag of secrets. Yet he does not carry a gun and ordinarily has no guard unless carrying classified documents.

After a long career in intelligence—he worked abroad in the two world wars and has headed CIA since 1953—Dulles has never been shot at or been the target of a kidnap plot, to his knowledge.

Despite his long years in the business, Dulles still has a fresh enthusiasm for his job. Part of it appeals to what he admits is his appetite for conspiracy—a taste every good intelligence man needs. Apart from tennis and bridge, Dulles spends much of his off-duty time reading mysteries and spy fiction which, he says, is not entirely unrealistic except for its emphasis on gore.

'Missed' Lenin

In Dulles' experience, the qualifications of a secret agent as opposed to a defector must include high motivation, a conviction that his work is valuable, a taste for conspiracy and analytical work, and a capacity for anonymity, selflessness and abnegation.

A good agent never passes up a chance to collect material that might be useful if only in the remote future. A good agent never makes the same mistake twice. It was back in 1916, during the First World War, that Dulles learned never to ignore a potential source, however odd.

Dulles, then on a diplomatic and intelligence mission in Switzerland, had a day off when a friend approached and suggested they ought to drop in on a "strange man" nearby with a "strange new theory." Dulles declined and went out to play tennis.

And that is why Allen Welsh Dulles, director of the Central Intelligence Agency of the United States and an authority on the worldwide tactics and strategy of Russian Communism, never got to meet Nikolai Lenin.

Trucking Fee Pact Okayed By 14 States

Entry of B.C. into a reciprocal truck licensing pact has been approved in principle by 14 states attending a Seattle conference.

Under the scheme, annual licence fees would be prorated on basis of mileage travelled in each state.

Transport Minister Earle Westwood said Wednesday B.C. is expected to join the states at the start of the next licensing year.

APPLY IN OCTOBER

Applications from truckers for their new rates will be accepted in October. Details of fees and qualifications will be announced before then.

Mr. Westwood said the licensing agreement will allow freer movement of goods into and out of B.C. and generally boost the economy.

Approval by the Western Compact of B.C.'s bid to join came at the Seattle conference attended this week by deputy transport minister A. J. Bowering and motor vehicle branch officials.

CCF Wants Douglas

REGINA (CP) — Many Regina CCF members would like Premier T. C. Douglas to reject the New Party leadership, Labor Minister C. C. Williams said today in a press release.

"There is quite a strong feeling among CCF people in this city that it would be preferable if he stayed in Saskatchewan," he said.

BCE Plans Slash In Bus Services

PRISONER'S DOCK OUT —IT'S AN INDIGNITY

HALIFAX (CP) — The prisoner's dock in the Nova Scotia Supreme Court will be removed during the week-end and replaced by an ordinary table and chair.

Similar changes are to be made in all courts in Nova Scotia. Court authorities say it is unprecedented in Canadian courts.

The plan to abolish the high-railed docks was sparked by the provincial barristers society last summer which argued that placing a prisoner in a dock was an indignity and was contrary to the concept that he is innocent until proven guilty.

Route Changes To Cut Mileage

B.C. Electric today asked city council's approval for a major revamping of the bus service this summer to cut costs and meet changing traffic patterns.

The complex changes will create an overall reduction of 14.5 per cent in operating miles per year cutting the present 2,986,176 annual mileage by 432,996.

The changes—scheduled for Aug. 1 if the Public Utilities Commission gives its approval—involve changing frequency of service and routes on almost all of the bus runs.

Most service frequencies will be cut—many of them will provide a bus every 30 minutes instead of every 20 minutes—but some frequencies will be increased to give more bus service.

MORE DIRECT RUNS

Routes will be straightened out considerably to make more direct runs from starting to finishing loops and many heavily travelled runs will be consolidated to avoid duplication.

B.C. Electric vice-president William Mearns said the revamping was overdue to meet changing transportation needs in the community which have seen passenger traffic steadily falling off while deficits increase.

Mr. Mearns—pointing out that passenger traffic has declined 23.3 per cent since 1955 while bus miles operated have only been reduced 8.2 per cent—said the company's deficit on bus operations has mounted from $397,682 in 1955 to $578,845 last year.

MORE VEHICLES

He said loss of passenger traffic was largely caused by the 22.5 per cent increase in vehicles (other than BCE) here since 1955.

The company—which saw a recent possibility of selling its transit operations collapse—is seeking approval for the changes from all four Greater Victoria municipalities where it has franchise agreements.

"The situation is now such that we are applying to the Public Utilities Commission for approval of a revision of the route plan and operating schedules . . . to bring the service more in line with the number of people travelling on the buses."

SOME INCREASES

But Mr. Mearns also pointed out that bus service will be increased rather than reduced in some areas.

"The plan provides for: more service to meet requirements due to the expansion at Victoria University; improved service to a number of new subdivisions; the use of more direct routes; and consolidation of routes in the most heavily-travelled areas in order to maintain frequency of service."

Proposed Changes

Following are the proposed new BCE bus routes and the basic service frequencies.

Kennedy Prods Russia on Laos

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy summoned congressional leaders to an extraordinary White House conference on the Laos crisis today amid disclosure that the United States has prodded Russia for a quick cease-fire.

Kennedy gave the congressional chiefs of both parties a fill-in on the latest moves. It was believed he also briefed them on the next steps in U.S. plans to bring about peace in the tiny Asian country.

Soon after the quickly-summoned meeting got underway, the state department disclosed that this country called on Russia Wednesday night to get the pro-Communist forces in Laos to stop delaying a cease-fire.

The complaint about the delay was made in no uncertain terms to Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov by acting secretary of state Chester Bowles.

DEMAND REJECTED

At the same time, the state department rejected Communist China's demand that the United States withdraw its military advisers and arms from government-controlled areas of Laos before a cease-fire.

The state department made it plain that the United States did not like the delaying tactics of the Communists on the cease-fire in Laos.

The rebels in Laos are mounting offensives on several fronts, apparently taking additional territory two days after declaring that they were ready to accept a cease-fire.

Tshombe Still Held

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—Congo troops are still holding Katanga President Moise Tshombe at the Coquilhatville airport, informed Congolese sources said today.

The sources said the soldiers refused to allow him to leave.

A foreign ministry communique said "popular reaction" forced Tshombe to remain in Coquilhatville Wednesday when he tried to leave, but the communique denied that Tshombe was under formal arrest and said his life was not in danger.

The United Nations has not intervened, but a UN spokesman said if Tshombe requests assistance he would get "fair treatment."

Congolese sources said Tshombe still was at the airport this morning. They said the soldiers would not let him leave until he made another try to settle his differences with other Congolese leaders.

Twins Hit By Death Miles Apart

BRIGHTON, England (Reuters)—Twin sisters, born within minutes of each other 70 years ago, died at almost the same time 6,000 miles apart, a coroner's jury was told today.

The jury was hearing evidence on the death of Miss Dorothy Collins, who died of an overdose of sleeping tablets in this south coast resort.

Within hours of her death a cable arrived from Cape Town, South Africa, telling of the death, from a heart attack, of her twin sister, Mrs. Majorie de Vries.

Witness Harry Palmer who lived in the same house as Miss Collins told the jury the two sisters were "very devoted."

The jury returned a verdict of death "by misadventure" and after the inquest Palmer said: "Miss Collins always seemed to sense when her sister in South Africa was ill."

Gambler Indicted

NEW YORK (AP)—Gambler Aaron Wagman, 29, has been indicted on 37 counts of corruption of 11 basketball players from six U.S. colleges during the last two seasons, District Attorney Frank S. Hogan announced today.

Cuba Imprisons 12

MIAMI (UPI)—Twelve men were sentenced to long prison terms in Cuba today for counter-revolutionary activities, including sabotage and the collection of arms and money for an uprising, the Cuban radio announced.

TOP REBEL COMMANDER CAPTURED BY CUBANS

United Press International

MIAMI (UPI) — The top field commander of last week's abortive invasion of Cuba, Brigadier Roberto San Roman, has been captured, Havana Radio reported today.

A broadcast heard here said San Roman was discovered among a "new group of prisoners taken to an internment area in Zapata peninsula."

FRANCE HOLDS RIGHTISTS

Proud Foreign Legion Goes Down Defiantly

CP from AP-Reuters

As the truck convoy rolled out of the camp—where the regiment had been besieged all day by regular troops and riot forces—the Legionnaires were still shouting defiantly "Algeria is French!"

Frenchmen at the roadside showered them with flowers. Some of those watching were weeping and many of the tough troopers themselves had tears rolling down their dusty cheeks.

In the camp, explosions roared and black and white smoke billowed into the air.

One of the guards said: "We don't want to leave anything for another unit. The legion built this camp and we're not going to leave anything for anyone else."

PARIS (UPI)—A vast plot in metropolitan France that was to have aided the abortive military revolt in Algiers has been uncovered in a nationwide roundup, police sources reported today.

The warships, ordered here from France Tuesday before the collapse of the uprising, anchored just outside the harbor but government forces had this city firmly under control again.

'Flareups Still Possible'—Debre

Civilians continued to line up today to surrender their arms to police. They had been ordered to hand in all firearms by Wednesday night but the flow still was going on at a lively rate today.

There still was no news of what had happened to the three missing leaders of the rebel generals' junta-Andre Zeller, Edmond Jouhaud and Raoul Salan.

Hundreds of known die-hard rightists were being held in custody amid warnings of possible new flareups by extremists trying to overthrow de Gaulle's policy of negotiating with Moslem rebels in Algeria.

The president retained dictatorial powers despite the crushing of the revolt and Premier Michel Debre warned in a television broadcast Wednesday night that "flareups or new developments are still possible."

Debre made clear in his television broadcast Wednesday night that the government plans tough restrictions to prevent any more uprisings.

Former Gen. Maurice Challe, the main leader of the revolt, was being held, meanwhile, in grim Sante prison, stripped of his rank and facing charges of treason and armed mutiny.

Ice Smashes Vital Bridge In North B.C.

EDMONTON (CP)—A $280,000 British Columbia highways department bridge over the Sikanni River near Fort Nelson in northeast B.C. was knocked out by ice Wednesday, an army spokesman said today.

The bridge connects Fort Nelson with the Clarke Lake gas field. It is located near the confluence of the Muskwa and Sikanni Rivers.

A report from Fort Nelson said the loss of the bridge would deal a crippling blow to the oil and gas industry operating in the area. The bridge was to play an important part in the proposed program for pipeline construction and summer drilling in the Clarke Lake and Kotch Fields.

Eustace Bowhay and Keith Baldwin, flying to Fort Nelson from Whitehorse Tuesday, reported three piers had to be cut and had fallen into the river.

'People Will Pay' If Columbia Dropped

OTTAWA (CP)—The people who will pay the piper if the Columbia River power development scheme doesn't go through will be the citizens of British Columbia, External Affairs Minister Green said Wednesday.

He said in the Commons that British Columbia participated in the Canada-United States negotiations on the Columbia River treaty and was satisfied it was a good treaty.

Since then, the province had thrown many roadblocks in the way of ratification.

Mr. Green said Ottawa is under no obligation until the treaty has been passed by Parliament.

The scheme could be the greatest work-producing project in Western Canada. Any fault for its failure to materialize would not rest in Ottawa but with "our brethren" in Victoria.

U.S. Fires First Space 'Telescope'

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The United States launched a "space telescope" satellite today to study radiation mysteries of the universe, and an official reported within an hour that "everything looks good."

A 76-foot Juno II rocket carried the 95-pound satellite in its nose. All four stages fired as planned.

Its specific task is to measure high-energy gamma rays which stream out from cosmic sources such as the Milky Way and other star-cluster galaxies. They are associated with nuclear activity and scientists believe they may be the keys to information about the elements making up the universe.

B.C. Boy Killed

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Ronald Severin, 8, died on the way to hospital here today after he collided with a fork-lift truck behind a lumber yard while riding to school on his bicycle in nearby Coquitlam.

Appeal Made To Drop Arms

VIENTIANE (CP) — The government today called for a cease-fire at noon Friday, but there was no indication the pro-Communist rebels will agree.

The call was broadcast by government radio and was transmitted to the British Embassy for relay to the rebels by way of the Russians.

As the appeal was made public, concern rose about the ability of royal troops to stand up much longer against rebel attacks despite an increased airlift of U.S. arms.

Earlier, Gen. Phoumi Nosavana, strong man of the government and its military commander, proposed that peace talks between the warring factions begin Friday in Luang Prabang, the royal capital.

TRUCE TEAM DISAGREES

NEW DELHI (AP)—Differences that could impede enforcement of a cease-fire in Laos developed today between the Canadian and Polish members of the three-country commission that will supervise the truce.

The issue is whether the commission's verification of a truce in Laos is primarily an administrative job or whether political factors should be considered.

Canada says primarily administrative; Poland says political.

BEHAN FIRES FINAL BLAST AT TORONTO

$200 Fine for Wild Night

TORONTO (UPI)—Brendan Behan's wild night in Toronto cost him $200 in a long-delayed court hearing today. The Irish playwright cheerfully paid off his fine straight away and paid Toronto a few uncomplimentary remarks in the process. Behan had pleaded innocent to assaulting a police officer.

"It's as if one was in a not very picturesque lunatic asylum and you're anxious to get away from it. It's a depressing place—period," he told a crowd gathered around the "fines and payment" wicket.

He congratulated his attractive young lawyer, Rose Greenstein, and commented on the verdict: "The judge acted like a judge — not a Toronto judge. The money is relative. I've never had it and I don't need it."

Miss Greenstein pleaded against a jail sentence for Behan when she addressed the court.

"All of us know of the talent of Brendan Behan. Here is a man of superior mind who under the influence of drink is capable of deplorable things," she said.

She said his brilliant mind is being tarnished by his physical and mental condition.

Castro to Spare Invaders Except If Ex-Batista Men

HAVANA (Reuters) — Premier Fidel Castro said today death should not be the punishment for Cuba's invaders at this moment because "the people's great victory should not be belittled by excess."

Speaking during a surprise appearance at a television parade of prisoners, he said, however, that "criminals" from the era of ex-president Fulgencio Batista would not be spared.

Castro said the death penalty simply was a means of defending the revolution, "not a question of principles," and to shoot all invaders as the people wished would be to "belittle our victory."

Further captures of prisoners from last week's invasion attempt were announced today, bringing the total to about 1,100.

Castro told the prisoners on television: "When the first Yankee paratrooper lands . . . then the world will see what heroism is."

The prisoners shouted, "We will fight," when Castro asked: "What will be your attitude if Cuba is invaded by the United States?"

The prisoners said aircraft used for air raids on Havana April 15 were planes of the Democratic Revolutionary Front" (the movement of Cuban exiles) painted with the insignia of the Cuban Air Force.

Rebel headquarters in the United States have claimed that the bombers were Cuban Air Force planes piloted by defecting officers.

AT MUSIC FESTIVAL

Sons of Norway Win Folk Dance

By AUDREY JOHNSON

This was one of Victoria Music Festival's special events and featured top-rated groups from two days of competition. The program concluded with an adult open class in which Sons of Norway competed with Victoria Scottish Country Dance Club.

Adjudicator Mrs. Helen Goodwin awarded first place to the Sons of Norway "for this year," because they had fewer technical points to clear up than the Scottish group, but "they were very close," she commented.

She also described the folk dance standard of the schools as exceptionally high.

Among the many fine honor performance numbers by schools, there was a humorous and fervently energetic creative dance on a "Saturday bath night" theme by Marge Lindley's Sooke School of Dancing.

Another highlight was provided by an Oak Bay Junior High School group of boys and girls whose fine exhibition of a Swedish folk dance was enhanced by artistic costumes made by the students themselves.

Highest mark scored in speech was won Wednesday, by Penny Tisdall. Dr. T. H. Karl awarded her a 92 in the class for humorous poetry, 21 years and under.

Speech arts concluded with the afternoon session, Wednesday. In summing up, Dr. Karl congratulated the Victoria Festival on the existence of the speech art section and its generally high quality.

"There is nothing like it in the United States," he commented but told his audience that both industry and the armed forces are beginning to realize the importance of correct speech and are introducing compulsory speech training.

Hamilton Joins Talks

OTTAWA (CP) — Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton left for Hong Kong Wednesday to discuss another grain sale to Red China, prompting speculation it may be much larger than the $60,000,000 order signed in February. Negotiations have been going on in Hong Kong for several weeks with chairman W. C. McNamara of the Canadian wheat board heading the Canadian team.

Review of Charity Drives Urged

Re-elected president of the Community Welfare Council Dr. E. N. Boettcher Wednesday night supported development of a review board for charitable appeals.

He told council it should consider the proposal advanced by the Chamber of Commerce to review all appeals in order to endorse the most worthy.

"In such a review board, there should certainly be no thought of preventing or blocking fund - raising ventures," he said.

OUTDOOR REPORT
BY
Doug Peden

It's playing as coy as a reluctant debutante and delaying its coming out party this year, but warm weather must be just around the next weekend. And when the sun shines in May, people in this neck of the woods just naturally start thinking about outdoor recreation.

There are few forms of family recreation that provide as much healthful pleasure as leisurely trips to our beaches, lakes, streams or forests. But there is no fun in running into trouble for breaking laws, even if the transgressions are accidental.

Because we had so many years of complete freedom, many citizens have never taken the trouble to learn what regulations now govern the harvesting of fish and shellfish. Any day at the beach, junior may talk pop into digging clams or chasing crabs and the chances are that dad has only a vague idea of the size and catch limits.

Increasing population and greater public interest are throwing heavier demands on outdoor resources and conservation measures are increasing. Laws are still liberal, but they are necessary and there is indication that the federal fisheries department intends to pay more attention to violations.

New or amended regulations are bound to pop up every once in a while and to keep the public up to date, the fisheries people have published a leaflet explaining most salt-water regulations that concern sportsmen.

Ling Cod Also Affected By Rulings

Old-timers went jigging for cod any time they wished, but the leaflet points out that it is illegal to fish for ling cod in waters of Vancouver Island during December, January and February, except along the portion of the west coast northward from Becher Bay.

Some anglers still argue that halibut regulations must be followed only by the commercial boys. It isn't so, Harry. They also prohibit sports fishermen from taking the big flatfish during the closed season.

This year the halibut commission has stated that the season will open on May 10 and continue until such time as the catch limit of 28,000,000 pounds is reached. The quota has been climbing in recent years as conservation measures have had their effect. The closure will probably come in mid-summer and announcement of the end of legal halibut fishing usually comes about 10 days in advance.

Crabbing is a popular spring and summer pastime, but it should be remembered that the species of crab offered for sale—commonly known as the Dungeness or Pacific edible crab—may not be legally taken if the widest part of the shell measures less than 6½ inches. No person is permitted to take more than six crabs in one day.

Size limits on clams vary and a few minutes spent in learning to identify the different types could be worthwhile.

Smallest of the clams is the little neck, which must be tossed back if less than 1½ inches across the greatest width of the shell. Little necks can be generally identified by the sculptured lines on the shell, radiating from the hinge to the outside edge. Little necks may be whiteish or patterned with brown.

Cockles Not on the Protected List

Butter clams, which have lines arcing across the shell, must be at least 2½ inches across and razor clams, generally found on the west coast, may not be retained if less than 3½ inches in width. Another good clam for the pot, usually called the cockle, is chubbier and has more prominent radiating shell lines than the little neck and isn't protected by a size limit.

Abalone, a favorite target of skin-divers and found in several areas along the coast, must be at least 2½ inches across the shortest diameter of the shell.

Most anglers know all about catch and size limits on salmon. But just in case somebody gets lucky, each angler may pack home only eight salmon per day, of which not more than four may weigh more than three pounds each. During the summer, special catch and permit regulations apply to salmon fishing at Rivers Inlet, Phillips Arm and the Gold and Burman Rivers.

Any number of lines may be used in trolling, but in other forms of angling, each person is permitted only one line. Salmon grilse less than 12 inches from nose to centre of the tail must be released.

No licence is needed in tidal waters, but all anglers 18 years of age or older dropping lures in fresh water require licences, which expire at the end of each year.

New fresh-water fishing regulations are due to be issued next week, but no important changes in trout laws are expected. The main things to remember are that trout taken from streams must be at least eight inches in length, no size limit applies to trout caught in lakes and no person may retain more than 12 trout per day.

Anglers may use two lines while trolling in fresh water, but only one rod is permitted in other forms of fishing.

Those are the main regulations that affect the average sportsman. They are simple and remembering them is just one more way to ensure that you have fun in the sun.

ALLAN CUP CHAMPS

Galt Completes Cinderella Tale

GALT, Ont. (CP)—The Allan Cup rests today in this proud city which two years ago had no hockey club to call its own.

To the cheers of 3,600 screaming fans who rushed onto the ice before the game was over, Galt Terriers shut out Winnipeg Maroons 5-0 Wednesday night to take the best-of-seven series for the Canadian senior championship in five games.

It was the worst beating of the series for the westerners, the only team to defeat Galt in 16 playoff games.

Three tallies in the first period and two in the third wrapped it up for the Terriers in their first year of eligibility for the title. They started as a senior "B" club last year and this year joined the Ontario Hockey Association's eastern senior group, which promptly folded.

HAD WIN STREAK

They were accepted into the western group and rose from last place to the championship in a stunning win streak starting Dec. 28 and which, as of Wednesday night's climax reached 32 in 38 games.

Some fancy goaltending was needed by Harold (Boat) Hurley to nail down his third playoff shutout. He turned back 35 shots compared with 37 by Winnipeg's Gord Dibley and came through with particularly sharp efforts on Tom Rendall and Lou Joyal in the final minutes.

Maroons took six of the 10 penalties and were shorthanded when four Galt goals were scored.

Canadian Car Rally Longest in America

TORONTO (CP) — Canada steps into the big time of motor sport Sunday with the longest car rally on the western hemisphere

The 4,098.2-mile test of cars and drivers stretches from Montreal to Vancouver and has attracted 106 entries, including top rallyists from Canada, Europe and the United States. They will compete for 71 trophies and $5,000 in prizes.

The rally, organized by the British Columbia International Trade Fair, sends the first car off the starting ramp in Montreal at 7 a.m. Sunday. It finishes in Vancouver at 6.30 p.m. the following Saturday.

Eight manufacturers have entered 30 cars in addition to dealers, sports car club and private entries. Many factory entries will carry crews of professional rally drivers and navigators.

The Swedish Volvo team has fielded a formidable three-car team led by Gunnar Gengtson of Koppom, Sweden, with navigator E. Smith of Quakertown, Pa. The other crews have Hans Ingier and Nils Hager of Oslo and G. R. McMillan of Vancouver and G D. Bendiksen of Richmond, B.C.

The cars will make overnight stops at Toronto, Port Arthur, Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary and Penticton, B.C. Competitors must follow the rally route, kept secret until the start, and are assessed penalty points for minutes late or early at secret check points along the way. Mechanical failures also cost points.

In case of a tie, the winner will be decided on the basis of four driving skill tests and a hill climb. These will be held at Toronto, Winnipeg, Regina, Edmonton and Vancouver.

The rally's toughest part will be the last leg from Calgary to Vancouver when cars and drivers—both tired by then—hit mountain roads.

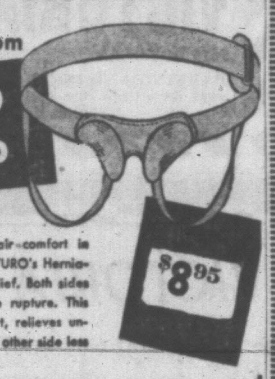

Oldest car in the test, and most are new, is a 1937 Rolls-Royce Silver Wraith handled by I. L. Hollway and L. V. Katila of Port Alberni.

Four other Vancouver Island cars are entered. Bob Low and G. Chambers of Victoria will be driving a Corvair as will Dave Cooper and Bill Walters. J. M. Roome of Duncan and G. Moffatt of Victoria will drive a Jaguar sedan as will Dr. Michael Penn and Geoffrey Reynolds and Jim Wells with Frank Berry.

First Time Lucky For Boston Pair

BOSTON (AP)—Mrs. Charlotte Petrivelli and Jean Cosato of Boston collected $1,066.40 on a $2 bet Wednesday on the twin double at Suffolk Downs.

It was their first try at picking the twin double, based on the winners of the fourth through the seventh races, and each made two choices.

Dunfermline Claims Scottish Cup

DEFENCE STYMIES CELTIC

GLASGOW (Reuters) — Dunfermline Athletic won the Scottish Cup for the first time in its history when it beat Celtic 2-0 in the final replay here Wednesday night.

There was no score at half-time. The first game between the two teams was a goalless draw.

The game was a triumph for the Dunfermline defence.

Celtic had been favored to win the cup despite its failure to clinch the issue at the first attempt.

VICTORIA, B.C., THURSDAY, APRIL 27, 1961—PAGE 21

PROPOSED INDUSTRIAL CENTRE

ALL BUTTLE LAKE INCLUDED

Land Swap Planned For Park Extension

Series of Marinas To Be Constructed

By FRANK RUTTER

Recreation Minister Earle Westwood said today he believes a deal will soon be made to reserve the whole of Buttle Lake for the public — part of big plans to expand and improve Strathcona Park in central Vancouver Island.

He met Wednesday with officials of a logging company to discuss plans for a land swap and also to provide a public road to Muchalat Arm on the west coast.

He said the government has offered to exchange what is now private land owned by Elk River Timber Co. for crown forests in another area.

After meeting Elk executives, Mr. Westwood said:

"I feel quite confident something can be worked out.

"I think within a month we will be able to sit down and discuss it with them."

The swap now being worked out by recreation department officials could extend Strathcona Park to beyond the northern tip of Buttle Lake, including a portion of the road from Campbell River.

Travel on Gold River Road Likely

At the same time, Mr. Westwood said, the prospects are good for another deal which would allow public travel on the company's Gold River Road to the West Coast.

Mr. Westwood also announced plans to develop a series of small marinas along the Buttle Lake shoreline within Strathcona Park.

"This will be done this summer," he said.

Work will probably start in June on the shoreline improvements.

Another deal which may at last come to fruition, he said, is acquisition of wild, beautiful Forbidden Plateau as a further extension of Strathcona Park.

This area is included in the old E & N Railway land grant, and now belongs to the CPR.

"The CPR has made a complete assessment and they have just completed a report on the whole area," said Mr. Westwood.

He said he expects to receive this report shortly.

At present the land at the north end of Buttle Lake owned by the Elk River company, a choice recreation area, is restricted to campers. They may only camp in a prescribed area some eight miles from the boundary of Strathcona Park.

Further access to the park and lake is by boat.

'Most Anxious to Co-operate'

Mr. Westwood said the government has made a "purely temporary" deal with the company for the restricted camping area.

He said Elk officials "seemed most anxious to co-operate" on swapping their land.

They agreed to evaluate the property and Mr. Westwood agreed to draw up several alternative propositions for an exchange.

"As soon as we decide exactly what we want they are prepared to sit down and discuss it with us," he said.

Mr. Westwood said it is true some logging on the northeast slopes high above Buttle Lake is now under way.

"But there is no logging going on within the park at all."

Mr. Westwood said a deal on public access through the Gold River road hinges on two main problems.

"One is the danger of fire, and two is the danger of accidents and the responsibility if a citizen is involved."

Children Hurt As School Bus In Collision

Crashes From Car Into Power Pole

Teacher-driver and four student passengers of a private school bus are in King's Daughters Hospital, Duncan, with minor injuries received Wednesday afternoon when the bus collided with a car and then hit a power pole.

The small 1-passenger bus, owned by the Cliffside Preparatory School at Shawnigan Lake was returning students to the school from a games session and travelling south on Old Victoria Road when it collided with a late model car driven by Mrs. William Kennedy of Shawnigan Lake as it came off the side road. Bus glanced off the car and slammed into the pole.

OTHERS LESS HURT

Front end of the bus was badly damaged, windshield smashed and the door buckled. In addition to the five hospitalized with lacerations and bruises, several other students received medical attention following the accident.

REIGNING BEAUTY at Quarter Milers car club Autorama to Jazz Friday and Saturday at Curling Club will be Bobbie James, 19, of 8985 East Saanich Road. As "Miss Autorama" she will preside at showing of custom cars, music, and entertainment. Miss James has completed her first year of teacher training at Victoria College, and is working in city dress shop for summer. (Peter Chapman photo.)

Second Diver Bends Victim Treated Here

Wilbert Grieve Jr., 22, of Mission was flown here after he was stricken while working under pressure on a sewer project in Point Grey.

The chamber at the project was already in use, as a medical team worked to aid Jack Thompson, a scuba diver who surfaced too rapidly while diving at 250 feet in Seymour Narrows last Tuesday.

He was to come out of the decompression chamber today.

PRONOUNCED FIT

Grieve was placed in the Colwood chamber at 3.30 a.m., and taken out at 7.30. Doctors at HMCS Naden hospital pronounced him fit, but he was to remain at the diving school for 24 hours as a precautionary measure, so he could re-enter the chamber if necessary.

Lt.-Cmdr. Ben Ackerman, commander of the diving school, supervised use of the chamber both at Vancouver and at Colwood.

He went to Vancouver Tuesday, returned only a few hours before the Vancouver diver arrived. Lt.-Cmdr. Al Booth remained at Vancouver to direct operations there.

Thompson was suffering from both air embolism and bends. Doctors hope that life will creep back into his partially-paralyzed legs when the pressure is lessened.

It doesn't look as if Russian spaceman Yuri Gagarin will be here in time for the opening of the Royal London Wax Museum next Saturday.

The museum was hoping to include him in the explorers' section—with Captain Vancouver and others—but so far Premier Khrushchev has not given his consent.

Khrushchev has not replied.

"He may regard us as a capitalistic enterprise," joked Mr. Steele.

'EXILE' BABY BAPTIZED ON RCN SHIP

A baby born to Canadian parents was baptized recently with sea water aboard a Canadian warship to carry on a navy tradition in the family of a former Victoria sailor.

The baptism of Alan Lee Glover, 11 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Glover, formerly of 924 Empress, was performed while the destroyer escorts Assiniboine, Skeena and Margaree were at San Deigo in the course of exercises with units of the U.S. fleet.

Glover, now a department manager in a San Diego store, was serving in HMCS Ontario when his elder son, Howard Thomas, 10 was baptized in that ship.

Civic Precinct Move Asked By Advisers

City council today was asked to buy Chaplin's Funeral Home and adjoining property opposite Pioneer Square on Quadra to create a landscaped area as a centennial project.

The recommendation was included in plans presented by the advisory planning commission for development of the Cathedral Hill civic precinct.

The commission urged council to acquire the land "on the west side of Quadra directly opposite Pioneer Square" for a landscaped area "because it was felt the provincial government would undoubtedly look upon such a project with favor when considering approval of its centennial grant to the city."

The commission's recommendations arose from a plan devised by a joint civic-provincial team which was set up after interest revived in recent months in the 1957 civic precinct proposal.

Construction of the Law Courts Building and proposal to build the joint YMCA-YWCA centre within the precinct touched off the decision to bring the overall plan up to date, as reported in The Times several weeks ago.

Proposed boundaries would run along Mears, Vancouver, Burdett, Quadra, McClure, the west side of Blanshard and the north side of Broughton.

This would tie Pioneer Square, Christ Church Cathedral, The Royal Theatre, the "Y" development, the Law Courts and the B.C. Hydro Building — which has been mooted several times as a possible City Hall—into one integrated area.

CHORAL TESTS AT FESTIVAL END TONIGHT

Classes will be adjudicated by Courtland Hultberg of the University of British Columbia music faculty.

Federal Minister Of Forests Here For Look-Around

His visit was not political he said, but was arranged to give him a first-hand look at forestry operations in the province.

There had been speculation that Mr. Flemming would speak on behalf of Saanich Reeve George Chatterton, Progressive Conservative candidate in the Esquimalt-Saanich byelection. However, Mr. Flemming said he would be returning to Vancouver Friday morning.

Not Ready To 'Face Up' Says Clyne

J. V. Clyne, chairman of MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River, Ltd., today replied to critics of his Tuesday statement that union leaders and high wages are to blame for Canada's economic ills.

One of the critics was Premier Bennett who said he did not agree that high wages have made for unemployment. (See Page 5.)

In his new statement Mr. Clyne said:

"The reported reaction in various circles to my expression of concern, at our annual meeting of shareholders, as to the effect of wage increases on employment in B.C. illustrates all too clearly my observation that we are not yet ready as a society to face this problem.

DECEIVING OURSELVES

"Instead, we tend to reassure ourselves that other forces beyond our control are wholly responsible for our difficulties, and that our trend of rising wages has not hurt us.

"I realize that no one can win a popularity contest by telling the truth in this situation. But surely we do ourselves harm if we gloss over or conceal hard economic facts, within which we must live in order to sell and be employed."

STILL AT LARGE, Harvey the Jaycee litterbug today succeeded in "conning" these two schoolgirls into dropping their lunch bags on the sidewalk of Douglas Street. It's against the law but Harvey doesn't care.

HARVEY TEMPTS SCHOOL CHILDREN

By HAL JONES

His reasoning is obvious. If he can teach school children his black art of litterbugging he will soon be able to retire from his life's work.

BEWARE

So, children, beware! Harvey may seem like a kindly old soul, but in tempting you to drop your lunch bags in the street he's making you break the law.

Jaycees are reported to be rather worried. Harvey escaped from them earlier this week and apart from the two school children in the accompanying picture who co-operated with him in his attempts to "louse up" the most beautiful city on the continent, no one has seen him.

But two shoppers identified the "plain clothes" Jaycee litterbug in the downtown area on Wednesday.

Mrs. Colin Langthorne, 739 Scott, and James Marshall, both challenged the "offender" —a Jaycette—and won free passes to the Jaycee fair next month.

LAST CHANCE

Last appearance of the mystery litterbug, and the last chance to win fair passes, will be made Friday between noon and 1 p.m. in downtown Victoria.

Meanwhile, Jaycees will continue to hunt Harvey, hoping to parade him through downtown streets in disgrace on Saturday morning.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Melville D. Corneille, 19, of 1060 Queens, who was found guilty by an Assize Court jury here of attempted rape, will be sentenced Friday at 10 a.m. by Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson.

At the hearing three weeks ago Mr. Justice Wilson told the jury Corneille was not insane under the Criminal Code, but his mental condition would be relevant in the sentencing.

Socialist Party of Canada candidate Don Poirier will address an Esquimalt-Saanich federal by-election campaign meeting tonight at 8 in Sooke Community Hall.

"A weather system off the west coast of the United States is making its way toward the mainland," he said. "It will give us increasingly cloudy skies tonight and clouds Friday, with the risk of showers Friday morning."

Winds will be easterly at 15 miles per hour, and temperatures will range between 42 and 58 degrees.

Plastic Pipe Use Discussed By Engineers

Some don't like plastic pipe for water supply. They say squirrels chew it and it is too vulnerable to damage from picks and shovels during road excavations.

Other engineers declare plastic pipe is the water pipe of the future.

Polio Victim Wins Way To Success

By ELIZABETH FORBES

A former Victoria woman who, for the past 13 years, has been waging a fight to maintain a normal life although confined to a wheelchair, is on the verge of becoming a popular writer of children's stories.

Mrs. F. C. Leonard (Rhoda Walton to her friends in this city) has written to her father, John Walton, 3319 Quadra Street, to say that a series of tales she has been working on, has been approved and will be published in the fall.

Rhoda Walton attended Victoria College and Victoria Normal School here, graduated from University of British Columbia and taught in the old Cedar Hill and in Quadra Street schools before she married and went to live in California.

Until 1948 she was moving freely about her home, driving her own car and doing all the other things that any woman might be doing.

CANNOT WALK

An attack of polio put her in bed for many months and when she recovered she had lost the use of her legs.

That's when the wheelchair appeared.

Even before she was out of bed, Mrs. Leonard was reorganizing her life to meet this emergency, and her program included plugging away at a writing course from which she hoped "some day" to make money.

Three years ago she wrote her first story for children "The Grizzly Bear". It was sent off to a publisher who liked it so well he sent his representative to her home in Westwood, Calif., to suggest a few changes and to ask if she thought she could write a series of five such stories, the others on the crocodile, mountain lion, porpoise and jackrabbit.

Three of the stories are ready now and have been submitted and approved. They will be published in September.

Mrs. Leonard has told her father that the series is also to be used in the teacher's manual for California schools.

RUNS HOME

This interesting woman, who has overcome so much through her determination to succeed, plans and oversees the daily routine in her own home. There is a housekeeper to assist and, on her day off, there are the two boys, Freddy and Roddy.

When she travels, it must be by air, and she is lifted aboard and taken off the airliners, in her wheelchair.

She came north with her sons in this way in 1954 to visit her parents. Since then her mother died

Mr. Walton remains at the Quadra Street home but tells you he "likes to visit in California."

In fact, when Mrs. Leonard was working on her porpoise story he was with her and together they visited Marineland in Los Angeles.

MANY INTERESTS

"We learned a lot," he said. "They showed us everything and Rhoda got a real story there."

Rhoda Leonard doesn't concentrate on her writing to the exclusion of other interests. She belongs to several women's groups in Westwood and while she does not drive her car now, she still gets out in it for there is always someone ready to drive her.

She's interested in everything—including people.

"That's why she should be a good story teller," says her father.

Pacific Club Opens Door to Women

Victoria women have gained entrance into a realm that up to now has been sacred to their menfolk.

They are being admitted into full membership in the Pacific Club.

Already there are 25 feminine members and the board of directors expects to see this number doubled and tripled before many days.

"It's a perfect arrangement," says a woman who was amongst the first to join. "For a nominal monthly fee I have the privilege of using the ladies' lounge for bridge or tea parties; I can take my friends in for luncheon or dinner and, when I'm downtown shopping, if I want to relax, I can go to the club at any time now, as a recognized member and not as a guest of a member.

"It's going to fill a great need in Victoria," another woman member says, "and you are going to find it will prove a very popular move."

In the meantime, male members of long standing look a little dazed. Others say it has not made "much difference" for wives of members have had some privileges in the club for a long time.

"There are no club facilities," says. "We have everything here. Why shouldn't women have a place of their own in our club?"

BUS SERVICE CUTBACK PLANNED BY BCE

JFK Prods Russia On Laos

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy summoned congressional leaders to an extraordinary White House conference on the Laos crisis today amid disclosure that the United States has prodded Russia for a quick cease-fire.

Kennedy gave the congressional chiefs of both parties a fill-in on the latest moves. It was believed he also briefed them on the next steps in U.S. plans to bring about peace in the tiny Asian country.

Soon after the quickly-summoned meeting got underway, the state department disclosed that this country called on Russia Wednesday night to get the pro-Communist forces in Laos to stop delaying a cease-fire.

The complaint about the delay was made in no uncertain terms to Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov by acting secretary of state Chester Bowles.

DEMAND REJECTED

At the same time, the state department rejected Communist China's demand that the United States withdraw its military advisers and arms from government - controlled areas of Laos before a cease-fire.

The state department made it plain that the United States did not like the delaying tactics of the Communists on the cease-fire in Laos.

The rebels in Laos are mounting offensives on several fronts, apparently taking additional territory two days after declaring that they were ready to accept a cease-fire.

TOP REBEL COMMANDER CAPTURED BY CUBANS

MIAMI (UPI) — The top field commander of last week's abortive invasion of Cuba, Brigadier Roberto San Roman, has been captured, Havana Radio reported today.

A broadcast heard here said San Roman was discovered among a "new group of prisoners taken to an internment area in Zapata peninsula."

Ice Smashes Vital Bridge In North B.C.

EDMONTON (CP)—A $280,000 British Columbia highways department bridge over the Sikanni River near Fort Nelson in northeast B.C. was knocked out by ice Wednesday, an army spokesman said today.

The bridge connects Fort Nelson with the Clarke Lake gas field. It is located near the confluence of the Muskwa and Sikanni Rivers.

A report from Fort Nelson said the loss of the bridge would deal a crippling blow to the oil and gas industry operating in the area. The bridge was to play an important part in the proposed program for pipeline construction and summer drilling in the Clarke Lake and Kotch Fields.

Eustace Bowhay and Keith Baldwin, flying to Fort Nelson from Whitehorse Tuesday, reported three piers had to be cut and had fallen into the river.

Reshuffling Of Most Routes

B.C. Electric today asked city council's approval for a major revamping of the bus service this summer to cut costs and meet changing traffic patterns.

The complex changes will create an overall reduction of 14.5 per cent in operating miles per year—cutting the present 2,986,176 annual mileage by 432,996.

The changes—scheduled for Aug. 1 if the Public Utilities Commission gives its approval—involve changing frequency of service and routes on almost all of the bus runs.

Most service frequencies will be cut—many of them will provide a bus every 30 minutes instead of every 20 minutes—but some frequencies will be increased to give more bus service.

MORE DIRECT RUNS

Routes will be straightened out considerably to make more direct runs from starting to finishing loops and many heavily travelled runs will be consolidated to avoid duplication.

B.C. Electric vice-president William Mearns said the revamping was overdue to meet changing transportation needs in the community which have seen passenger traffic steadily falling off while deficits increase.

Mr. Mearns—pointing out that passenger traffic has declined 23.3 per cent since 1955 while bus miles operated have only been reduced 8.2 per cent—said the company's deficit on bus operations has mounted from $397,682 in 1955 to $578,845 last year.

MORE VEHICLES

He said loss of passenger traffic was largely caused by the 32.5 per cent increase in vehicles (other than BCE) here since 1955.

The company—which saw a recent possibility of selling its transit operations collapse—is seeking approval for the changes from all four Greater Victoria municipalities where it has franchise agreements.

"The situation is now such that we are applying to the Public Utilities Commission for approval of a revision of the route plan and operating schedules . . . to bring the service more in line with the number of people travelling on the buses."

SOME INCREASES

But Mr. Mearns also pointed out that bus service will be increased rather than reduced in some areas.

"The plan provides for: more service to meet requirements due to the expansion at Victoria University; improved service to a number of new subdivisions; the use of more direct routes; and consolidation of routes in the most heavily-travelled areas in order to maintain frequency of service."

Proposed Changes

Following are the proposed neW BCE bus routes and the basic service frequencies.

Tshombe Still Held

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—Congo troops are still holding Katanga President Moise Tshombe at the Coquilhatville airport, informed Congolese sources said today.

The sources said the soldiers refused to allow him to leave.

A foreign ministry communique said "popular reaction" forced Tshombe to remain in Coquilhatville Wednesday when he tried to leave, but the communique denied that Tshombe was under formal arrest and said his life was not in danger.

The United Nations has not intervened, but a UN spokesman said if Tshombe requests assistance he would get "fair treatment."

Congolese sources said Tshombe still was at the airport this morning. They said the soldiers would not let him leave until he made another try to settle his differences with other Congolese leaders.

Appeal Made To Drop Arms

VIENTIANE (CP) — The government today called for a cease-fire at noon Friday, but there was no indication the pro-Communist rebels will agree.

The call was broadcast by government radio and was transmitted to the British Embassy for relay to the rebels by way of the Russians.

As the appeal was made public, concern rose about the ability of royal troops to stand up much longer against rebel attacks despite an increased airlift of U.S. arms.

Earlier, Gen. Phoumi Nosavana, strong man of the government and its military commander, proposed that peace talks between the warring factions begin Friday in Luang Prabang, the royal capital.

U.S. Fires First Space 'Telescope'

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The United States launched a "space telescope" satellite today to study radiation mysteries of the universe, and an official reported within an hour that "everything looks good."

A 76-foot Juno II rocket carried the 95-pound satellite in its nose. All four stages fired as planned.

Its specific task is to measure high-energy gamma rays which stream out from cosmic sources such as the Milky Way and other star-cluster galaxies. They are associated with nuclear activity and scientists believe they may be the keys to information about the elements making up the universe.

Explorer XI is shaped roughly like a telescope but it is not like the familiar telescope through which man looks at the stars.

In front end of the satellite's tubular section is stuffed with instruments intended to peer into millions of miles of space, sorting out gamma rays from other space radiation such as protons and electrons.

The payload includes equipment to relay the data to earth to be recorded in photographs of wavy lines on an oscilloscope.

Gambler Indicted

U.S. to Go Ahead With Astronaut Test

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Space Agency tentatively decided today to go ahead with plans to launch an astronaut into sub-orbital flight next week despite an indefinite postponement of the space capsule's final test.

The plans call for an astronaut to be sent on a flight 115 miles high and 290 miles down range from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Sherluck Upsets Flutterby In Stakes

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Jacob Sher's Sherluck led comfortably all the way today and won the $34,300 Blue Grass Stakes by 5½ lengths at Keeneland.

Alberta Ranches' Flutterby was second and Travis Kerr's Mr. Consistency finished third in the mile and one-eighth race, a major Kentucky Derby test.

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — A clash between Cuban troops and remnants of a rebel invading force was reported today by the Cuban radio. About 100 rebels were being pursued.

Reserve Decision on Schumiatcher Bid

REGINA (CP) — The three-man Saskatchewan court of appeal today reserved decision on a motion filed by Regina lawyer Dr. M. C. Shumiatcher asking that his committal for trial on charges of counselling false declarations and counselling perjury be quashed on legal grounds.

The hearing began Monday. An early decision is not expected.

'People Will Pay' If Columbia Dropped

OTTAWA (CP)—The people who will pay the piper if the Columbia River power development scheme doesn't go through will be the citizens of British Columbia, External Affairs Minister Green said Wednesday.

He said in the Commons that British Columbia participated in the Canada-United States negotiations on the Columbia River treaty and was satisfied it was a good treaty.

Since then, the province had thrown many roadblocks in the way of ratification.

Mr. Green said Ottawa is under no obligation until the treaty has been passed by Parliament.

The scheme could be the greatest work-producing project in Western Canada. Any fault for its failure to materialize would not rest in Ottawa but with "our brethren" in Victoria.

RIGHTISTS HELD

Proud Legion Still Defiant

CP from AP-Reuters

ALGIERS — Blowing up their camp behind them, the defiant Foreign Legion regiment which led last weekend's unsuccessful coup d'etat drove off to be disbanded today.

As the truck convoy rolled out of the camp—where the regiment had been besieged all day by regular troops and riot forces—the Legionnaires were still shouting defiantly "Algeria is French!"

Frenchmen at the roadside showered them with flowers. Some of those watching were weeping and many of the tough troopers themselves had tears rolling down their dusty cheeks.

In the camp, explosions roared and black and white smoke billowed into the air.

One of the guards said: "We don't want to leave anything for another unit. The legion built this camp and we're not going to leave anything for anyone else."

The warships, ordered here from France Tuesday before the collapse of the uprising, anchored just outside the harbor but government forces had this city firmly under control again.

PARIS (UPI)—A vast plot in metropolitan France that was to have aided the abortive military revolt in Algiers has been uncovered in a nationwide roundup, police sources reported today.

'Flareups Still Possible'—Debre

Civilians continued to line up today to surrender their arms to police. They had been ordered to hand in all firearms by Wednesday night but the flow still was going on at a lively rate.

There still was no news of what had happened to the three missing leaders of the rebel generals' junta-Andre Zeller, Edmond Jouhaud and Raoul Salan.

Hundreds of known die-hard rightists were being held in custody amid warnings of possible new flareups by extremists trying to overthrow de Gaulle's policy of negotiating with Moslem rebels in Algeria.

The president retained dictatorial powers despite the crushing of the revolt and Premier Michel Debre warned in a television broadcast Wednesday night that "flareups or new developments are still possible."

Debre made clear in his television broadcast Wednesday night that the government plans tough restrictions to prevent any more uprisings.

Former Gen. Maurice Challe, the main leader of the revolt, was being held, meanwhile, in grim Sante prison, stripped of his rank and facing charges of treason and armed mutiny.

Cuba Imprisons 12

MIAMI (UPI)—Twelve men were sentenced to long prison terms in Cuba today for counter-revolutionary activities, including sabotage and the collection of arms and money for an uprising, the Cuban radio announced.

PRISONER'S DOCK OUT —IT'S AN INDIGNITY

HALIFAX (CP) — The prisoner's dock in the Nova Scotia Supreme Court will be removed during the weekend and replaced by an ordinary table and chair.

Similar changes are to be made in all courts in Nova Scotia. Court authorities say it is unprecedented in Canadian courts.

The plan to abolish the high-railed docks was sparked by the provincial barristers society last summer which argued that placing a prisoner in a dock was an indignity and was contrary to the concept that he is innocent until proven guilty.

Castro to Spare Invaders Except If Ex-Batista Men

HAVANA (Reuters) — Premier Fidel Castro said today death should not be the punishment for Cuba's invaders at this moment because "the people's great victory should not be belittled by excess."

Speaking during a surprise appearance at a television parade of prisoners, he said, however, that "criminals" from the era of ex-president Fulgencio Batista would not be spared.

Castro's statement came after one of the prisoners asked whether they would be allowed to fight beside the government troops against invaders.

Castro said the death penalty simply was a means of defending the revolution, "not a question of principles," and to shoot all invaders as the people wished would be to "belittle our victory."

Further captures of prisoners from last week's invasion attempt were announced today, bringing the total to about 1,300.

Castro told the prisoners on television: "When the first Yankee paratrooper lands . . . then the world will see what heroism is."

The prisoners shouted, "We will fight," when Castro asked: "What will be your attitude if Cuba is invaded by the United States?"

The prisoners said aircraft used for air raids on Havana April 15 were planes of the Democratic Revolutionary Front", (the movement of Cuban exiles) painted with the insignia of the Cuban Air Force.

Rebel headquarters in the United States have claimed that the bombers were Cuban Air Force planes pilated by defecting officers.

BRANDO'S BRIDE?

Driver Acquitted Of Manslaughter

NANAIMO — A charge of manslaughter against Alfred Barrows was dropped here Wednesday after a preliminary hearing, when Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts said there was not sufficient evidence to commit him for trial in a higher court.

Barrows, 50-year-old longshoreman, was charged following a two-car collision near Chase River, April 6, in which Wei Hing Mah, 25, suffered fatal injuries.

Behan Pays $200 Fine

TORONTO (UPI) — Brendan Behan's wild night in Toronto cost him $200 in a long-delayed court hearing today. The Irish playwright cheerfully paid off his fine straight away and paid Toronto a few uncomplimentary remarks in the process. Behan had pleaded innocent to assaulting a police officer.

"It's as if one was in a not very picturesque lunatic asylum and you're anxious to get away from it. It's a depressing place—period," he told a crowd gathered around the "fines and payment" wicket.

He congratulated his attractive "young lawyer, Rose Greenstein, and commented on the verdict: "The judge acted like a judge — not a Toronto judge. The money is relative. I've never had it and I don't need it."

Miss Greenstein pleaded against a jail sentence for Behan when she addressed the court.

"All of us know of the talent of Brendan Behan. Here is a man of superior mind who under the influence of drink is capable of deplorable things," she said.

She said his brilliant mind is being tarnished by his physical and mental condition.

"Let not our city take it upon itself to be the death of Brendan Behan," she told the court.

TRUCE TEAM DISAGREES

NEW DELHI (AP) — Differences that could impede enforcement of a cease-fire in Laos developed today between the Canadian and Polish members of the three-country commission that will supervise the truce.

The issue is whether the commission's verification of a truce in Laos is primarily an administrative job or whether political factors should be considered.

Canada says primarily administrative; Poland says political.
